An Honest Tired Feeling

There is an "honest tired feeling," caused by necessary toil and cured by natural rest.

But very different is "that tired feeling," from which so many complain and which may even be classed as a disease.

That tired feeling takes you to bed tired and wakes you up tired. You have no appetite, have bilfous taste, dull headache, are neryous and irritable, blue, weak and discouraged.

In such conditions Hood's Sarsaparilla does a world of good.

It begins in the right place-in the blood, purifying it and imparting vitality, then its tonic effect is felt by the stomach, kidneys and liver; appetite comes back, all waste is removed naturally, headaches cease, that tired feeling departs and you feel like a new person. This has been the experience of commander-in-chief. Admiral Schley is rightly entitled—as is Copinalin Cook-to the credit of what Brooklyn did in the fight. On the whole it did well, but I agree with the unanimous finding of the three admirals who com-posed the court of inquiry as to the "loop." It seriously marred Brooklyn's other-wise excellent record, being in fact the one grave mistake made by any American ship that day. But after the loop had once been taken, Admiral Schley handled Brooklyn man-fully and well. It and Oregon were thenceforth the headmost of the American vessels—though Iowa certainly, and seem-ingly Texas also, did as much as any in hammering to a standstill the Spanish fleet. experience for independence and could not maintain it if granted them.
