quieted down and the new towns are now enjoying a steady growth, Lawton is strictly a boom town. Lots were sold there for $5,000 each. People went wild over real estate, and of course the price can't keep up, because there is nothing around Lawton to build it into a city. "Shawnee and Chandler are also big, live towns. Shawnee is quite a cotton shipping point and a much more substantial sort of a place than Lawton. It premises to be one of the best towns in Oklahoma. At present t has 6,000 inhabitants. Railroad shops are located there and it is a very busy shipping point. Oklahoma City is much the largest town in Oklahoma and will always be the metropolis of that section of the country. It has about 16,000 inhabitants and is much better improved than many cities in the north which are several times as large. "Oklahoma City's chief hotel is better than any hotel in Omaha. The city has large wholesale houses and is the chief distributing point for that section of the south. It will always be the jobbing center of Okahoma. There is much building going on in all Oklahoma cities. Workmen are busy all the time and material cannot be secured rapidly enough. In Oklahoma City many buildings have been delayed on account of the failure to secure brick and lumber. Brick is shipped to Oklahoma by the carload from Coffeyville and other Kansas towns. "The crops in Oklahoma were not very good the past year. The summer was pretty dry, but not as bad as in Texas and Kancotton crop was below the average. The shortage of crops did not seem to affect the prosperity of the country, however. Everything that was raised sold at a good price. Corn did not yield well last year in Oklahoma, but it isn't much of a corn-gorwing state. Wheat and cotton are the chief crops. "Land agents are the busy men in Okla homa at present. Many people who secured claims do not care to hold them and are selling their rights to settlers who squat on the claims with the consent of the origina! holders. At Lawton, El Reno and other

Most of the people who go there have money in the territory seems to be great .... "Lack of fuel is Oklahoma's greatest drawback. The prices charged by railroads for hauling Kansas and Arkansas coal is so excessive that no manufacturing can be carried on until cheaper fuel is secured. Oil has been discovered in Indian Territory. The wells cannot be developed for some time on account of trouble over the titles. As soon as the new oil field is developed Oklahoma people believe that

BUSY DAY FOR JUDGE BAKER Procession of the Indicted Passe Rapidly Before the Bar of

Two hundred and twelve indictments for keeping gaming machines, to-wit, slot machines, have been returned by the grand jury and every one of Sheriff Powers' force of deputies was busy yesterday serving capiases and bringing the indicted ones before Judge Baker of the criminal court. The judge had a busy time of it in admitting them to batt, as there is seldom a consecutive five minutes that some one does not put in an appearance. Between 10 and 12 o'clock this merning upward of thirty had ing from $200 to $500 each. as Cliff Cole, Tom Dennison, Pat Moran, John Alperson, W. F. Stoecker, Nat Brown and Sig. Kohn. None of those indicted seems desirous of evading the summons and many of them came to the sheriff's office voluntarily when they heard they were wanted. The cases of all persons indicted by the grand jury have been continued to the February term of court, as the petit jury for the present term has been sifting the matter thoroughly.

Detective J. D. A. Johnson called upor Chief Donahue yesterday and explained why it had taken him two weeks to get Charles Katz, alias Carl Cramer, the alleged forger, out of the clutches of the Minsesota authorities. "Katz has several families of relatives in Minneapolis and St. Paul," said he, "and all of them united their efforts to keep their kineman there. They filed all sorts of charges against him to offset my charge, and even went so far as to bave him indicted by the grand jury up there.
