WIFE ACCUSES HUSBAND OF CRUELTY

Mrs. Bushnell's Relatives Support Her Allegations with Details of Mr. Bushnell's Conduct Toward His Wife.

Out on Thirty-seventh street, where it is quiet and respectable, Mrs. Carrie A. Bush-nell, a woman of culture and gentle graces is making her home until the courts can reach and dispose of her petition for divorce from Eara D. Bushnell, who, it appears from testimony of her relatives, has persistently monopolized the pleasures of life that properly belong to both sides of

The Bushnells are of Greater New York and Mr. Bushnell, it appears from the testimony, puts in long, strenuous days at de-vising ways and means of enjoying himself at several Brooklyn clubs to which he belongs and of which every member has to have a tall hat and a deep wallet. His income from real estate holdings is alleged to be $15,000 per year, but it is also alleged that he used to embarrass and mortify his wife by complaining of her personal expenditures and that he even refused to pay some of the ordinary bills which representatives of the market man and the grocery man called at the house to present.

Testimony of a Niece.

The most represchful of this testimony is given by Carrie J. Van Saun, a niece of the plaintiff's living at 211 West One Hundred and Sixth street, who charges that Bushnell once shut his wife out of their entertainment with Miss Van Saun and sent her away, saying he would pack her things and send them after her; that subsequently he called on her and spoke endearingly to hands. her until she signed, in the presence of a notary whom he had brought with him, some papers "which subsequently turned out to be deeds of her interest in his real estate," and that as soon as she had signed cause of his changed conduct toward her," he left the house and the wife, so far as the witness knows, never saw him afterwards. Miss Van Saun further alleges that for three months prior to their separation, in November, 1906, Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell occupied separate rooms and even dined in different apartments, and that during the last two years they lived together she was not allowed to receive her friends at their #### home, nor did he take her to theaters or afford her other pleasures. Kicked About a Cigar.

Frank B. Van Saun, a brother of the first witness, substantiates the testimony of his aister and relates that once when Bushnell had had a friend to dinner and after the friend had gone the husband criticized and reproved the wife for of-fering the guest a second cigar. The price of the cigar is not given.

Emma A. Van Saun, sister of the plainresiding at Providence, R. I., alleges that Mrs. Bushnell was so distressed by her husband's treatment that once when confiding it to her eister she fainted. Witness states that plaintiff's ill health is wholly a nervous disease brought on by Extensive Alterations in Buildings and Grounds Announced.

ANNUAL MEETING CALLED FOR TONIGHT

Members Will Be Asked to Choose Officers and Directors and Sanction Some Proposed Changes in Management.

It is thought that the annual meeting of the Omaha Field club, to be held tonight in the Commercial club rooms, will be the occasion of the adoption of several important changes in the executive policy and management of the organization; it is known that this session will mark the entry of the cub upon a year replete in improvements. The progress will be in three directions, an extension of territory, the addition of many new buildings, and the emodeling of and bettering of the properties already existent, both as regards grounds and buildings.

Though the changes in the official roster resulting from the annual election will be important, and the contemplated alterations of the constitution still more so, what is of most striking and immediate interest to the average Field club member is the details of the improvements to be made. These are now fully formulated, and the plans for the new construction will be presented by the board of directors. which has had this matter in charge, at tonight's meeting. They are already completed and indicate a radical change from he scheme as first mapped out.

This is a determination not to have three new buildings, as first schemed, but to combine all three in one, making this one elaborate and imposing. A dancing pavilion costing $2,000, a caddy houses at an expense of $500 and new bowling alleys adopted by the directors combine these in one structure at an expense of $6,500.

Expansive Dancing Pavilion. This building will be located directly west of the present club house, and will be in many ways a superior edifice. The top floor will be a dancing pavilion, with a floor thirty feet wide by seventy long. This will accommodate 100 couples dancing easily, and many more if necessary. The roofing and open wallwork will be very handsome with ample provisions for protection against the weather. The pavilion floor will be on a level with the floor of the present club house. Below it will be the bowling alleys, four in all. The ground slopes away rapidly on that side, and the fact will be used to advantage in be killed. the construction of the alleys. Finally at one end will be built ample accommodations for caddies and pin boys.

Meanwhile the present bowling alleys are to be convected into locker rooms, and this value. It implicates several Filipinos who will give six times as much locker accommodation as the club has had. Other improvements will be made in the present house, among them being an enlargement of the kitchen. The veranda will be built out to lead directly into the dancing pa

Remodeling the Grounds. On the grounds scarcely less extensive plans are already under way. The new forty-acre tract to the west will be the site of the golf course for the earlier months, and a force of men was started at work on it last week chopping out the course is also being reseeded, and by July 1 the entire seventy-five acres will be available, which means a standard length eighteen-hole course. Till then the new forty will be laid out in nine holes for use Other changes in the grounds will be the abolition of the cricket field and the moving of the base ball diamond further south to the place where cricket has been played. This is to give room for the moving of the tennis courts south also, as they are now crowded too close to the terrace that separates them from the club house. A new fence will be put up about the entire prop-

It is said, however, that other important action will be taken in establishing several new committees. Heretofore there has been a greens committee, in general charge of the grounds. F. J. Hoei, J. B. Rahm and G. W. Shields compose it. The attempt will be made to have established a base ball committee, tennis committee, bowling committee and golf committee, so that each sport will receive its just atention and no one committee loaded up with more than it can well handle.

At the last committee meeting it was decided to make this alteration in the landscaping and also to set out a number of other appropriation of $800 is to go for re-decorating the club house and partially refurnishing it.

It is intended, too, that the entire north bank shall be sodded and the driveways all laid with gravel. The greens have been seeded and fertilized for the coming season and are considered to be in good condition. The committee is negotiating with a number of professionals to take charge of the grounds, but has not yet

Three or four applicants are knocking membership is full and they must wait. Executives of the organization are much pleased with the report that two or three residents of Omaha are planning to follow Z. T. Lindsey's lead and build cottages near the greands. It is the beginning, they say, of a great boom for that locality.

The fact is, the hair needs a little help now and then. The roots require feeding. When the hair is starved, it stops growing, loses its luster, falls out, turns gray.

PARIS. March 2 .- The fetes in commem oration of the centenary of Victor Hugo's birth terminated today with the ceremony handing over to the city of Paris to serve as a Victor Hugo museum, the house in which he for some time lived, in the Piace Des Vosges,

The exercises, which took place within the picturesque Place Des Vosges, with its areade running beneath the brick house on each of its four sides, were very happily conceived and a vast crowd gathered to witness the proceedings. A plaster cast Victor Hugo, taken from "The Dream the Poet," by the sculptor Barreau, stood on a pedestal facing Victor Hugo's house, situated on the corner of the square It represents the poet sitting on a rock draped in antique fashion, and with a lyre
