A. H. M'VEY ON THE BENCH

Governor Shaw Appoints Him to Succeed Judge Conrad.

LEGISLATION PROPOSED FOR THE CITIES

Curator Aldrich Seeks Historical Matter—Poultry Show Opens—Tax Ferret Lawsuits—Woman Dies of Grief.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Dec. 23.—(Special Telegram)—Governor Shaw today appointed A. H. McVey to the district bench to succeed the late Judge Conrad.

McVey has been a practicing attorney here for many years, but his name had not been discussed in connection with the place left vacant on the bench, and was not known to be a candidate.

Numerous other candidates were in the field and working for the place, but a rumor had been circulated that a few days ago Governor Shaw had said he would leave the matter to Mr. Cummins, his successor. It appears he never gave any ground for this, but took the matter up on the proposed legislation, especially Cummins before he made the appointment, and sought to have him join with him in consideration of the claims of the various candidates, so that it would not be displeasing to Cummins, but Cummins refused to give anything to do with the case.

He assured Governor Shaw that he would consider it courteous if he would make the appointment now, nor would he regard it as shifting the responsibility to make the appointment.

Legislation for the Cities. The legislative committee of the Des Moines city council, consisting of three aldermen, have prepared an exhaustive report on proposed legislation, especially adapted to the city of Des Moines, but also in part applicable to all cities of the state. This report favors more radical departures from present custom in municipal government, one of the most important being the reorganization of the city of Des Moines, which body was created in the special instance of Des Moines people, to a mere department of the city operating under the city council, but in general introducing into the administration of city affairs a civil service system. It is proposed that a commission be created to study and report on positions in the city and that the applicants be graded and that all appointments be made from the list as prepared by the commission. Legislation looking to the creation of such a commission will be introduced in the near future.

Going After Historical Matter. Curator Charles Aldrich will start for Washington in a few days and make a general tour of the east in search of new material for the Iowa Historical department. He will visit the departments at Washington in search of historical papers relating to Iowa and go elsewhere in search of similar material. Last winter he spent some time in Washington and was rewarded by finding a large number of valuable letters of the territorial governors of Iowa, and these he is bound in form to be seen. He believes he has secured a large amount of material this winter and thus preserve it from destruction.

Poultry Show is Open. The annual poultry and pet stock show of Des Moines opened this evening with an excellent representation of fowls and rabbits from many parts of the state and from breeders in other states. The purses offered for the best specimens are a larger number of exhibitors than usual, and it is believed that the show will be a success in every way.

Death of Grief. Mrs. Jennie B. Hardy died this morning at the Methodist hospital after a short illness. She was the only daughter of the late William Phillips, who died about a month ago. Her husband died last spring and she, with the death of her father, caused her such grief that she immediately began to decline, and this morning died at the hospital. She leaves two children.

New Corporations. The Pawnee Cattle company of Council Bluffs has been incorporated and articles filed with the secretary of state. The capital is $100,000. J. O. Jeffries and C. M. Scanlan, incorporators.

The Moore Shoe company, Mason City, capital, $10,000, has been incorporated.

The Dillon-Warren company of McCallsburg, Story county, has been incorporated.

The Eddy Cemetery company of Kendallville, Winnish county, has been incorporated.

More Tax Ferret Litigation. The city council of Cedar Rapids, having entered into a contract with certain persons to engage in ferretting out property which has escaped taxation and agreeing to pay $20 per cent of all collections to the ferrets, has been brought to court to enjoin the city from paying any of the money on this contract. It is claimed that the city has exceeded its authority in authorizing someone to engage in tax collections, and especially that under the Iowa laws it cannot pay 20 per cent of the collections. The suit will be pushed through the courts. There was much disappointment that the supreme court did not finish up the remainder of the tax ferret cases which have been submitted to it. Several from the northern part of the state are still being considered by the court and decisions are anxiously awaited.

Women's Terrible Experience. Four hours in a vault eighteen feet deep, with the thermometer near the zero mark, was the terrible experience of Mrs. Fred Young and Mrs. W. A. Scott of Maquoketa. The women entered the closet, an outside building, the door closed and the women precipitating them to the bottom without a minute's warning. The vault is boarded up a distance of eight feet from the floor, and below this there is a foot of masonry. Near the bottom a plank protrudes from the wall and is fastened to the floor. The women, as they caught hold of it and prevented themselves from sinking below the waist. They cried loudly for help, but no assistance came for four hours. Fred Palmer, who was passing near the house, heard their cries and located them after considerable difficulty. He summoned assistance and with the aid of a ladder the women were rescued from their perilous position, more dead than alive from the exposure and from injuries received in falling. Had it not been for the projector timber both of the women would have sunk helplessly to the bottom of the vault and a terrible death would have been the result.

MRS. JAMES LANGAN MISSING

Council Bluffs Woman Disappears After Omaha Visit—May Have Been Arrested.

Mrs. James Langan of 1715 South Twelfth street, Council Bluffs, has been missing since Saturday and all efforts to secure any trace of her whereabouts had proven futile up to last night. Her husband and family are almost distracted over her disappearance, for which they cannot account in any way.

Mrs. Langan left home Saturday afternoon, saying she was going to visit her mother, Mrs. Barrett, who lives on South Twelfth street in Omaha. She visited her mother as she stated and remained with her for over an hour. When leaving her mother's house about 4 o'clock that afternoon she said she was going to visit her brother, who lives in South Omaha. The last seen or heard of Mrs. Langan was when she left her mother's house. She did not reach her brother's house and he was unable to throw any light on the mystery.

Later information is to the effect that Mrs. Langan, the missing woman, and Mrs. Mary Coleman, arrested in the Boston store Saturday for shoplifting, are one and the same person. The Omaha police report that Mrs. Coleman was last evening admitted to bail and that they suspect her real name to be Langan.

Three More Divorce Suits. Present indications are that the January term of district court will have the average number of divorce suits. Three were filed yesterday.

Device for Safety of Elevators

SIoux CITY, Ia., Dec. 23.—(Special Telegram)—A device intended to avert accidents by the premature starting of elevators has been patented by William H. Wilsey, engineer of the Security Bank building here. Letters patent are expected to arrive this week from Washington. The scheme is described to make it impossible for the lever of the cage to be worked until the door is closed completely. Then the door is locked so securely while the cage is away that it cannot be opened until the car returns. The inventor says that today he declined an offer of $75,000 for his patent. He has been at work upon it for over a year.

PAYS PENALTY WITH HIS LIFE

Farmhand Dies in Electric Chair for Murder of Associate.

BOSTON, Dec. 24.—Franciszek Umilian was executed by electricity at the state prison, Charlestown, at 12:30 o'clock this morning for the murder of Kasimir Jedrusiek in Granby December 31, 1899.

Kasimir Jedrusiek disappeared in December, 1899, from the farm of Monroe Keith in Granby, western Massachusetts. He and Umilian were farmhands there. In the following April Jedrusiek's body, cut up and headless, was found in a sack in an unused well. Two days later the head was unearthed from the farm of Umilian.

Umilian was convicted on strong circumstantial evidence. A corn cutter was used to cut up the body. The motive was that Umilian was angry because Jedrusiek had written to a priest at Chicago before Umilian was married to a domestic employed by Mr. Keith warning him that Umilian had a wife and family in Poland.
