Banks Temporarily Closed

News of the temporary closing of the two banks owned by the late Henry Hospers of Sloux county has been received here. Mr. Hospers owned the Bank of Orange City and the Bank of Maurice, both private banks, and it was generally supposed that he had an estate worth at least $250,000. After his death the banks were continued for a short time, but it is now announced that they have been closed pending settlement of the estate. Other bankers have stepped into the field and it is believed the two banks will not reopen. It is also found that his estate was not in as good condition as had generally been supposed. Aged Man is Failing.
