JUDGE GORDON PASSES UP OFFORTUNITY

His Deposed Honor Soberty Denies that He Arranged Cat and Dog Fight and Also Any Acquaintance with Belligerents.

Judge Berka cut the Gordian knot yesterday by discharging "Sleepy" Hewitt, charged with burgiary. Hewitt is one of the two alleged housebreakers whose cases were pending before Judge Gordon at the time of his retirement from the police court bench. He could not be tried because the county attorney's office declined to prosecute before the new police judge; for while it was thought he couldn't even be discharged from jail, but Judge Berka decided that point with one fell swoop and Hewitt is now a free man.

Judge Gordon appeared at police court yesterday with a transcript in the case of Jim Bacon, Hewitt's alleged pal, wno was bound over to the district court amid such stirring scenes last Tuesday morning He asked Clerk Grier to sign and record the transcript, which was refused.

If a clairvoyant had cast a true horo scope of Judge Berka a week ago it would have been something like this: "A dark cloud hovers over your pathway; there is Wednesday night and robbed of goods rep lightning and thunder and troublous times shead."

He is now in the midst of the warring ing conditions have been unfavorable to istrate so loves to observe in his court His forum has been doomed to scenes of turbulence, of ribald and boisterous mirth, of bickerings and almost of Everywhere Miss Stone has bee the staircase, sat Judge Gordon, closely given praise in the press for her impersor guarded by Officer Dan Davis, to see that ation of this difficult part. he didn't sneak into the court room and usurp the bench. The fight by rounds:

usurp the bench. The fight by rounds:

Round 1—Dog makes a rush, barking savagely; cat arches back, hisses, spits and backs off. Judge interrupts prisoner's testimony to order animals removed. Court officer starts to obey. Cat growls and lays low, watching for an openins.

Round 2—Dog rushes agarn; cat sidesteps, placing legs of spectator between himself and danger; impetus of dog carries him by cat; cat strikes at dog as he passes, landing on left car. First blood for cat. Dog whines and stands at bay.

Round 3—Dog barks, and is carried backward fow inches each time by recoil. Officer Davis leaves Judge Gordon in hall to get window stick; pokes cat; cat leaps three feet in air; dog rushes underneath; prisoner tries to explain why he whipped his wife.

Round 4—Cat descends on back of spectator; sees open door and runs for it; dog heads him off; cat doubles back; Judge Gordon laughs; commotion among spectators; cat and dog come together in clinch under the benches; much yowling, barking, whining and spitting; Judge Berka raps for order and holds book before his face.

Round 5—Officer Davis seizes dog by hind leg and carries him down stairs; cat retreats to matron's room; spectators appland. Judgment, a draw.

Gordon Didn't Move.

Gordon Didn't Move.

Several minutes elapsed before Officer Davis returned from depositing the dog on Judge Gordon sat unguarded in the hallway. Four little newsboys, who were waiting to testify in behalf of two of their comrades, who had been arrested for shooting craps, took in the situation at a glance, Making gestures to attract Judge Gordon's attention, one of them pointed to the vacant chair of the guard and then to the open court room door.

"Now's your chance, judge!" he said in a stage whisper that could be heard half a "Now's your chance! Hurry up and sneak in before the cop gets back!" And he accompanied the advice with fran-

When Officer Davis returned Judge Gordon said: "I hope they won't think I had anything to do with starting that dog "Why, no," answered the officer, "I don't suppose they'll think of that." 'Well, I don't know," said his deposed honor. "They might think I did it to stir up a mess and confusion, but the fact is I never saw either of those animals before." Judge Berka resumed the hearing of the alleged wife beater. At 10:30 Judge Gordon arose in solemn narian, is in the city. "I have just returned PAY ROLL RECORD FOR LAST FIVE YEARS from inspecting a herd of cattle twenty miles northeast of Bloomfield," said he and I find in about half the animals on the In Many Cases Salaries of High School farm of George W. Felton unmistakable evidences of mange, or itch, similar to the Texas itch that has been and still is quite prevalent on the ranges in the western part of the state. This, however, is the first trace of it in the eastern part of the state that has come under my notice. I have placed Felton's stock under strict quarantine. "Felton recently bought forty head of young cattle at a local market, and after having them a week or so they began to show symptoms of mange. He then made inquiries to learn where they came from, and succeeded in tracing them to Sioux City, where their identity was lost. The only cure for the disease is the dip, and it is likel ythat Felton will provide himself with facilities for dipping his infected stock.

Salary Reduction at High School Only Restores Last Year's Scale.

Teachers Have Been Jumped Up Ten Dollars a Month Each Successive Year.

"Teachers in the High school have no very serious cause to complain about the reduction that has just been made in their salaries," said a member of the Board of Education. "For the past few years there has been a gradual increase of salaries, in many instances amounting to $10 per month for each year. In most cases increases of $10 per month were made only last year, so that by cutting down the maximum of heads of departments from $130 to $118 per month and that of assistants from $110 to $100 per month we have simply put them back to where they were a year ago. Grade teachers have their salaries increased only $5 a month, while High school teachers have always been jumped up $10 at a time." Inquiry along this line discloses the following table of salaries paid High school teachers at the beginning of the fail terms for the last five years, as shown by the
