

CONTROL OF ALL CONTAGIOUS

Nebraska Board of Health Devises Stringent Quarantine Rules.

ASKS EVERY COUNTY TO ADOPT THEM

intended to Prevent Smallpox, Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria from Becoming Epidemic in Any Community.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—The members and secretaries of the State Board of Health have submitted a set of stringent quarantine regulations, which are recommended for adoption by every county in the state. They provide for the quarantine of smallpox, scarlet fever and diphtheria cases upon strict sanitary lines. The board advises the county commissioners in each county to organize a local board of health and they are urged to follow as closely as possible the rules submitted to them, which are as follows: Whenever within the limits of this county and without the corporate limits of any city or village a person is suspected of having smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria or other contagious disease, he shall be immediately isolated within the household as carefully as possible, and as soon as a contagious disease is recognized it will be the duty of the attending physician and of the household to give written notice of the same to the clerk of the county, giving the name of the disease and the fact where it exists, with the number exposed and all other particulars that may be of any value. The premises where above contagious diseases exist shall be strictly quarantined. This board through its proper officers, or an appointee, (a) by placing upon the house or some conspicuous point upon the premises a placard giving the name of the disease, (b) by placing upon the door a sign, (c) by letters not less than three inches in height, (d) by written notice to the household to remain on the premises and not allow others, except physicians, to approach nearer than thirty feet of any house or person thus quarantined. This rule to apply also in cases of exposure. Such quarantine shall continue until, in the opinion of the attending physician and the board, the last case of the disease likely to occur therein has completely recovered and is ready for disinfection. Provided, however, that in cases of extreme necessity one free from disease may be released earlier after thorough disinfection of person and clothing and with a certificate from the above named medical adviser. Purveying Necessities. The necessities of life, as often as occasion demands, may be carried within thirty feet of the quarantined house by a neighbor or other duly appointed messenger, but not nearer, nor shall any effects whatever be brought away from the house held until thoroughly disinfected. In case of death from contagious disease there shall be no public funeral, and the deceased shall be closely wrapped in sheets well saturated with disinfectant and closed in a tight casket, this to be again wrapped in a disinfected cloth, and in such cases the body shall be buried, cremated or in any other way of people white on its way to the cemetery. When in any school district or community several families—say five to eight—are infected with contagious disease, or very many exposures have occurred, the board should prohibit all gatherings of people in that community, including sessions of schools, until in their opinion the emergency is past. All physicians should use due precautions in their visits to quarantined households to avoid the danger of contagion to the well. Raising Quarantine. When, in the opinion of the medical adviser of the board, quarantine can safely be raised, it shall be done with fumigation with a 40 per cent solution of formaldehyde, using at least five cubic feet to each 1,000 cubic feet of air space, solution to be applied by an approved evaporator or by the sheet method, the rooms to be sealed for from six hours, all persons to receive a disinfecting bath and their clothing to be disinfected and the house thoroughly cleaned. This is to be done in accordance with the suggestions of the State Board of Health to physicians. When, in the opinion of the board, a hospital is needed to which individuals cases of contagious diseases may be removed, or when such method will accommodate those without homes at least public expense, or for any other reason it is deemed best, a building suited to their needs shall be provided. Whoever in any way willfully or negligently disobeys the laws of quarantine and disinfection shall be such disobedience render himself subject to prosecution and a fine of $2 for each and every offense, and shall meanwhile, if infected and subject to quarantine, be held in the hospital or hospital until the time for disinfection. Reports of State Officers. Several of the state officials, this afternoon submitted reports to the governor covering all transactions in their respective departments during the semi-annual period ending today, but it was announced that the report of the state treasurer would not be forthcoming until Monday evening, and possibly not until Tuesday. The law requires each officer to submit two reports each year and the periods thus covered expire on May 31 and November 30. They treat only of the detail affairs of the offices, such as expenditures, salaries paid, etc., with the exception of the report of the treasurer, which must show all moneys received and disbursed, and from all sources, and record every service performed in an official capacity. Because of the voluminous nature of the records in the treasurer's office at least a day's time is required to complete the account for the period. Mr. Stuefer will probably combine the usual monthly report with the semi-annual report, but it is not likely that he will attempt to explain his dealing in the Burt and Cuming county bonds. The reports filed today indicate that the offices have been conducted on an economical basis, in nearly every instance the expenditures being below the appropriation for the period. Nebraska National Guard. Recently-elected officers of the Nebraska National guard have been ordered by Adjutant General Colby to report in this city

Disposal of Insurance Fees: A decision is expected from the supreme court within the next few weeks in the case of the Providence Washington Insurance company against Auditor Weston. The action was brought in the district court to determine the relative rights of each party in the matter of disposing of $9,000 of insurance fees which were paid into the treasury by former Auditor Eugene Moore. The insurance company was defeated in the lower court and the case was carried up on error.

Child Labor Law. Deputy Labor Commissioner Watson is sending to school authorities in the various counties sets of attendance certificates and record blanks to be used in compliance with the child labor law. The records made under the direction of the former deputy were faulty in many respects and a new form has been prescribed, which conforms in all details to the schedule provided by law. The child labor law requires twenty weeks' school attendance before employment can be given to any child under the age of 14.

County Charities. County charities will receive consideration at the meeting of the local organization, to be held at the courthouse next Tuesday evening. Among the topics to be discussed will be the problem of dispensing with county relief outside of the county house, relieving suffering in country homes and the improvement in the condition of the county poorhouse.

Clergyman Stays in Lincoln. Rev. J. W. Jeffers has decided to remain in Lincoln as pastor of the Zion Baptist church. He was invited to accept a pastorate at Sioux City and at first thought of accepting the offer, but the pleadings of his congregation restrained him and he has decided to remain.

Bushnell Insists on Renomination. A private message was received from Washington tonight asserting that Senator Dietrich and Congressman Burkett had agreed to recommend Ed R. Sizer, now state oil inspector, for postmaster of this city. The term of H. M. Bushnell, the present incumbent, will expire February 15 and it is understood he will not relinquish his office without a contest. He insists that if his services have been satisfactory he is entitled to a second term. The report has not been verified, but it is believed to be true. Such an announcement has been expected for several days past.

No Pardon for Bartley. Governor Savage tonight denied the rumor recently put into circulation that he is contemplating either a pardon or a parole for Joseph Bartley. He said there was no foundation whatever for the report.

Details of Judge Osborn's Death. BLAIR, Neb., Nov. 30.—(Special Telegram.)—A private letter received today by F. W. Kenney, at of the Blair State bank, from Stanley R. Osborn, son of L. W. Osborn, late consul general to Samoa, brings word that the family will leave there December 4 and will bring the body of his father, “if possible,” which implies a doubt of their being able to do so. They will come to San Francisco and remain there for some time, as Mrs. Osborn does not want to change the cold weather of a Nebraska winter. The letter was mailed from Apia on November 9 and brings the first particulars of Mr. Osborn's death that have been received here. His son states that his father complained of not feeling well in the morning and had gone into his private office and had begun to look over some legal papers, when his son, who was in the room, noticed him fall over, and springing toward him, caught him in his arms, when he gave a gasp and was dead, without uttering a word. The doctors pronounced the cause of death heart failure. The funeral was a very large one, being conducted with military honors by the representatives of the powers that are stationed there. A detachment of marines from the German cruiser fired the salute at the grave.

UNITED WORKMEN MUST BUY

District Court Orders Purchase of Grand Island Building Completed. MAKES THE HEADQUARTERS PERMANENT

Complex Litigation Originating with Friendly Mandamus Suit Thought to be Practically Disposed of by This Decision.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Nov. 30.—(Special.)—Judge J. R. Thompson and H. N. Paul of the district court yesterday handed down a decision in the Ancient Order of United Workmen mandamus case, the application asking that the finance committee or trustees of the grand lodge be required to comply with the instructions of the grand lodge, as given at the last biennial session at Nebraska City, and complete the purchase of the Ancient Order of United Workmen temple of this city for $11,000. An account of the various contentions of the committee have been published before. It was agreed between the local committee and the grand lodge's committee that a friendly mandamus suit should be instituted to decide whether the committee was individually responsible for completing the purchase and whether the grand lodge had under its constitution, the right to own property for the carrying on of its business. These points were decided, it being found that the members of the committee were not individually liable, but that they were in duty bound to carry out the instruction of the grand lodge. It was further specifically decided that W. A. Helmberger had a right to bring the action, as he was a policy-holder, a member of the local lodge in good standing and a member of the grand lodge in good standing. This, in the opinion of the district court, rendered the grand lodge and its trustees interested in the grand lodge, and if such a member should not have the right to bring the action, the officers would not be amenable to the grand lodge after their election. It was held, too, that the Ancient Order of United Workmen was a corporation and as such could be sued, and that the trustees were bound by the action of the grand lodge.

Attorney Hall, for the finance committee and intervenors, immediately moved a new trial, which was overruled. Mr. Hall then asked for a supersedeas and that it be fixed at a low and reasonable rate, contending that there would be no damages to speak of, and to this the attorneys for the local committee objected, holding that a supersedeas would nullify the object of the writ of mandamus. A preliminary writ was ordered and the trustees notified to meet immediately and complete the purchase of the Ancient Order of United Workmen building in this city as the permanent headquarters of the organization. An injunction restraining the trustees and recorder from removing from the building still stands, but it is expected that by the carrying out of the court's order this will be dismissed.

A short consultation was held with the members of the Commercial club here, who are the promoters of the proposed road, after which teams and men were employed from town here and for two days the work of surveying and setting grade stakes has been going on with what looks like speed. The work being done is on the old grade made by the Milwaukee road several years ago.

THE BEE FOR ALL THE NEWS

If there is nothing the matter, then molasses, vinegar, lemon, and sugar will answer. But when the cough comes, when the throat burns, and when the sharp pains dart through the chest, then you need a good, strong medicine. For sixty years doctors have been recommending Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as the best kind of cough medicine. I coughed very hard for many weeks. I bought a bottle of your Cherry Pectoral and it cured me completely. I then bought a second bottle that I might have the Pectoral on hand in case I should take cold again.
