Corporations have many rights and privileges and should be protected in the enjoyment of all.

But among them is not the privilege to sit in political conventions or occupy seats in legislative chambers. Corporations, as such, should be rigorously excluded in every form from participation in political affairs. Here at least the rich and the poor, as individuals, should meet upon a plane of absolute equality. The conscience and intelligence of the patural man furst be the sole factors in determining what our laws shall be and who shall execute them.

upon these railroads is divisible into four classes: First, that which originates and ends in the state of lowa; second, that which originates in lowa and terminates elsewhere; third, that which originates elsewhere and terminates in lowa; fourth, that which neither originates nor terminates in lowa, but is carried over some part of the state. It is manifest that with regard to all the business save that which originates and terminates in the state there must, in order to ascertain the gross earnings within this state, be established a basis of division; and that I believe should be the work of the legislature and not of the executive council. The basis of division being known it is then clear that in order to do justice there must be a uniform system of accounts kept by the railway companies so that their reports will furnish the same information, computed in the same manner, from each company. The executive council has no authority to so require, and the remedy is in the hands of the general assembly. With such amendments, and with faithful reports, the assessing board could ascertain, with reasonable accuracy, the gross earnings of a railroad property in this state.

"Net Earnings" a Vague Phrase.

"Net Earnings" a Vague Phrase.

"Net Earnings" a Vague Phrase.

With respect to net earnings, the inade-quacy of the law is still more apparent. I have much reason to believe that the phrase, "net earnings," has different meanings with the various railway companies. What should be deducted from the gross earnings, in order to arrive at the net earnings, ought to be declared by statute; and such uniform accounts should be kept by railway companies as will enable them to make their reports upon a common basis. With net earnings, as with gross earnings, it is palpable that with respect to those railway companies which have systems doing business in two states or more there must be some rule adopted for the division of the cost of maintenance and operation by the law. With the gross and net earnings thus ascertained, many of the obstacles in the way of a just assessment would disappear.

I am heartily in accord with the proposal to make railroad assessments in July instead of March; that is to say, at the time when the executive council has under review the assessment of other kinds of property. I favor such change in the law for two reasons: First, because it will enable the executive council to have more fully before it the general basis of assessment of other property and to put the railroad property upon the same basis; second, because the time between the coming in of the reports from the railway companies and the time at which the assessment must be made, is inadequate for the work that must be done. The executive council should have the amplest opportunity, not only to examine the reports themselves, but if such reports fail to disclose all the information which the executive council should have the amplest opportunity, not only to examine the reports themselves, but if such reports fail to disclose all the information from other sources. My final thought in this connection is that the executive council should have the power to employ, if deemed necessary, an expert accountant, and acquire through further inquiry the facts which the report

Senators and representatives, I conclude my first utterance as an officer of the state with the thought often expressed but never exhausted. It is the quality of our men and women that has made the republic of the United States great, powerful and prosperous. Bountful as Providence has been, her treasures would still be unexplored and undeveloped had not the manhood and womanhood of America towered above the standard of other nations. If we would preserve and increase the honors we already wear we must see to it that no child shall be born without hope; no boy or girl mature without care, and no man or woman die without opportunity. Property must have its protection, but men and women are worth more than property, even-handed justice, and, to the test of this, the divinest attribute of humanity, let us bring every legislative or executive act.

In entering upon the duties of this high office with which the suffrages of my fellow citizens have honored me it is both a duty and a pleasure to acknowledge the uniform courtesy extended me by your retiring president. It is, I assure you, my sincere wish that my conduct as your presiding officer will not allenate your goodwill.

It is, however, but prudence for me to ask for lentency in your judgments, as it has fallen to my lot to be concerned with business affairs and administrative duties and their procedure. If, therefore, it happens that I occasionally go far afield in my rulings I ask that the presumption of good intention be accorded me. SHOT FIRED BY ERNEST LACEY ble for Shooting of Little Freeman Rice.

Freeman Rice, 6-year-old son of Frank tice, who it was thought shot himself in the Barker hotel Wednesday night, was shot by Ernest Lacey, a porter, in whose room the accident occurred. Until yesterday afternoon the little fellow had made no statement as to how the shooting occurred. About 5 o'clock he regained consciouspess and stated that he had been shot accidentally by "a boy in a striped sweater." Last night the boy's statement was communicated to the police and Serwere detailed on the case.

Lacey was arrested at the Creighton theater and confessed to the shooting. He said: "I had just finished dressing preparatory to going out for the evening and vas standing in front of the dresser examining an old revolver. Freeman came into the room and we were talking, at the same time I was fooling with the revolver, having it in my left hand, the boy being on my right side. Just at this time someone passed the door and I turned to see who it was and in some way the revolver was discharged. I had no idea it had a load in it. The boy fell and I picked him up and started for his mother's room.

"In the hall someone told me my coat was on fire. I gave the boy to someone else and went back into my room and took off the coat. By that time several people had come up stairs and everyone wanted to know how it all happened. I was so scared couldn't sleep last night and all day today wanted to tell someone, but I was too scared. This afternoon the clerk of the hotel told me what the boy had said and wanted me to tell the boy's mother how it happened, but I couldn't. I am glad that I have told now, and no one regrets the shooting more than I do." The ball passed through Lacey's coal and struck the boy on the left side of the forehead and passed down and part of it came out of the left eye. It is supposed the wounds on the thumb and forefinger of the left hand were received after the bullet had passed out of the boy's eye. Early this morning the little fellow was resting well. His pulse was 114, temperature 99.2, respiration 27. His recovery, however, is onsidered doubtful. Ernest Lacey came to Omaha several nonths ago from St. Louis, where his parents live. For the last two months he has seen employed at the Barker hotel as porter. He is 18 years of age. The revolver he said, belonged to his roommate, Coleman Mustram. Lacey is detained at the police

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16 .- The event of the day in the Pan-American conference was, it may be said, the earthquake this afternoon. The Chileans had prolonged throughout the entire morning their dilatory tactics. The burden of their speeches was always the same. "We are all in favor of The Hague convention, but it must not pass through the conference without discussion." Mr. Buchanan of the United States, Senor Macedo of Mexico and Senor Bermejo of Argentine made speeches asking in turn: "If we are all agreed what is there to discuss?"

At the afternoon session the Chilean delegates resumed their speechmaking. Senor Alzamora of Peru had just risen to reply when a premonitory trepidation spread consternation throughout the assembly and hall of sessions swayed and groaned like the saloon of an ocean liner.
