In spite of the talk of a further cut, it is apparent that substantial interests here have sufficient money and failth to buy liberally on every decline, so a serious break is not likely unless there are un-expected developments in the United States. Both in Germany and in France the out-look for the new year is more hopeful. There is considerable money in Paris awaiting only some encouraging lead to seek investment.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5 .- (Special.)-Henry Clews, head of the banking house of Henry Clews & Co., reviewing the conditions of Walls street, says:

Clews & Co., reviewing the conditions of Walls street, says: In spite of holiday interruptions and ap-prehensions of tight money, we have had a fairly active and advancing stock mar-ket. Strong inside interests have taken hold of the market and under their power-ful support prices were bound to advance. There was no unfavorable news except what had been already discounted, con-sequently, there was little hindrance to pro-fessional manipulation. The principal stimu-lus to a buil movement was of course an-ticipation of the usual January investment demand and the large dividend disburse-ments at this period. While the latter uaused a temporary derangement of the money market, they are generally regarded as a buil argument for the reason that a considerable portion find their way back to Wall street for investment purposes. This year January dividend payments are still enjoying a degree of prosperity far heyond what was ever anticipated, and this fact alone is sufficient to hold values at their present high level and give the professional trader a chance for an upward turn. So far, however, the outside public have shown little disposition to enter the market. Such of them as have not been bitten by the collapse in copper are in an exceedingly cautious mood; they recog-nize that values are already very high and that a buil market forced at this time would very likely be a selling movement in disgues. It seems very improbable, there-fore, that the present attempt to interest the public will succeed, and prudent com-mission hources are taking a cautionary at-utude. The exceptional strength of the

The bourse reports indicate that out-siders have begun speculative buying in iron and coal shares. Yesterday all the industrials were in strong demand and many advanced lo points during the week. These latter include iron and coal shares and the obligations of machinery and chemical concerns. During the last week the money market was extremely easy and the press predicts

OMARA, Jan. 4.

OMAHA, Jan. 4. Traveling salesmen for local jobbers all manufacturers are once more on the road after the holiday recess and according to all reports they are meeting with much better success than anticipated. Just at this season there is, of course, consider-able tendency on the part of retailers to clean up what stock they have on hand and besides that they have hardly inished involcing and for that reason a good meny merchants are not buying as freely as they will in a week or ten days from now. Tak-ing everything into consideration, however, jobbers are greatly pleased with the busi-ness outlook for the coming year and are predicting a good, healthy, brisk market for some time to come. market has been so free from price fluctu-ations as it was last week. In fact, it may be said that there was not a single important change in may line. The general tendency seemed to be to hold prices steady until the year's business is fairly well under way As a general thing jobiers and manufacturers do not place very heavy orders the first week or ten days of the new year, so that the true condition of the market is hardly known. Those who ought to know, however, seem to have a good deal of confidence in future values and do not look for any very radical changes for some time to come. Grocers About Stendy. The new year is starting out in a very satisfactory manner so far as the grocery trade is concerned. Traveling men for local houses have only been on the road a few days, but, nevertheless, they are sending in a food of orders. It geems that grocers out through the country cleaned out their holiday stocks in good shape and as there is a good steady demand for all staple lines, there is no prospect of much letup in the wholesale trade. The market has been unusually quiet so far as changes in quotations are concerned. The sugar market is in practically the same position it was a week ago. That is true of both raws and refined. Canned goods are also unchanged, but there is a very firm feeling on corn and tomatoes. Those who are in a position to know are pro-dicting higher prices at no very distant date. Dried fruits are going into consumption · Indicates Sunday. · Indicates holiday The The official number of cars of brought in today by each road was:

dicting higher prices at no very distant date. Dried grutts are going into consumption at a rapid rate, owing to the cold weather, but the market has scarcely recovered as yet from the rush of the holiday season. As soon as retailers get their stocks cleaned up a big defmand is looked for. Farinaceous goods are also unchanged. Beans and coatmeal are both selling in practically the same notches they were a week ago, but the market is brisk and in a good, healthy condition. C. M. & St. P. Ry. Changes in Freight Rates. Local hardware men are still busy in-voicing their stocks and owing to the rush of business they are meeting with consider-able difficulty. Not as many orders are coming in as are expected a week from now, but still there are more than usual at this time of year, which is taken as an indication of the healthy condition of trade in the country. Traveling men are now making their usual rounds and find that stocks in the country are not what would be called heavy and for that reason they are predicting a very nice trade to set in within the next week or ten days. Present indications are that there will be a few changes in prices at this point, owing to a readjustment of freight rates. It is, of course, a well known fact that several lines of goods have been selling at a lower price in this market than the mill prices would justify, owing to the some-what demoralized condition of freight rates. The way things look now, however, jobbers are of the epinion that rates will be strictly maintained in the future and for that reason such lines as wire and nalls will probably be marked up within the next few days, so that the selling price here will be in a good, hach by condition and that reason such lines as wire and nalls will be brought about by this readjustment there is practically no change in the mark there is practically no change in the mark there is price in this methed up within the next few days, so that the selling price here will be in the with the quotations at the vari-ous mills. Outside of the changes that will be brought about by this readjustment there is practically no change in the mark indications are that it will remain that way for some time to come. The demand a lively market is predicted. Dry Goods a Trifle Quiet. The dev seeds methere.
