VICTIM OF CHARGE NEAR VICKSBURG

General Grenville M. Dodge Has the Spot Located and Arrangements for Bartal with Military Honors.

The remains of Colonel W. H. Kinsman who fell while leading a charge at Black Bayou bridge, near Vicksburg, Miss., May 17, 1863, will be placed temporarily in a receiving vault in Fairview cemetery today with proper military bonors. It was through the efforts of General Grenville M. Dodge that the grave of Colonel Kinsman was located. His attempt to discover the grave a few years ago was unsuccessful, but recently he learned that J. A. Straight of Washington, D.
