MARKET STALLS SELL SLOWLY

Some Gardeners Reflect on "Buying Pig in a Poke."

LOW PRICES PREVAIL THROUGHOUT SALE

First Choice Goes at $32, Wherens Choice in Old District Last Year Sold for $80-Uncertainty About New Site.

One hundred truck gardeners, with sprinkling of commission men, grocers and peddlers, crowded the waiting room of the Board of Public Works yesterday, and there for three hours, in knots of twos and threes, they discussed the various phases of the market house problem. The attraction was the sale of lots abutting on the Capitol avenue site, which had been advertised for The bidding was slack, and it was evident from the start that some kind of a combination was "on." The first choice out of ninety-two positions brought only $32, whereas the first choice in the old market district a year ago brought $80.

The cry, "How much am I bid for the next choice?" by Secretary Coburn, who acted as auctioneer, had to be repeated many times before there was a response. The crowd in the lobby had drawn away from the counter, and a low buzz of conversation filled the room. Market Master Gerke sent an emissary out to see what was the matter, and a moment later he returned with the report:

"They think this Capitol avenue market house is going to be no good. The wholesale grocers have been plugging them up not to bid for booths in it because they (the grocers) say the real market will be at Eleventh and Howard streets, where it always has been.'

Thinks He Sees Bears.

"They don't believe anything of the kind." said City Engineer Rosewater, who overheard the report. Those gardeners are just pretending to believe it in the hope that these lots will be knocked down to them at a sacrifice. They tried the same thing two years ago." Then, by virtue of his position as manager of the sale, he anneunced that the auction would close at 11:30 and that no lot would be sold for less than $5. The effect of this was to arouse a lukewarm interest in the bidding.

Forty-six lots were sold yesterday, from which was realized $483.50. About half were sold; the sale then adjourned until 10 a. m. next Tuesday. Last year $1,800 was realized from the sale of sidewalk positions in the old market district about Eleventn and Howard streets.

The first choice of positions was taken by Peter Lesche, who paid $32 for it. Then the point was raised by the bidders that, until the market house was built, it would be impossible to tell which are choice positions and which are not, as much will depend upon the nature of the building. "It's buying a pig in a poke," complained one of them Schwartz & Alexander paid $42 for second choice and William Leichert followed with a similar price for third choice. These were the top notches reached in the bidding. From here the price dropped abruptly to $13, then to $11 and finally to

Are the kind we prefer to talk about, the kind which has made us so many friends in the last twentyeight years.

Come to think of it, this is a long time to be handling planes, in one and the same city, by the same people. We can point with pride at two plane manufacturers who have supplied us with their instruments since 1874, and they are the well known "NEW SCALE KIMBALL" Planes and the "HALLET & DAVIS" Planos.

There are many examples sold by us of these old and reliable makes in our midsts that have passed the quarter century birthday, and are still ready to fill the requirements for the grandchild that grandma enjoyed twenty-eight years ago. These instruments have also kept abreast of the times. Every known improvement in plane building has been added to crown the glory of their longevity. The works, or interior, are supplied with the highest grade of materials, assembled by the most skilled workmanship, under the supervision of e-tried artists in the variou branches of the respective factory departments. What better guarantee can the plane buyer demand than is supplied by this house; the record herein given is ample assent.

ouyers will not pay for names or reputation, which certain planos stand for, and make themselves satisfied with a lower priced instrument; therefore, we keep in stock constantly planes made by reliable houses, who furnish instruments which answer the purpose, which can be bought on nearly as easy terms as the higher priced pianos. Some new ones as low as $98.00, others for $125.00, some for $145.00 and a little higher, at terms as easy as rent. These bargains for this week, next week and "some." You will notice that our prices are always a little lower, our quality a little higher and generally speaking, the praise follows the purchase.

Don't forget the you get the following pianos no where else:

Knabe, Kranich & Bach, Kimball, Hallet & Davis. Mellville Clark, Schumann, Krell, Hospe, McPhail.
