can secure for the high school a regular army officer as commandant of cadeta. With such a man assigned to this post it will then be possible for the government to furnish rifles and other equipment to the cadets of the battalion.

Information to this effect has been received by President Hayward of the school board from the office of Adjutant General Corbin at Washington. An attempt was first made to secure the guns under the present military regime of Commandant Pearse. That being impossible under the rule that guns can go only where regularly assigned army officers are stationed, the request was made that one be sent to Omaha To this response has just come that this school does not come under the category of "universities, colleges and schools" mentioped as eligible for such service. However, the department stated that if the High school cared to select some man from the retired list and make up the difference in his pay to an active service standard the be held by outside capitalists. Several government would allow such an arrangement and then send the guns.

The point now is first to find some retired officer who would consent to take the work and then to pay him. The young est man in the lot now is a colonel, and t would take $76 a month to make his salary

The first of a series of athletic contests for class championship by members of the Young Men's Christian association was held last night in the Young Men's Chris-tian association hall. The first contest was a game of indoor base ball between the business men's class and the students. The second was a game of basket ball between young men and the noon class. The first game resulted in a victory for the students by a score of 7 to 6; the latter was won by the noon class by a score of 24 to 20. The athletic association is divided into four classes, the noon class, the students, business men and the young men. Con-tests will be held during the winter for class championship. Considerable good natured rivalry exists between the classes and some interesting contests will be pulled off. A large crowd was present at last night's contests and every good play was heartily applauded. Lineup of the basket ball game:

Denver Lad Will Give McGovern Desired Chance to Retrieve

His Honors.

His Honors. NEW YORK, Nov. 20.— "Young Corbett" of Denver, who defeated Terry McGovern in Hartford. Conn., last Thursday, said today that he and his manager. "Johnnie" Corbett, would meet McGovern and his manager, Bam Harris, in a newspider office on Park Row, this city, next Monday fore-noon, for the purpose of arranging another match. The match will be governed by the same conditions as to weight as prevailed in the one which proved so disastrous to McGovern, but there will probably be much more money placed in the coming battle when the articles have been signed and every other condition ratified. McGovern is more than anxious to try to retrieve his lost laurels, and, judging from appearances. "Young Corbett" is more than willing to give him the opportunity. Jack Whittaker, the colored feather-weight fighter, is looking for "Halch" Smith, with whom he had expected to get a match, for the second week in December. Whittaker's manager, however, last night heard that Smith had gone to Chicago, so he now wishes to challenge Oscar Gardner for a twenty-round bout. Whittaker will post a forfeit as soon as the challenge is accepted. 1.600 873
