REV. SUMNER MARTIN QUITS

First Christian Church Accepts His Resignation as Paster.

NEW EDIFICE, HOWEVER, IS IN PROSPECT

That Which He so Much Desired Seems Likely to Materialize Soon After His Removal to Other Fields.

Because of a difference of opinion that h describes as "good natured," Rev. Sumner T. Martin of the First Christian church Twentieth street and Capitol avenue, has tendered his resignation as pastor and it has been accepted, to take effect when a successor is secured, which may not be for some weeks, as the congregation is said to have no one in sight as yet.

Rev. Martin succeeded Rev. Burt, and would have completed his second year with the church this coming March. During that time there have been about 200 accessions to the church, all at regular Sunday services, there having been no special revivals attempted. The church is in better financial condition also, and there seems an invitation to be present and preside at to be no aggressive dissatisfaction with his the mass meeting. Music for the occasion a branching out on more general lines, and expected also that a new Bros. have contributed $100 each for the City and ex-President J. P. D. John of Init is the failure of these expectations that send in checks. The committee issued the has led to the open differences of opinion and resulted in his deciding that it would be better for all concerned that he take his present course. He states that he has received several calls, but has not decided which to accept.

Committee Will Express Regret.

His resignation was presented the churchmen Wednesday of last week and accepted by the congregation Sunday, at which time a committee consisting of Judge W. W. Slabaugh, E. G. Jones and C. A. Lyman was appointed to draft resolutions of regret and commendation. It is said that the regret at his leaving was general, though there were a few who felt that it might be best under the circumstances.

To The Bee Rev. Martin said last night: "This is in no sense a church quarrel. It is simply a good natured difference of opinion as the best method of conducting the work. I had hoped to have the church reach out on broader lines and build a new edifice, believing that the Lord, seeing a work to be done, would provide a way to do it, but the congregation has not felt able to undertake it, and I decided to make way for another leader for it."

New Church is in Prospect.

W. A. Saunders, chairman of the church board, when seen last night at his home. 2050 North Nineteenth street, substantially verified all that Rev. Martin had said, remarking: "The accessions to the church during the present pastorate have numbered 200, and Mr. Martin's work has been satisfactory, the reason for his resignation being that which he has given. The for is not, however, so far distant as may seem. Indeed, I expect the project to be well launched by the time of the big convention of the denomination here next October. The congregation is thirty years old, and the building it occupies is the same that it built in the late '70s at Twenpends on what is styled the 'middle class' for its support, but a new building is in be air and bound to materialize.

No Successor Yet in Sight.

"As a successor to Rev. Martin we have absolutely no one in sight, for the talk of his resignation took this decisive form rather suddenly.'

Concerning next fall's national convention Mr. Saunders said that the executive committee met Monday night to talk over the matter of headquarters and transact routine business. The committee deputized to decide the former question is C. S. Payne, Judge Slabaugh and W. A. Saunders. The convention itself is to be the first of the large ones in the new Auditorium.

SMALL HOUSE AT BENEFIT

"Colinette" Disappoints the Managers of McKinley Memorial Fund.

The small house which greeted Gertrude Coghlan's production of "Colinette" last pight at Boyd's theater was a disappointment to Miss Coghlan and the Nebraska branch of the McKinley Memorial Fund association, whose benefit it was. The attendance was much smaller than at Miss Coghlan's two other performances and was not the largely attended social affair that the committee had hoped to make it. The small house was made up largely of representative people. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kountze occupied a box and entertained a party made up of Miss Cotton, Miss Lomax and Mr. Fred H. Davis. Mr and Mrs. C F. Weller, Mise Weller, Miss Agnes Weller, Mr. Percy Fleischel and Mr. D. Y. Wheeler of Cripple Creek occupied a box. Among others who sat in boxes were Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Hitchcock, Mr. and Mrs.

"Colinette," while not wholly devoid of merit as a production, falls far short of Miss Coghian's apparently limited ability, toward pneumonia. It is famous for its much less that of Julia Marlow, who, after a short trial in New York last season, was compelled to abandon it as a failure. The first three acts are almost entirely devoid

Innovations Are Opposed

It was in regard to teachers' examinations that the council last year squarely clared that teachers' examinations should be conducted by a county board of three members of which the county superintendent should be the chairman and the other two should be appointed by the state superintendent. Examinations should be held every three months by this board. The reday school of Kountze Memorial church port originally read that the entire board was given last night with a Christmas tree and a literary and musical program. The primary department of the school was given as the superintendent. This was changed before it night's arrivals at the Murray. primary department of the school was given reached the council. After the opening clause was to commit the State Teachers' exercises, this department was given place, association, and through it the educational influences of Iowa to a radical change in the method of conducting teachers' examinations. The discussion of this subject in the council and in one form or another in Hadigan, Hasings; A. W. Thompson, Humand recitations. Then older pupils took the method of conducting teachers' examipart, the evening being spent with songs, nations. The discussion of this subject in program closed with an address by Rev. the association, was almost sensational in E. F. Trefz, the pastor of the church, after nature. Opposition to the innovation was which a distribution of presents took place. led by Superintendent Deator of Page county, who spoke for the county superintendents and defended them. The change Christmas tree, illuminated by electricity, was urged with a view to centralizing power in the state superintendent and to remove the matter of teachers' examinations from petty local politics. The advo cates of the present method insisted that the change would be ruinous and would not accomplish any of the things sought, but would rather aggravate the trouble. The council divided nearly evenly in regard to this report and the result was that the report was thrown back to the committee to be brought up again this year. It is understood that no such radical measures will be proposed this year, but that the conservative elements of the committee will dominate and bring in a report that will be adopted without any serious opposition from the county superintendents and will suit the professional teachers who are not pleased with the present method.

teacher of a county school in the wes ought to read "Silas Cobb." by Dan V Stephens. If they would do this they would find themselves not only interested by the story but, what is more to the point, they would gain many new ideas bearing upor the work of school superintendents and the profession of teaching. It is in the main a nevel based, as the author says, upon fact, the characters, with one or two exceptions, being real people who played the part in life assigned to them in the story The scene is laid in an imaginary county in Illinois. The story tells of the life and struggles of Silas Cobb, a country boy who rises from the position of country school teacher to that of county superintendent The author, while bringing in a vasamount of fact and valuable suggration has nevertheless told a most entertaining story. He has the rare faculty of imparting in formation and instruction in the guise of fiction and has told his etery in a manner at once so droll and humorous as to leave never a dull page from start to finish. Some of the characters introduced, as that of of public instruction for Iowa, is ex-officio "Old Henry Boggs," are painted with ray chairman of the educational council and has skill. In an afterword Mr. Stephens says "The story of Siles Cobb closes with scarcely a year and a half of his term of office finished; therefore much valuable experience in his career has yet to be told Some day the author hopes to tell what be lows State university. It is expected that has not officially approved any one of the fell him as the years went by and how he conducted himself under the many trying circumstances that confronted him." It might be added that the author, who lives in Dodge county, Nebraska, is by no means known. Do You Know how fascinating English history really is? That England, during the past thousand years, has given to our literature more heroes and heroines than all the rest of the world and ages? What do you know of the private and personal lives of her queens. who, as well as being stately sovereigns with passions of love and hate, were living, palpitating women?

Do you know of that king and queen who stood barefooted. Every school superintendent and every and "all naked from their waists upward." in the great hall of Westminster? Or what plumber's dog licked the blood of a king? Or why Henry VII hanged his four English mastiffs as traitors? Or what king apologized for taking so long to die? Or why Marlborough and his duchess were disgraced?

Do you know the story of Thomas Becket and the Emir's daughter? Of fair Rosamond Clifford's bower in the labyrinth at Woodstock, and the teiltale silken thread on Henry's gelden spur that led to her becoming a nun? Of Richard II and the fatal trap-door of Vidomar? Of the dreadful warning that hung over the bed of Jsabella of Angouleme? Of the queen who was discovered in London, disguised as a cook-maid?

Do you know how the mere fact that the Duchess of Marlborough putting on, by mistake, the queen's gloves, changed. as Voltaire says, the destinies of Europe? Or why the great Elizabeth and her prime minister had to deal secretly with Catherine de' Medici's tailors? Or what that which passed between "Nan" Boleyn and King Hal beneath the yew-tree in the cloistered shade of Sopewell nunnery, meant to Woolsey?

Those who are interested may have specimen pages of a work that will show how English history may be had in quite a different way from that presented by Hume, or Rapin, or Macaulay, or Guizot, or Hallam, or Froude.

Settlement of the West," appearing in the January Century, deals with the movement, not down stream, with the current, nor up stream, by steam power, but "across the waters," by rail and caravan. One of Remington's illustrations for this number—a six-horse stage by moonlight—is printed in tints as the magazine's frontispiece.

The author of "Madame Butterfly," "Miss Cherry-Blossom," etc., contributes the "complete novel" to Lippincott's Magazine for January. It is called "Naughty Nan,"
