THOMPSON, BELDEN & Co.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING, CORNER 16TH AND DOUGLAS STREETS.

that I would float for a while at least. There was an attempt to lower a boat on San Rafael, but I do not believe many people got off in it. There was too much confusion and fog for much to be done. Mr. Tompkins of the Hong Kong and Shanghai bank was with me and he agreed we would stay on the boat as long as we could.

"Between ten and fifteen minutes after the collision San Rafael went under. As it went down I jumped for Sausalito and caught on its rail. I was not strong enough to haul myself up, so I hung on and shouted for help. None of the crew heard me and I finally let go my hold from exhaustion and dropped into the water. My life preserver kept me afloat and twenty minutes later I got hold of a rope lowered from Sausalito and was pulled aboard, almost completely exhausted and had almost given up hope."

Most Passengers Saved.

Mr. Moore, who is about 60 years of age, considers that his escape was miraculous. He thinks most of the passengers on San Rafael were saved.

"The two boats saved together after the collision. It was soon learned on Sausalito that it was not seriously injured and the crew on board it took immediate steps to rescue the unfortunate passengers on San Rafael. A gangplank was run over to the sinking vessel and many of our passengers escaped in that way. After San Rafael went down Sausalito stayed by and lowered ropes to those floating in the water."

Mr. Moore said further: "Of course I cannot pretend to be accurate, but I would not place the loss of life over twenty. It seems to me that most of the passengers must have been saved."

Gives His Experience.

Attorney Thomas J. Lennon, one of the passengers on board San Rafael, tells the following story:

"San Rafael was struck by Sausalito about twenty minutes after leaving its berth. I was in the restaurant at the time and had just left the table when I was knocked fifteen or twenty feet by the collision. I fell face downward and was covered with the wood of the partition. After scrambling out with great difficulty I went on the upper deck, in search of my sister-in-law, Miss Josephine Lenhart. I then noticed a boat at the side of the vessel which had been lowered by the passengers. J. Hyman of San Rafael, who was on board, called to me to lower Miss Lenhart into the boat. This I did.

"I should judge there were already ten or twelve people in the boat at that time. After looking around for more ladies and children I fell back toward the water and was covered with the wood of the partition. After scrambling out with great difficulty I went on the upper deck, in search of my sister-in-law, Miss Josephine Lenhart. I then noticed a boat at the side of the vessel which had been lowered by the passengers. J. Hyman of San Rafael, who was on board, called to me to lower Miss Lenhart into the boat. This I did.

Denver City Hall Burns

Two Firemen Missing Supposed to Be Victims of the Flames.

DENVER, Nov. 30.—A fire which started on the fourth floor of the Denver city hall at 4:30 this evening practically gutted the building, destroyed much property and probably a large amount of valuable records. Three firemen are said to be missing and it is feared they have perished in the flames.

The origin of the fire is not absolutely known, but it is supposed to have been defective electric wiring. The building contained all the city offices except that of the police department and included the central fire station and the city jail. It was of stone, six stories in height. It cost

Hard Struggle in Water.

"A man named Eckels, who was in another boat, thinking his boat was over-crowded, jumped into ours and in doing so capsize the boat and we were again in the water. I swam away, afraid of being struck by the capsized boat. Eckels then got back into the boat he had left a few minutes previous. All this time the people on board Sausalito kept throwing life preservers into the water, greatly to our annoyance, as we were afraid of being hit by them. I finally attempted to get into a pretty well crowded boat, but just as I was doing so someone grabbed me from behind and I was towed to the side of Sausalito.

"After all this struggling I was pretty well exhausted and started with difficulty for Sausalito. Just as I reached the side of the vessel, a tug, which I think was San King, threw its searchlight on us and I heard some of the men still in the water cry to the tug's captain, they evidently being afraid of the tug's running them down. Finally a rope was lowered and I was pulled aboard."

Praises Captain and Crew.

When asked as to how many he thought lost their lives Mr. Lennon placed the number at from fifteen to twenty. He said: "Captain McKenzie and crew deserve great praise for the way they assisted the passengers."

"At midnight it was impossible to obtain the names of any missing people. It is barely possible that nearly all the passengers will be accounted for eventually. Captain McKenzie of San Rafael says nearly everyone was rescued. A number jumped into the water, but they all got out, he thinks.

He said: "I was the last to leave the sinking vessel, and there was no one on it when it went down."

MEANS TO STOP BOER WAR

European Activity Addresses Itself to President Roosevelt

HE ALONE CAN INITIATE DIPLOMATIC STEPS

Bankers Figure What the Conflict Has Cost Great Britain—Billions Dollars for Actual Expenses.

(Copyright, 1901, by Press Publishing Co.) PARIS, Nov. 30.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The South African war continues to attract attention. Recent revelations from French officers and newspaper correspondents of the horrors of the concentration camps, in which Boer non-combatants are dying like flies, has prompted thousands of petitions, covered with signatures, demanding that the French government interfere.

Among other movements of this sort is an eloquent open letter to President Roosevelt, which is being circulated all over France for signatures. The purport is that he alone can initiate a diplomatic movement to "stop the British nation from treating Boer patriots like criminals and secure for the Boer people the right to defend their invaded country."

In compliance with an order issued by the Socialist International board, that wherever the socialists are represented in Parliament the government should be asked why it has not applied The Hague convention in the case of the Boers, Deputy Fournier has been delegated to raise that point here. M. Fournier has already notified Foreign Minister Delcasse that he will demand an explanation of the French government's construction of the arbitration and mediation clauses shipping by the peace congress. Both chambers are overwhelmingly against the war in South Africa.

What the War Costs Britain.

LONDON, Nov. 30.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—The $1,000,000,000 which the South African war will have cost when Parliament meets in January falls to President Roosevelt. England has lost by the adventure. The Bankers' Magazine, taking 325 representative securities, finds that between September 19, 1899, and October 19, 1901, their net fall in value has been $719,730,000. Again, during the period named, certain foreign government and American securities, valued at $2,000,000,000, the British and Indian government funds fell $387,900,000. The drop in these in the month ending October 29 alone was $12,626,000. In two years the ordinary stock in nineteen British railways has shrunk $29,450,000.

In short, the aggregate fall in forty-six British and Indian funds and forty-six selected railway companies' stocks has been $870,645,000, and the tendency of these so-called gilt-edged securities is still downward. Among the few securities not adversely affected, the London and North Western, owing to a false stimulus imparted by unexampled transport operations, canal, dock and colonial bank stocks.

If Boers Would Only Stand.

Nothing could well be more helplessly dependent than the latest dispatches from the Times correspondent at Pretoria on the progress of the war. He says: "The enemy never remains quiet for long. By means of scouts dotted all over the country, information reaches them of the movements of our columns, and they generally are able to move off before our troops come up."

On the other hand, the separate commandos as is the case in Southern Transvaal, are near enough together to concentrate in twenty-four hours so as to become equal in number to our columns. If the enemy only remained divided in three or four commandos of several thousand each the work of the British would be comparatively easy, but as things are no other course is open except to continue hunting them, gradually extending the areas cleared. This work undoubtedly will be slow, but sure, and there is no justification for impatiently attacking the commander-in-chief camp but into the hands of the active army at present is only some 45,000—the sooner will the end of the war come.

SEVEN FIREMEN OVERCOME

Heavy Damage in Rochester Business Section and Lives Are Imperiled.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Nov. 30.—A fire which started in the heart of the business section at midnight damaged stock in Woolworth's store to the extent of $300,000 and the loss on the building was $200,000. The large department store of Burke, Fitzsimmons, Home & Co. was also damaged, but the loss is not known. Some extensive damage was also done by smoke to F. L. McFarland's store of clothing. The losses are covered by insurance. Seven firemen were overcome and removed to the hospital. Two of them are in a serious condition.

HELENA PLANT DESTROYED

Peck-Montana Concentrator Burns, Entailing Loss Partially Covered by Insurance.

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 30.—Fire today destroyed the Peck-Montana concentrator near this city, entailing a loss of $160,000; insurance, $70,000. The plant was owned by the Missouri Power company and the Helena and Livingston company. It will be rebuilt.

WRITE RIGHT.

"Scatter Decent, Helpful Things."

Good Philosophical Has Wilson once said to my reporter, "Young man, write as you feel, but try to feel right. Be good humored toward everyone and everything. Believe that other folks are just as good as you are, for they are. Give 'em your best and bear in mind that God has sent them in his wisdom, all the trouble they need and it is for you to scatter gladness and decent, helpful things as you go. Don't be particular about how the stuff will look in print, but let 'er go. Someone will understand. That is better than to write so dash and high, or so tarashush deep, deep that no one understands. Let 'er go."

"So on the above plan," says M. W. Porter of Topeka, Kan., "I will write what I know of Grape-Nuts Breakfast Food from personal experience. After a long period of indigestion and other disorders, with some misting, I took up the use of Grape-Nuts. Despite the hot weather I kept gaining in strength and mentally, a thing I had never done at that season of the year."

"I found the food an excellent stimulant for the brain, and I could do more and better work than I had ever done. It was a revelation to discover how closely the brain and digestive organs were in sympathy with each other. Whatever retarded the brain, retarded the work of the digestive and other disorders, with some misting, I took up the use of Grape-Nuts. Despite the hot weather I kept gaining in strength and mentally, a thing I had never done at that season of the year."

DITCHES IN DAWSON COUNTY

Best Irrigated Section of Nebraska and One of the Most Prosperous.

George B. Barr, president of a bank at Lexington, Neb., stopped at the Merchants last night in answer to a question as to what excuse Dawson county had for being on the map replied:

"It's probably the best irrigated county in the state. It has seventy miles of main ditches not counting laterals, and in the six years that have elapsed since they were dug our land has doubled in value. Land that formerly sold at $10 and $12 an acre now brings $20 and $30 per acre. The ditches were put down in 1895 by a company of farmers and Merchants' Irrigation company, and the result is highly satisfactory to both the concern and the farmers who are served with water."

"The effect of irrigation upon alfalfa is wonderful. From 500 acres last season I cut 2,200 tons of alfalfa. It is not only our best paying crop, too, and comes in very handy as a stock food when corn is short."
