MEN TO RULF THE LIBRARY BOARD

Mayor Thwaird of Intention to Appoint a Meority of Women-Vaceinstior of School Children Mile Compulsory.

Considerate amusement was provided at transacted The real funny part came in when Coughiman Miller wanted to abrogate the state iw in relation to the pay of marshals for conveying prisoners. For years the city as been paying the chief of police of the Board of Education, was called bewith the law and promptly declared the resolution out of order.

Miller alone voted in the affirmative.

Next came a suggestion from Miller that Officer Wolfe, who has been guarding prisoners at the rock pile, be discharged. The mayor informed the council that at present elx prisoners were working out sentences ion the rock pile, and when Wolfe was not engaged in this work he was walking a beat. This resolution followed the rest to the waste basket. Then as a last stand for economy, Miller moved that the services of the assistant fire chief be disposed with but as his motion did not secure a second It was relegated to the rear.

These numerous suggestions of Miller caused any amount of merriment and endivened what would otherwise have been a rather dreary session.

Children Must Be Vaccionted. Monday afternoon's session of the Board of Health resulted in several resolutions being passed. The order of most importance was the one directing the Board of Education to compel the vaccination of pupils attending the public schools. It is the intention of the board to have the pupils exhibit these certificates before they will be admitted to the schools at the commencement of the second semester. By this action it is hoped that the spread of smallpox will be retarded and eventually stamped out. As for the closing of the schools, the board was not in favor of such action, as it was stated that children were better off in well-fumigated and ventilated rooms dur-

Statement from Mr. Fellows.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Dec. 30.—To the Editor of The Bee: Dear Sir—In your issue of December 29 appears a special from this city headed, "Quits Plattsmouth Contest," which asserts that I have "decided not to be a candidate for the office of postmaster of Plattsmouth." Now this was zent as a correction, but it does not correct, for the reason that I have never contemplated being a candidate. It was inrect, for the reason that I have never con-templated being a candidate. It was in-tended as a correction of a statement that I was seeking the appointment of postmas-ter at this place to succeed Postmaster Chester H. Smith, who was appointed by the lamented William McKinley in May. 1898. Inasmuch as I myself have signed a petition to Congressman Burkett asking for Mr. Smith's re-amountment, and loss. 1898. Inusmuch as I myself have signed a petition to Congressman Burkett asking for Mr. Smith's re-appointment, and inasmuch as there was no foundation in fact for the announcement. I kindly asked your correspondent to cause to be published in The Bee a denial, but the attempt still leaves the inference that there has been opposition to Mr. Smith's re-appointment and that I had attempted to put in an oar against one of my closest confidential against one of my closest confidential friends by asking for that which ninety-nine out of every 100 of the pairons of the Plattsmouth postoffice feel Mr. Smith is entitled to by virtue of his four years of entitled to by virtue of his four years of hard work and personal attention to business in their behalf. Hence, in justice to Mr. Smith, against whom no compigint has been made, and to show some little consistency on my part, I sincerely hope you will allow this explanation space in The Bee, a paper which the rank and file of republicans in the state, including myself, believe to be authority on republican politics in Nebraska and the great middle west. Mr. Peavey came to Chicago from his home in Minneapolis nearly two weeks ago on a business trip. He was in his usual perfect health, but December 20 he contracted a cold and that night took to his bed in the Auditorium Annex. The cold quickly developed into pneumonia and the patient's friends and relatives were notified, although it was expected that he would recover. Hopeful bulletins were received daily, but Friday night last the patient's condition took a turn for the worse, although he had felt much better during the day. Saturday night again a good day was followed by distress at night. Yesterday, however, it was believed that Mr. Peavey had successfully passed the crisis of his illness and up to midnight information from the bedside was of a very Center until a short time ago, when he encouraging character.
