Table with 2 columns: Circulation statistics for various months and years, including total sales and net daily average.

John Bull is Hoping the Boers will wear off on New Year's day.

The year 1901 seems bound to keep up its record for death-dealing disaster to the end.

The aftermath of the holidays promises to keep the merchants busy longer than usual this time.

What if, after reading those resolutions of regret, Judge Baker should decide to stay right here in Nebraska?

King Edward has decided that there will be no court jester at the coronation ceremonies. Waiting so many years for the crown is a serious matter.

Latest reports are to the effect that Admiral Schley considers his case closed. Not so with MacLay—he has contracted to write a magazine article.

Iowa was fifty-five years old Saturday. Though a few days late, the nation received a fine Christmas present fifty-five years ago, which has been growing better every year.

The New Year would be a good time for the county treasurer to turn over to a new leaf and begin to credit up to the taxpayers the interest earned by the bank deposits of county funds.

The best things command the best prices on the stage, as in trade and business. That is why the great English tragedian now touring this section gets twice the price of admission accorded cheaper entertainers.

Members of the school board seem to sign financial exhibits prepared for them with the same nonchalance that they affixed their signatures to that grand jury resolution preferring grave charges against municipal officers.

Statistics have been compiled to show that what are known as industrial corporations in this country are capitalized at $6,500,000,000. How much water is included in this is not stated, because it is beyond the power of the statisticians.

Judge Gordon is still scheming to hang on to the police bench, in spite of the fact that a majority of the voters expressed themselves against him at the last election. His tenacity only shows that he is convinced that he is losing a good thing.

Santos-Dumont is coming to this country with his flying machine, in the hope of taking in enough money at exhibitions to endow a flying machine institute to the extent of $1,000,000. American highfliers do not need any institute to teach them how to make an ascension.

Scientists again predict that the coal supply of Great Britain will be exhausted before the end of the present century, if the present rate of mining is continued. By that time the Nebraska man who claims to be able to make fuel out of common dirt may have his invention perfected.

A centrally located market house in which the common people might have the advantage of varied selection at competitive prices would do much to make Omaha more attractive as a place for wage workers to live. And the wage workers constitute the backbone of every community.

London papers are trying to scare up a war between Germany and the United States over the trouble in Venezuela. The story makes good reading, but there is no necessity of anyone getting down the old family msketed for the present.

The ruling powers in neither country have their war paint mixed yet.

THE CLOSING YEAR. The year that ends with today has been somewhat less eventful than the preceding year, or indeed than several previous years, but its contribution to history has been considerable and important.

Water outlet on the Pacific for their northwest territory, but our commissioners were not convinced of the right of Great Britain to this. Subsequently, serious trouble between Canadians and Americans in Alaska being threatened, the matter became a subject of diplomatic negotiation between the two governments.

Trust-smasher Smyth. Trust-smasher Smyth rushes into print to rebuke the Standard Oil magnates of the latter examination they would have surely encountered had not Smyth by mischance had to evaluate his office job before the final order to charge was issued—Omaha News.

From the point of view of Trust-smasher Smyth the charges he has vented to prefer against his successor for dereliction of duty and mismanagement of the suit brought against the Standard Oil company may have some foundation, but his arraignment of the present attorney general snags altogether too much of self-laudation and political demagoguery and has a tendency to strengthen the suspicion that he delights in playing to the grandstand.

Great Opening for Prophets. Louisville Courier-Journal. It is a great deal safer to predict that wireless telegraphy will supersede the carrier pigeon than that it will supersede the wire telegraph.

WORLD RENAISSANCE NEGOTIATIONS. The British government, it appears, is desirous of renewing negotiations in regard to the questions in controversy between the United States and Canada, the most important of which relates to the Alaskan boundary.

Chinese diplomats broke over an old tradition when they attended a dinner given by Minister Conger, in which American women participated. Formerly it was considered degrading to dine with foreign women.

FROM THE NEBRASKA STATE PRESS. LEARY OF GUAM. Boston Globe: Thoroughly original in his ideas of duty and faithful to them, Captain Leary secured distinction as a man of courage and coolness in Samoa.

Great Dead of 1901. Chicago Tribune. The year now so nearly at its close has been quite as notable as any of its recent predecessors in the loss of those who have been conspicuous in their various departments of labor and have made their names widely known.

Power in the West. Washington Post. The eastern seaboard are more and more assuming the roll of supplicants for benefits. Despair need hardly sit on the faithful from Ohio because the scepter has departed. There may be a firm clutch on places already secured and faintness of heart to clamor for more.
