In Judge Dickinson's court yesterday J. H. McIntosh, attorney for the Real Estate exchange, sparred for time is the hearing on the city attorney's, W. J. Connell's, motion to dissolve the temporary restraining order issued from that court to prevent the city council levying a tax for municipal purposes for the year 1902, based upon the assessment of taxable property of assessment roll. He was given until 10 a.

The city attorney appeared early, armed with a multitude of papers. When Mc-Intosh arrived he walked directly to the judge's desk and begged for a continuance, stating that he arrived from Lincoln only Wednesday night, and that his only notification of Connell's action had been received Tuesday noon while in the supreme court

In his motion the city attorney had cited as support, the answer of the defendants, which was to be ready before the hearing on the motion, and armounced also that there would be oral testimony. Addressing the court he said: "Our answer is not in the form of a mere denial; we make a full showing of facts and cause, but it seems to me that Mr. McIntosh should be already quite familiar with these, and should not require more than afteen minutes to get ready to go ahead with this case. The records which can by pushing the work be completed sooner than first announced will correctly and completely show the facts, nd the only oral testimony is to be that of the city clerk identifying the records."

Words Between Attorneys.

"Well, do you admit that your clients set Monday at 2 p. m., as the time for our bearing?" McIntosh asked.

"I admit the facts as they are, now 'Oh, I know the facts as they are," said McIntosh, emphasising the last word. "You needn't tell me those."
"Ah, you do? Well, if you know it all, of course nobody can tell you anything,

No Plumbers' Harvest.

Even though the temperature has been extremely low during the last ten days or two weeks the plumbers have had little to do in the way of thawing out frozen water pipes. The snow on the ground has prevented the frost from striking in deep and this has saved pipes near the surface from freezing. In buildings very few pipes have been frozen for the reason that the WARNER'S water is generally turned off at night. A plumber said yesterday that he never saw safe CURE business among the plumbers than now.

St. Catherine's Entertainment. St. Catherine's guild of St. Martin's Epiecopal church presented the "Deestrickt Skule" to a large audience at Woodman hall last night. "This enrollment," said the superintendent, "has increased since there has been a general vaccination of the pupils attending the pub-He schools."

Two rooms are now in use at the Whittier school, Forty-second and L streets, and about fifty pupils are in daily attendance. When this school was first opened only one of the two rooms were used, but the in-crease in attendance necessitated the employment of an additional teacher.

Interest Increasing.

From all accounts interest in the evan gelistic meetings now being held at the First Baptist church are attracting a great deal of attention. The church is filled nearly to overflowing nightly. A great deal of attention is paid to the sermons of Evangelist Charles Smith. The music, which is in charge of Mr. Colburn, is excellent, as he has a picked choir. All of the Protestant churches are participating in these meetings.
