There was no complaint that the council failed to take action. The complaint rests are not now acting in good faith." on the allegation that the council failed to consider the complaints and falled to hear the complainants. The order merely restrains the council from passing the ordirance until the council shall give the complainants hearing on the complaints. Well, it now appears that such complaints have been heard, and that the sole ground for demanding this injunction is that the council had failed to take the requisite action against these corporations.

Connell's View of the Facts.

"New, let me say here that the contention over the producing of the books in court is nothing to me, nor have I to argue the matter of the assessment itself, hough it may be, your honor, that I believe, and it may be that you believe, that the corporations of Omaha are not assessed as heavily as they should be. But the singled out the corporations as the only taxquestion we now consider is, shall this payers not assessed at 40 per cent of their ouncil, which is required to make its full cash value, whereas there are many levy at the first regular meeting in Feb. others in Omaha similarly deficient; that runty be allowed to do so? As for the men the assessing officers and board of review who are blocking this action, I will say were the first and final judges of that and that if some members of this Real Estate that the council could not be called on to exchange would work as hard to build up change such decision, and, finally, that the 3,000 people, are located in the buildings, Omaha as they have to tear it down, the city's credit might be better. While they are wrangling and pulling apart this way implying a doubt of the correctness of the we never can expect to see the city go ahead as it should.

"Now, the main facts in this case stand out plainly. First, you have nine complaints, eight of them signed by Mr. Shriver, and forming a part of the total of eighty-eight disposed of, as indicated by the undisputed record in this case. Now, your honor, if you had given a day or more to hearing one of these complaints, would you allow Mr. Shriver to call up complaint No. 2, and then complaint No. 3, and so on, for hearing, giving the same attention to each, when the matter is practically the same? And if this hearing could be prolonged for these eighty-eight com-plaints, why couldn't it be continued indefinitely. Shriver or Morton adding five at a time, when opportunity presented? Manifestly, this course is not justifiable. The disposition of the first complaint disposed of them all."

Attorney McIntosh's Reply.

Attorney McIntosh, in replying, said: ordinance, yet the council went on and ing committee." made the levy, and no man ever questioned its validity."

Reading from the statutes to show the duty of levying taxes on all property within the corporate limits of the city, Mr. Mc-Intosh continued:

"The council's first duty is to ree to it that there is proper assessment of all the capital stock and franchises of the corporations and of the other property within the city. But as for these men, we would set no value to a hearing before them. We know they would overrule any evidence we might produce, no matter how clear and how convincing it might be. I will say, however, that until we do get a hearing on these complaints, in a spirit of fairness, and get the assessments raised to to per cent of their actual value, our case is not done and we shall not rest.

"We are answered that we have had a hearing, but it is not answered us that our hearing has been considered. It is argued that because the Real Estate exchange went before the council and had a febate with the corporation representatives, a taxpayer representing all the taxpayers. if he happen to belong to that Real Estate exchange, shall not be heard by the council.

Court's Order is Necessary. der an order of the court that threatens appear the following Friday to show cause why their assessments shouldn't be raised, actified to be there, except the Real Esate exchange. That exchange did not present its case in proper form, and lost, but, your honor, if a corporation go before the council and file complaint about a taxpayer's assessments, and falls to maintain that case because it hasn't proceeded in proper manner, am I, an individual taxpayer, to have my mouth closed forever?

Individuals Make Complaint The corporation lawyers took advantage of that erroneous proceeding, but Mr. Moron and Mr. Shriver complained for themselves. On the 18th they appeared on be half of all the taxpayers of Omaha and demanded that the corporation levy be raised. It was a complaint and required time and place of hearing. That was the first time this request had been made by these men, but their complaints were entertained by the council, which permitted be called. Answered Corporations. Mr. McIntosh had occupied most of yesterday forenoon answering the arguments of the attorneys for the five franchised corporations of Omaha on the motion made ast Saturday to quash the subpoenas served on the officers of those corporations, equiring them to bring into court their books and records.

The corporation attorneys had contended in substance, that the demand for the books was purposeless and irrelevant in this matter; that the real estate interests had tions in this proceeding to the extent of the company records.

Argument of Melntosh.

In answering, Mr. McIntosh held to his riginal contention that his demand for the books was simply a demand for evidence that he would need in opposing the motion of City Attorney Connell to vacate the restraining order Judge Dickinson had issued preventing the city council from making the levy until the mandamus proceeding now in the supreme court could be disposed of. He affirmed that it was not proposed to 'sleze" the books, but that all that was asked was that the corporation officers bring them in and from them furnish the testimony by which the real estate counsel would be able to prove the primary allegation that the assessment of the corporations had been too low.

"As for any others who may be assessed too low," said Mr. McIntosh, turning to the corporation lawyers, "if counsel knows of such it is their duty as citizens to in-"In the first place, there is a total mis- form the council of it and the council apprehension by counsel (Connell) of the should be obliged for the information just scope of this petition. BELIEVE IT TO BE INCENDIARY Firemen Are Strengthened in Their Theory as to Origin of Theater Fire.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10 .- Bellef that the fire which early this morning practically ruined the Orpheon theater was of incendiary origin was further strengthened today. At 4 a. m. firemen exploring the basement discovered two gas jets, the tips of which had been removed, spouting flames three feet high. The flames were thirty feet apart and on had eaten into a wooden beam. Assistant Fire Marshal Campion said today that when the fire department was called last night flames were discovered in three different parts of the building at one time. The discovery of the gas jets, the assistant marshal says, shows that the incendiary attack was made in four places. The two women reported missing have been accounted for.

Later firemen clearing away the debris on the third floor came upon the headless body of a boy, which was supported in an upright position by a displaced rafter. The head had been burned off and the body horribly scorched. The boy is supposed to have been a street walf who had sought shelter in one of the vacant offices on the top floor of the building. Half a dozen boys sometimes slept in this part of the building. Whether other boys were sleeping in the building is not known.

The greatest tangle in city affairs will be in the tax office. So far as can be ascertained, the records of the department are destroyed. There is a set of books which shows the valuation, etc., of each piece of property in the city, and the assessors have their field books, from which all this could be duplicated without overmuch work. It is said, however, that it is almost certain the records showing who paid their taxes and who had not are destroyed, and that there is not in existence anything from which the information could be obtained.

The work of clearing up the burned district has not begun, but the firemen were busy until night with ropes and dynamite, tearing down the shaky walls that endangered those who had to be inside the burned area. So well did this work progress that in the afternoon after a conference with Major Ross, commanding the militia, the public was admitted to the ruins and sentries were posted at every important point keeping the crowd moving briskly. Thousands passed about the choked up streets and viewed the ruins during the two hours and a half allowed them. At the expiration of the time the sentries began moving outward and gathering up the extra men at each step, soon had the entire district cleared. The conduct of the soldiers was excellent.

There has been no disorder and the authorities believe there will be none. President David Young of the street railroad, in the barns of which the fire was thought to have started, stated today that as a result of a careful investigation he would positively declare that the fire did not originate in the barne. His search showed him that the fire started back of the barns, in a shed not owned by the company.

MISS LILLIAN BURKHART. "Philadelphia, Scot. 10, 1901.
"Gentlemen: - When I first entered my professional career I had trouble with my throat and voice. I could not find anything to cure me until my doctor recommended 'DR. BULL'S COUGH SYRUP. Since that time I have used it exclusively, and am happy to say that I am perfectly free from all coughs and colds, and I am never troubled with hoarseness, notwithstanding the fact that I have to play in two performances each day. There is no doubt but it is the greatest cough medicine area discovery.
