

HOW BOOKS ARE PURCHASED

W. E. Johnson Says Superintendent Goes from One Committee to Another.

GETS APPROVAL BY VARIOUS REPORTS

United States History Remains in Use Against Recommendation of the Majority of Principals of Grade Schools.

In referring to the interview of W. R. Johnson, published in The Bee, W. F. Johnson of the Board of Education, said:

"I was interested in the remarks of Mr. Johnson regarding the text book committee, published in The Bee. I have been on the board longer than Mr. Johnson and probably understand some of the things which is not patent to a man who has not been on the board so long. As to the superintendent ordering books without consulting a committee, I admit the appearance from the standpoint of a member of the text book committee may be that he has done so; at the same time I do not know of a time when he has ordered books without being authorized by a committee. In some cases where the superintendent has made up his mind that new books should be ordered he has brought the matter before the text-book committee; that committee has disagreed with him and he has taken the question before the supply committee, or perhaps the teachers' committee, and among all of the committees he found one which would agree to his proposal, and the books were ordered. In the form of a committee report the action would be approved by the board.

"As to the purchase of new books without exchanging the old ones, I remember a case where the committee or the board had authorized the superintendent, at his request, to purchase a number of books. The old books of the same character were to be exchanged in part payment for the new ones. The superintendent drew up the formal order of the board and after it was put upon its passage it was discovered that the provision relating to the exchange of the old books had been omitted. The passage of the order was suspended until the error was corrected. When I got the book I found that the superintendent's recommendation had prevailed over the opinion of the majority of the principals and that the book was to be used this year."

NEBRASKA WILL NOT BUILD

Commissioner Wattles Says State Has No Use for Structure at St. Louis Fair.

It is announced from St. Louis that there will be a meeting of the commissioners of the states which have decided to erect buildings on the Louisiana Purchase exposition grounds on March 14, at which time the space for state buildings will be allotted. The Nebraska commission will not be present at this meeting, according to the statement of G. W. Wattles, president of the commission.

"Nebraska commissioners will have no interest in this proposed meeting," he said. "The Nebraska commission will be at the exposition. We are going to have an exhibit, but this exhibit will be in the buildings devoted to different arts and sciences. The commissioners have no funds at hand to build a structure worthy of the state and therefore we early decided to attempt to build none. A building is not an essential. It is simply a sort of club room where residents of the state and their friends may meet. No display is made there and the building can be easily dispensed with."

TOO MUCH

Exercise is as bad as too little for the growing girl. It is very sorry for her to grow up, and this is especially dangerous at that critical period of a young girl's life when she crosses the line of womanhood. It is not an uncommon thing to see a young woman who has been brought up in a healthy way, but who, after years of neglect of necessary precautions at the first change of life, becomes ill. The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only establishes regularity, but it gives a health to the entire womanly organism. It is the best medicine for diseases peculiar to women because it cures the causes of disease completely and permanently.

"For a number of months I suffered with female troubles," writes Miss Anna McDowell of 1233 Bank Street, Washington, D. C. "I tried various remedies, but they did me no good. The doctors said it was the best case of internal trouble they ever had. I had used your 'Favorite Prescription' a week before I began to feel better, and as I continued, my health gradually improved, and is improving every day."

NO VACCINATION, NO SUPPORT

Health Board Will Not Assist Small-pox Patients Who Disobey Its Wishes.

The Board of Health has issued an order, as follows: "All persons in Omaha who refuse successful vaccination and thereafter contract small-pox must not expect assistance from the city other than quarantine."

"This order was made necessary," said Dr. Coffman, city physician, "by the fact that persons who have persistently refused vaccination are now coming down with smallpox. It isn't fair, in the face of our repeated offers of free vaccination, that the city should be made to pay for each willful neglect. You know it has been our custom in the past, in cases where a family in quarantine had no means of support save the income from day to day from the breadwinner, to send him free of charge food, fuel, clothing and other supplies until such time as the quarantine was lifted. This we will refuse to do in the future unless the victims can show evidence of vaccination."

The board has been watching with considerable interest a case of smallpox, or rather a series of cases, on North Twenty-second street, which probably had as much to do with the issuance of the foregoing order as any other agency. The family comprises father, mother and seven children. Early last November the father, who had never been vaccinated, was taken with smallpox and the house was placed under quarantine. It is still under quarantine. The city is still supporting that family of nine. All winter the father, though long since cured of smallpox, has not done a stroke of work, but has sat toasting his shins by a comfortable fire, while, one by one, his children have come down with the malady. One would no more than show signs of convalescence than another would be stricken. Now the mother, and the last of the nine to take the disease, is able to be about after a mild but persistent stage. Some of the members of the board think the head of this household contracted the disease with a deliberate purpose, being too tired to work, but as they can't prove it, he will not be used for damages.

"Another somewhat similar case," said Dr. Coffman, "is down on North Fifteenth street. The family consists of a mother and her three daughters. The mother was taken with smallpox about three weeks ago and we at once insisted that the daughters be vaccinated, but they refused, saying they didn't believe it would do any good. Now the daughters are showing signs of the disease.

"Another case out on North Thirtieth street is exactly the opposite of this. The family consists of a mother and three daughters. When the mother came down with smallpox about a month ago we placed the house under quarantine and had the three girls vaccinated. The mother is now well and the daughters have never shown the slightest symptom of the disease. This I consider a pretty good indication of the efficacy of vaccination."
