Secretary Royle Declares Its Condition is Unsafe.

LITTLE LOSS TO DEPOSITORS EXPECTED

See the Way of the People's Institution of the Same Name—General News from All Parts of Nebraska.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 19.—(Special.)—An order was issued by Secretary Royle of the State Banking Board today closing the State Bank of Gothenburg and placing it temporarily in charge of Bank Examiner E. E. Emmett.

Appeal from Sarpy County.

In deciding the case of Truman Buck against Stinson, appealed from Sarpy county, the supreme court declares that after a confirmation of sale of mortgaged property, and an appeal from such order by the defendant, the trial court may, in a proper case, when necessary to protect the mortgagee's interests, appoint a receiver to collect the rents, pending the determination of such appeal.

Where steps are instituted for the purpose of taking an appeal from a final order of foreclosure, the order having been entered by the court, and the appeal is not taken, the mortgagee is not bound to accept a receiver to collect the rents, pending the determination of such appeal.

In an action to foreclose a real estate mortgage where the property pledged is insufficient to pay the debt and the party primarily liable therefor is insolvent, the trial court is authorized on an application by the mortgagee to appoint a receiver for the mortgaged property, and in such case it is immaterial that a person who is solvent is liable for the debt as endorser or guarantor.

Where in a controversy over an application for the appointment of a receiver a question of fact on conflicting evidence arises and is determined by the trial court, its finding thereon when warranted by the evidence will be followed in reviewing the case on appeal.

Scotland Admires Nebraska.

The Dundee Advertiser, the leading daily paper in Scotland outside of Edinburgh and Glasgow, has published the following complimentary notice of the statistical map recently issued by Deputy Labor Commissioner C. E. Watson.

"Advance, America! Nebraska's fruit acreage is increasing at the rate of about 19,000 acres a year. This is one of the many interesting facts and figures about this flourishing state elicited by an official map issued from the office of the deputy labor commissioner, Lincoln, Neb. A column of instructive matter might be prepared from this compilation, which seems to touch every point of the intellectual, commercial, agricultural and political life in the state. The map illustrates the thorough business methods of our American cousins, particularly in organization. A few details may be taken from the map. Nebraska is celebrated for its production of corn, wheat, oats, beef, pork and mutton. Very few states can compare with it in output and quality of hay, and rye and barley are profitable crops. There are thirty dairy and 550 weekly newspapers, and the state government expresses the belief that the prosperity and progress of the state are largely owing to the services of the press. The population is thirty-seven times as large as in 1840. The fact is significant, and the map bears witness that the business wellbeing of this big community is safely grounded on wise plans of organization and administration.

Carrie Nation's Sunday Show.

Mayor Wignett has decreed that Carrie Nation must not lecture in this city on the Sabbath day, at least she must not charge for admission to the hall in which she lectures. Several prominent temperance leaders are making an effort to bring the famous joint-smasher here for a Sunday afternoon lecture, and their plan was to charge an admission prohibiting entrance to the hall for money on Sunday and says that it will be enforced to the letter.

Lanometer County Register.

Paul H. Helm, register of deeds for Lancaster county, said this afternoon that he had not decided whether to relinquish his office to Register-elect Jesse Moore or await the outcome of the election contest case by which J. J. Anderson is seeking to establish his right to the office. His opponent, the incumbent, defeated Anderson by about 100 votes and Anderson claims that a recount will change the result and give him the office. Paul Helm, the present incumbent, is a fusionist.

Governor Bound for St. Louis.

Governor Savage left for Omaha this afternoon to join the Nebraska commission for the Louisiana Purchase exposition, and from Omaha he will go with the commissioners to St. Louis, where a meeting will be held Friday of all governors and interested persons of states within the original Louisiana territory. The governor expects to return Saturday.

Nebraska Chemical Society.

The Nebraska section of the American Chemical society met this evening in the chemical laboratory at the State university. The following papers were read: "The Indirect Weighing of Quantitative Precipitates," Mr. Roscoe W. Thatcher; "Report of the Twenty-fourth General Meeting of the American Chemical Society," Prof. Hudson H. Nicholson.

Mrs. Gallagher Gets Judgment.

The supreme court has decided that Mrs. Kate Gallagher is entitled to a judgment for $480 against the city of Lincoln, which amount is still due her for services performed as police matron. Mrs. Gallagher accepted $25 at the end of each month during her employment, notwithstanding the appropriation for the service was for $50 monthly. The city claimed that there was an agreement by which she was to accept half pay in full payment for her work. The court says that the woman is entitled to all the money allowed by the law.

CHRISTMAS ART

THE ILLUSTRATED BEE

CHRISTMAS BEAUTY

HANDSOMER THAN EVER In its holiday magnificence, The Illustrated Bee next Sunday will be far and away the best art supplement ever put out by a daily newspaper.

PROMINENT among the many really meritorious pictures The Bee has published will be found the frontispiece, a beautiful reproduction of a splendidly posed photograph made especially for The Bee by one of its staff artists. No finer bit of artistic photography was ever shown than this. Other illustrations of this number—and they are many—were made especially for it by staff artists. They include pictures of children in groups—little ones with their toys, their games and their work, illustrating perfectly the spirit of Christmas as it is understood by the young folks. People who have no Christmas, those whose necessary toil must go on just the same, form one of the interesting groups.

"When Ring the Christmas Bells" is illustrated with handsome engravings of well known belfries. And these are only a few of the pictures that abound in the splendid number—pictures of persons and pictures of places, but all of timely interest and importance in their relation to the day.

NATURALLY the literary features of the number are devoted in the main to Christmas and topics allied to the day. Probably the most interesting of these will be the article by Mr. Thomas J. Kelly on Christmas Carols. Mr. Kelly has written in his most entertaining style and has furnished a vast fund of most interesting information. An illuminated headpiece and numerous text illustrations make this feature one of uncommon merit. Christmas bells are also treated by Mr. Kelly. Four well known ministers of Nebraska and Iowa, each of a different denomination, have contributed short sermons on the day, affording excellent religious pabulum as well as intelligent discussion from the doctrinal standpoint. Local leaders of the Salvation Army and Volunteers of America write of the work, their organizations do, giving some account of Christmas among the poor. Other matters of more general interest have been treated by special writers, some of them being intended particularly for the children. Along with these Christmas features is the Carpenter letter, the time dealing with the city of Singapore, its people and surroundings. M. Carey Thomas, president of Bryn Mawr college, contributes an article on "College Women of the Present and Future," a notable addition to the series of special articles for women that has been running in The Bee. All the regular departments of the paper have been looked after with unusual care, so that it can be easily pronounced excellent.

OUT ON SUNDAY

THE ILLUSTRATED BEE

One Inch of Snow at Edgar.

EDGAR, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—The weather for the last week has been unusually severe, the thermometer on some mornings registering as low as 10 to 15 degrees below zero. About one inch of snow fell last night.

Sleighting at Plattsmouth.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Five inches of snow fell in this city yesterday, which makes sleighing excellent.

KNIGHTS OF SILVER DOME

Former Fusion Official Talks of Old Nebraska Society.

WOMEN ALSO ARE MEMBERS OF IT

First Annual Report About to Be Issued by C. W. Nelson, and It Will Give Some Interesting Information—Officials Scattered.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Perhaps it would be news to the people of this state to know that there is an organization in Nebraska named the Knights and Ladies of the Silver Dome," said a former fusion state official to a reporter for The Bee. "It is a secret fraternal order and its membership is limited to a very few people who were for four years in the forefront of politics, possibly not over a hundred all told. They are people of widely different characters, but for a while their interests were all in common and there grew up a friendship among them that culminated in the formation of a permanent association."

"When the fusionists got control of the state government, you remember, there was a general cleaning out process all through the capitol building. We thought as we had won a hard fight and had carried the day for our entire state ticket that we were entitled to all the spoils, and even if it was a hard thing to do in the middle of a cold winter we relieved the republican office holders from further duty and filled their places with deserving men and women who had given our party valuable service. We were going to have a new deal.

"Well, the heads of the departments, the clerks and other employees, came from various sections of the state and only a few of us were acquainted with each other. Possibly a majority of us had met at conventions, or in the councils of our party, or in political rallies, but we could not be called close friends.

One Big Family.

"We worked along in the state house together and soon came to think of ourselves as one big family. It was a very jolly affair, as anybody might easily imagine. Some of us had saved up a little money, but we all knew that our pay would soon stop and that we would have to look for other employment. It is rather hard to be turned out in the middle of winter, but the precedent had been established long ago; we had followed our own course, and we complain at the misfortune that had come upon us.

Speculating on Future.

"We talked over old times at the governor's house that night. We discussed little incidents of the past four years and some of us ventured to speculate as to what the future had in store for us. We couldn't hold our breath, but many of us, that was certain. We thought another election would give the control back to our party, but even if it did a new set of officials would be elected and those officials would select a new set of employees. So we accepted the inevitable and decided to look around for legitimate employment that was not dependent upon politics. The governor and several of us made little speeches to the people gathered there and all expressed the hope that even if our association and our party was to be terminated our friendship would continue as before.

"These sentiments gave somebody a happy thought and he proposed the formation of a permanent society. Under the direction of Governor Poynter the dome of the capitol building had been covered with a coating of silver and gold. It would be a good thing to perpetuate the memory of the Knights and Ladies of the Silver Dome. We elected the governor our president and E. W. Nelson, now deputy clerk of the supreme court, was elected secretary. We drew up a constitution and authorized the secretary to issue annually a book giving the names, addresses, employment and other information regarding each member.

Pledge of the Members.

"I have here a copy of the agreement we all signed. It reads as follows: 'I agree to promptly notify the secretary of any permanent change in my postoffice address at least once in each year, or on or about November 30, to report to the secretary any change in my report of the changes and progress of each member of this organization for distribution to the members thereof for their private consideration.' That is the form we subscribed to and I am told that Mr. Nelson is preparing the first annual report. It will be an interesting document."

"It has been a difficult task to keep tab on all the men and women who held office in the state house under the fusion administration. They have scattered widely and some have left the state. Governor Poynter decided not to return to his former home in Albion and is now living in East Lincoln and attending to his duties as president of a fraternal insurance organization. He was taken into the organization while in the executive office and he stepped from the one position into the other. Fred Jewell, private secretary and venerable high adviser and political manager for the governor, has quit the state and is now in California. Henry Blum, who never had much of liking for politics, but was pulled into the whirl by his friends, left his office in the executive department and found more remunerative employment traveling for one of the monopolistic South Omaha packers. David McEntee, of the same stamp, has been gravitating since he left his snap at the state house and may be found one week in Michigan, the next in Texas or any other place that contains gullible merchants to whom he can sell his wares.

Officials Widely Scattered.

"Over in the secretary of state's office the officials scattered in many directions. Mr. Porter divides his time between his farm in Merrick county and business in this city. E. C. Starnet is writing insurance in Central City. O. C. Weesner is in the employ of the Raymond Bros.-Clarke wholesale grocery firm of Lincoln and Theodore Mahan went back to his bank in Alma.

"From the auditor's office a list was left to remain, for a time at least, a resident of this city. He owns a farm near Falls City and when he isn't in Lincoln he is down there looking after his crops. Miss Mamie Muldoon, who was deputy auditor, quit politics and became the wife of a prominent Lincoln tailor, W. B. Price of the auditor's insurance department is reported to have struck it rich in the Texas oil fields. Incidentally he is a law partner of Commissioner Ames of the supreme court."

Attorney General Smyth returned to his law practice in Omaha. Deputy Oldham ran for Smyth's position and was defeated and last year Mr. Oldham was made a member of the supreme court commission. Assistant Paul Pizey went back to Omaha for a while, but was recently appointed stenographer for Judge J. J. Sullivan.

Still Safeguarding Money.

"The man who guarded the money of the state, Mr. Meserve, has started up a pocket-book factory and is turning out little arrangements for holding coin that sell for a small price. He tried to get into the banking business on a larger scale in Hastings, but the deal didn't go through. Deputy Sam Patterson embarked in the banking business in Arapahoe and Clarence West of the same office went to New York and remained there until a few days ago.

"Several of the officeholders went into the newspaper profession. Land Commissioner Wolfe became the editor of the Lincoln Daily Post, Albert Sjoberg of the same office took a position with a Swedish paper. The other deputy commissioners, except the lands and buildings, resigned before their term expired to accept a position as deputy clerk of the supreme court, and his successor, Dan Lynch, is now on the farm of his father-in-law, W. V. Allen, near Okadale.

Secretary P. L. Hall of the banking board resigned his position as secretary of the National bank in this city and Henry Matheson, also of that department, took a position in the same institution. Joe Fisher, the stenographer, is in a bank in Wahoo.

"Superintendent Jackson is perfecting himself at the University of Nebraska for future educational work, and his deputy, C. Beck, is in the Normal school. Adjutant General Barry went back to his farm near Greeley and was elected to the honorary position of brigadier general of the Nebraska National Guard. C. B. Chau-nell, state engineer, is back in his former home at Kearney.

"The clerk, Mary of the governor's staff went prospecting for a good location and finally organized a land development scheme in Utah. General Kelsey, head janitor and formerly one of the commanding officers of Coxe's army, is at work in a wholesale saddlery house in this city.

DAWSON THIEVES CAUGHT

Stranger Nursed Through Smallpox is Suspected of Robbing His Benefactors.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Dawson has been troubled by sneak thieves and many business houses as well as private residences have been robbed. Tuesday night officers discovered the main culprits. A stranger came into the town recently suffering from smallpox. The citizens cared for him and nursed him back to health. It is claimed that the recent thefts are the work of the stranger and officers say he was assisted by local talent. Several arrests were made Tuesday night and it is alleged more will follow.

STOCK DOES NOT SUFFER

Butler County Farmers Are Prepared for the Unprecedented Cold Weather.

DAVID CITY, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Butler county has had the coldest weather the last week that has been recorded in several years. The thermometer registered as low as 20 degrees below zero. At no time in a week has it become so cold. Yesterday the thermometer registered 12 below, but it is warming up considerably now. Farmers were well prepared with sheds for stock and no loss of stock has been reported.

FIND IN ROPER A VETERAN

Officials Believe Accused Murderer is Member of Bill Cook Gang.

GUTHRIE, Okl., Dec. 19.—Indian Territory officials, through the aid of Sheriff Dobbins of Casper, Wyo., have identified Sam Roper, who escaped recently from Arkansas after murdering a sheriff, as a member of the Bill Cook gang of outlaws that terrorized the border in the early '90s. This is the first herd of Roper in Oklahoma. He is wanted in various places in Oklahoma, Indian Territory and Kansas.

READY FOR THE ICE HARVEST

Humboldt Reports an Eight-Inch Clear Cut—Weather Somewhat Warmer.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—The recent cold weather has furnished a good supply of clear eight-inch ice and local dealers will begin the annual harvest next week. Three inches of snow has fallen and the storm continues. The thermometer shows a marked rise.

Moran Waives Examination.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Constable Quinton arrived in Plattsmouth this forenoon with James Moran, who was arrested at Nebraska City yesterday on the charge of grand larceny. The complaint against Moran was filed by $110 from Nicholas Cox in Avoca Tuesday night. The prisoner was arraigned before Justice Archer in this city today, and, waiving examination, the trial was set for Monday.

Humboldt Men Go to Oklahoma.

HUMBOLDT, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—Vincent Marek, who drew a valuable claim in the Oklahoma "strip," left yesterday for the new country to perfect his title. He will stop on his way to visit relatives in Iowa. S. B. Bobst, the veteran who drew claim No. 532, also left early in the week to look after his property.

TWO KILLED IN A RUNAWAY

Team Becomes Frightened, Wagon Overturns and Occupants Sustain Fatal Injuries.

OSCEOLA, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—D. Boro and John Lisko, Poles, who lived on farms about nine miles north of Osceola, were both killed this afternoon in a runaway. They were driving home from town behind a spirited team. About three miles out the horses took fright and ran. During their flight the wagon was overturned and both men flung violently out. Boro's skull was crushed and Lisko's neck was broken. The coroner was notified and with physicians visited the scene of the accident. He found both men dead. After viewing the remains he allowed the relatives to take the bodies home for burial.

Both Boro and Lisko were well known in the community. They were sober and industrious, each having a family. Neither carried any insurance.

STOCK IS WELL PROTECTED

Farmers Near Winslow Have Plenty Food and Good Shelter for Cattle.

WINSIDE, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—The weather has been extremely cold for the last week. The thermometer registered as low as 25 degrees below zero, with a fierce wind blowing part of the time. There are four inches of snow on the ground. The farmers are well prepared for bad weather, stock being well protected. There is plenty of food for man and beast and shelter for all. Farmers are gathering corn some time ago and all have granaries and cribs to store grain in good shape.

Organizes Local Senate.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Dec. 19.—(Special.)—A local senate of the Supreme Order of the Republic was organized Tuesday evening, with John Thomas, president; I. M. Augustine, vice president; J. H. Mullin, second vice president; W. E. Porter, secretary; Sabrina C. Scott, treasurer; R. O. Adams, lecturer; William Simms, guard; Lloyd Youm, doorkeeper; E. F. Jordan, chairman. One hundred and fifteen applicants were elected members.

FUNERAL OF BISHOP LENIHAN

Exercises Bring Together a Number of Prominent Catholic Churches.

DUBUQUE, Ia., Dec. 19.—Imposing ceremonies characterized the funeral services of the late Right Rev. T. M. Lenihan, D. D., bishop of Cheyenne, at St. Raphael's cathedral today. Pontifical regalia was celebrated by Bishop Hennessy of Wichita, assisted by a large number of priests. Archbishop Keane delivered the sermon and eulogy for the dead bishop. The deans for the parish officiated as honorary and nephews of the dead bishop as active pallbearers.

Among the nite and churches from out of the city who were present are Bishop Muldoon of Chicago, Bishop Schwebach of La Crosse, Bishop O'Gorman of Sioux Falls, Bishop Hennessy of Wichita, Bishop Scannell of Omaha, Bishop Cosgrove of Davenport, Bishop Mesmer of Green Bay, Fredrick Eis of Marquette, and Bishop Bonarcus of Lincoln. A number of priests from Chicago, St. Louis, Cheyenne and throughout the archdiocese were in attendance. Interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery.

"OUTING" ART CALENDAR 1902.

There is no advertising upon these calendars. We have secured a large number of these calendars, but the demand is steadily increasing and it will be well to send in your orders as early as possible. They will make attractive and inexpensive Christmas gifts and are most appropriate at this season of the year. You cannot secure such calendars at the art stores for several times the price at which these are offered.

"The Hunt for Happiness" "Landing a Speckled Beauty" "Bruin's Fate"

THE above titles give but a faint idea of the new "Outing" calendar for 1902. The designs are in Miss Stumm's happiest mood, and rather than attempt a description we have given each a name which will convey to you some idea of these clever sketches.

The "Outing" calendar is uniform in size and style with the "Century Girl" and may be had upon the same terms. Don't forget the coupon and don't wait until all are gone before you order.

ART DEPARTMENT, BEE PUBLISHING CO., OMAHA, NEB.

WE offer this week the second in our series of beautiful art calendars for 1902. The first, our "Century Girl," may still be had; the second is now ready for distribution. For want of a better name we have decided to call this one "Outing," because that title seems most appropriate to the dainty and artistic drawings. Each plate is from a water color painting by Miss Maude Stumm, and all the delicate shades and artistic atmosphere of the originals have been faithfully reproduced.

DOCTORING FREE

A staff of eminent physicians and surgeons from the British Medical Institute have, at the urgent solicitation of a large number of patients under their care in this country, established a permanent branch of the Institute in this city.

Corner of 16th and Farnam Streets. Rooms 438-439 Board of Trade Building.

These eminent gentlemen have decided to give their services entirely free for three months (medicines excepted) to all invalids who call upon them for treatment between now and January 9.

The object in pursuing this course is to become rapidly and personally acquainted with the sick and afflicted, and under no conditions will any charge whatever be made for any services rendered for three months to all who call before January 9. Male and female weakness, catarrh and catarrhal diseases, also rupture, gleet, cancer, all skin diseases and all diseases of the rectum are positively cured by their new treatment.
