KIPLING VERSES IN BASKET

Lady Burne-Jones Fishes Them Out and Immortalizes "Rag, Bone and Hank of Hair."

(Copyright, 1902, by Press Publishing Co.)

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(New York World Cablegram—Special Telegram.)—It was Lady Burne-Jones, the mother of Sir Philip Burne-Jones, the artist, who will soon arrive in New York, who rescued Kipling's poem "Recessional" from oblivion. Kipling is her nephew. He had thrown the verses into a wastebasket, whence she fished them out, and she finally, though not without much difficulty, persuaded him to send them to the Times for publication.

Sir Philip Burne-Jones lives at Rottingdean with his mother, close to the Kiplings, and the family is a singularly united one, despite the fact that Sir Philip does not see eye-to-eye politically with his ultra-imperialistic cousin.

Kipling's verses, written for Sir Philip's striking picture, "The Vampire," Sir Philip informed your correspondent, were the result of much labor and persistent pursuit of an idea that had long proved quite elusive. Writing to him during that time, Kipling says in a letter, now for the first time published:

"I've been sitting up with my disorderly muse o'nights trying to get the four lines which should go with the picture. I could do it in fifty, or, better still, in a hundred lines, but this is not what we want. But I don't despair, and anyhow, I'll do my best to send you a few assorted samples before hanging time, that you may see how bad they are."

When it was finished and Sir, or, as he was then, Mr. Philip Burne-Jones, expressed his obligations for it, Kipling wrote a delightful letter, presenting him with the copyright.

"The verses for 'The Vampire,'" he wrote, "which we will call the vampoetry, are your property; they are yours from now on, henceforward and hereafter. They won't be handled in any way, directly or indirectly, by me, so if anyone wants to dramatize them, etc., let them set them to music, paint them sky-blue, translate them into Erse, Celtic or Hittite, use them for a hair-dye advertisement or a Church of England hymn, you must deal with that man."

In concluding his cousinly note, the poet throws out an idea for the artist in the passage: "But have you ever thought of the woman's view of the gilded bully, who has played the devil with her? Might make a companion piecy." Unfortunately, that "companion piecy" has remained unpainted so far.

New Merchant Tailoring Firm.

For twelve long years Theodore Gradmann has been connected with the firm of Browning, King & Co. until a few months ago, when he severed his connection with that firm for the purpose of engaging in business for himself. He recently purchased an interest in the merchant tailoring business with Mr. A. Helgren at 309 South 16th street, where he will be pleased to meet his many friends who are desirous of good tailor-made clothes at a nominal price. Mr. Helgren, his partner, has been in the business in Omaha for the past six years and has built up a magnificent trade among the good dressers in this city. The new firm name will now be Helgren & Gradmann, and these gentlemen have now on display their new spring stock of suitings, which they will be pleased to show those who desire good clothes at reasonable prices.

A DRUGGIST'S LETTER

Kenesaw, Neb., Feb. 6, 1902.

Mr. C. H. Schaefer, Omaha, Neb.

Dear sir: "We notice in today's Bee that you ask yourself a few questions and then answer that SCHAEFER DID IT; WELL SAID. The way you are all the time howling about the TRUST and COMBINE among druggists in Omaha is enough to give most any one that tired feeling, even this time of year, and in order to get the daily news we have to take papers containing such CONTEMPTIBLE DRUG ADVERTISEMENTS EVERY DAY. As we understand it, you are the fellow in Omaha that has not sense enough to come in out of the "wet;" if you could not spread your CONTEMPTIBLE "CUT THROAT" business out in other dealer's territory, you would COME TO YOUR SENSES. We don't know whether our trade goes from us or not—if it does we never hear of it (?), but even if it does the express company would get the profit INSTEAD OF US, BUT PEOPLE WOULD RATHER GIVE IT TO THEM ANY WAY THAN TO US, if nothing ahead themselves. It at least PUTS US IN A BAD LIGHT, as we CAN NOT BUY FOR WHAT YOU SELL PATENT MEDICINES FOR—then we must make an enormous profit, as you do not sell goods for nothing, of course. Yours,

J. S. RAGSDALE & SON.

The above gentlemen must have trouble.

ELKS AT SALT LAKE CITY

Arrangements Made for One Hundred Omaha Visitors at Knutsford Hotel.

L. W. Raber and Goodley Brucker returned yesterday from Salt Lake City, where they completed arrangements for quarters for the Omaha delegation at the Elks' convention in August. They secured accommodations for 100 in the Knutsford hotel and first choice of the rooms was given them. Mr. Raber says that the advent of the Omaha crowd is the matter of chief interest at Salt Lake City, as news of how the Elks here do things has reached there. Omaha will be the principal attraction and will get everything of the best.

NEW PIANOS, NEW CASES, NEW PATTERNS, HOSPE'S

Music warerooms are resplendent with a beautiful stock of real Art pianos, in handsome colonial and semi-colonial cases, many new designs in artistic architecture.

The most elegant woods used are of the highest finish, work done with most skilled care and lasting quality.

There are new features in mahogany, in imported walnut, in rich domestic veneers, which excel all previous efforts in careful selections. These instruments merit inspection and defy competition.

They are now on exhibition and sale.

The matchless Knabe piano, the elegant Kranich & Bach piano, the best known "Kimball" piano, the old and reliable Hallet & Davis piano, the rich and handsome Krell piano, the well known Mathushek piano, the Melville Clark, the Schumann piano, as well as the many medium and cheaper grades represented in this immense Music House, gives the customer a rare opportunity to make an easy selection.

It is well known that our prices are the lowest, our dealings fair and terms which we make are most convenient and makes the purchase of pianos at our establishment a pleasure.

We also have left over from our Special Piano Sale of the last two weeks several pianos slightly used, and some odd styles, which we are discontinuing, at the extremely low figures of $117, $126, $138, $158; better ones at $168, $198 to $217. Terms: $10 cash and $5 per month.

There are a few almost new high-grade pianos at $227, $248, $278, instruments worth double. Terms: $10 down and $5 per month. These are all up-to-date styles and our guarantee will cover all doubts as to their reliability and durability.

ORGANS WAY DOWN

We have traded for a number of organs taken as part pay on piano sales, such well known makes as Estey organs, Ithaca organs, Lyon & Healy organs, A. B. Chase organs, Kimball organs and Hospe organs, at prices ranging from $22, $30, $37, $42, $48, $52, on monthly payments of $2 $3 and $4 per month.

We wish to emphasize that we have what we advertise. To make sure of the choice of the specials herein mentioned, come early.
