Myers and Blume were appointed in his place and the fund was removed from this city. Myers and Blume are residents of Audubon. The fund of $25,000 was created by Mrs. Sarah Ballard of this city for the benefit of her son, O. R. Ballard. The bond of a Baltimore company given by Mr. Pusey is still in force and will be called upon to make good any deficiency in the fund that may arise from the failure to realize on some of the securities in which Mr. Pusey invested the money of the fund.

GIDEON SUTHERLAND LOSES

Personal Injury Damage Suit Decided in Favor of the City of Council Bluffs.

The personal injury damage suit of Gideon Sutherland of Omaha against the city of Council Bluffs was decided yesterday afternoon in the district court in favor of the municipality. The case was given to the jury at 4 o'clock and three-quarters of an hour later it brought in a verdict in favor of the city. Sutherland, who formed a party of Omaha and South Omaha people who were occupants of a carriage which was overturned on Broadway near the Illinois Central tracks one evening in July, 1900, sued for $3,500. He claimed that his shoulder had been permanently injured and that a new suit of clothes valued at $50 had been ruined by the accident.

The chief witness on behalf of the city was Police Officer Busse, who patrolled the West Broadway beat the night of the accident. His testimony showed that a lantern had been placed in the mudhole which was alleged to have been the cause of the carriage overturning. Busse testified that at the time of the accident he had been informed that none of the party was in any way injured.

This is the second damage suit arising from the accident that has been decided in favor of the city. The first was that of Mrs. J. Kozelle, who sued for $3,000. She has since been granted a new trial. Suits have been filed by C. B. Wilson and Louisa Smith and were to have followed the Sutherland case at this term. Yesterday the suits were continued until next term by agreement at the request of the plaintiffs. Under the rule Judge Cornell taxed $10 to each of the plaintiffs for the continuance.

It was stated yesterday that the prosecution of these two suits depended upon the verdict returned in the Sutherland case. Now that the city has secured a verdict in its favor for the second time it is thought probable that the other suits will be prosecuted.

Omit McKinley Celebration.

Owing to the recent changing in the grades caused by the close of the first semester of the school year the anniversary of the birthday of the martyred president, William McKinley, was not observed in the public schools of this city yesterday.

MACCABEES GET STATE BANNER

The exercises attendant on the presentation of the state banner to Council Bluffs took place at the Dohany opera house and hundreds were unable to get into the room in the theater was occupied, people even standing deep in the balcony and gallery. It is believed to have been the largest audience ever assembled under the roof of the opera house.

The demonstration opened with a parade through the principal downtown streets, which, but for the snow on the ground resembled a Fourth of July jubilation. Colored lights illuminated the streets along the line of march and the scene was brightened with an elaborate display of fireworks. It is estimated that nearly 1,000 members of the order and their friends were in line. Owing to the cold and snow some of the proposed features of the parade were omitted.

At the opera house the exercises were opened by an address of welcome from Mayor Jennings, who complimented the order on its victory in securing the state banner for the largest tent in Iowa. Thomas G. Harrison made an eloquent response and extended a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the Council Bluffs tent.

In presenting the banner State Commissioner J. M. Ermertina spoke somewhat at length on the benefits of fraternal organizations and the order which he represented in particular. He interspersed his address with a number of humorous anecdotes which pleased his large audience. Addresses were also made by Judge Scott, City Solicitor Wadsworth, H. J. Chambers and Rev. George Edward Walk.

The exercises at the Dohany opera house were to be followed by a ball at Royal Arcanum hall, but the crowd which filled the hall, corridors and stairways of the Short building made dancing an impossibility. The tent had extended a general invitation to the public to attend the ball and consequently the crowd was larger than any two halls in the city could accommodate.

FRED HANS IS ACQUITTED

Witnesses on Whose Testimony He Was Indicted Now Say They Lied.

GLENWOOD, Ia., Jan. 29.—(Special Telegram)—Fred Hans was tried here before Judge Greene today on a charge of venue from Harrison county. He was accused of conspiring to secure the conviction of Dick Latta on a charge of train robbery. Witnesses on whose testimony the indictment was returned swore in defense of Hans that they had lied on the former occasion, and Hans was acquitted.

House Adopts Resolution to Investigate Mine Explosion—Mothers Hold a Congress.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

DES MOINES, Jan. 29.—(Special)—This afternoon at 3 o'clock the senate and house met in joint session, as by previous arrangement, and held memorial service for the late President McKinley appropriate to the anniversary of his birthday. The house chamber was filled to overflowing, for in addition to the many visitors who came especially for this meeting, there were nearly a hundred of the delegates from the Nebraska mothers' congress, which is holding sessions in the city. The women had previously been given an informal reception in the executive office by Governor and Mrs. Cummins and had visited the statehouse and both branches of the legislature. The memorial service was held in the hall of the statehouse, which was presided over by Governor Cummins, who was a personal friend of the late president.

Gov. Cummins' Tribute.

Among other things, Governor Cummins said: William McKinley believed and acted upon the belief that to be great and helpful to his fellow men was his duty. He was a man of high character and noble mind, one thing better than any one else knew it, and that the world was always on the lookout for him.

He chose for his special subject one of the most controverted subjects of his time and he mastered it absolutely, so that before many of us had heard of his name, his name was known to all. McKinley knew more about the productive capacity of the soil than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our agriculture than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our commerce than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our industry than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our science than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our art than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our literature than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our religion than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our politics than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our history than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our geography than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our anthropology than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our psychology than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our sociology than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our economics than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our law than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our medicine than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our education than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our military than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our naval than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our diplomatic than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our international than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our domestic than any other man in America. He knew more about the possibilities of our foreign than any other man in America.
