

MRS. FIGG TELLS OF TARRING

On Witness Stand in Damage Suit Against Wood and Others.

DRAGGED OUT OF BED BY IRATE MOB

Says She Was Carried Into Street in Night Clothes and Subjected to Coasting of Tar, but No Feathers.

In Judge Estelle's court yesterday Mrs. Sarah C. Figg told a jury of the time she was carried by a mob of incensed citizens of Omaha and vicinity. She was on the stand as the first witness in her suit for $2,000 damages instituted against Allan Wood, W. W. Browning and Albert Donahoe, whom she claims to have recognized as the leaders of the mob.

Mrs. Figg said that on the night of March 22, 1900, the crowd, numbering about thirty people, came to the Figg home near Gretna about 11:30 o'clock and beat on the door. Allan Wood then led them into the house, she said, and he himself intruded the bed chamber, where she and her husband had been asleep until awakened by the pounding at the door.

According to the rest of her narrative Wood grabbed her by the wrists and attempted to pull her from the bed. She resisted and he then grabbed her up bodily and carried her into the next room, where others of the mob stood ready, and they half-dragged, half-carried her into the street in her night clothes. She says that she did not revile them nor reproach them, but kept asking Wood what they intended doing.

Applies Tar, but No Feathers.

Arriving in the middle of the road in front of the house, they forced her onto her back, smothered her mouth and covered her eyes with their hands. She applied tar to her person. No feathers were used. After she had been coated she was still held firmly, while the men with the tar turned their attention to her husband, who had been held a few feet from her by another division of the mob. Allan Wood then beat the mob then back as far as the gate and then made its escape.

Mrs. Figg says that both she and her husband were in their night clothes and were allowed no other covering, though the mercury stood at about the freezing point at that time. On cross-examination she testified that Wood was the only one of the three defendants to whom she had talked while the mob was doing its work. The attorneys inquired particularly as to how she knew who the members of the mob were, and she answered that when the hands were taken from her eyes she recognized their forms and their hats, and that the masks had slipped from some of their faces. She said, too, that she had been nearly smothered and that she lay exhausted after the ordeal that the mob was for a while alarmed by a fear that she was lifeless.

Shortly before the noon recess she was succeeded on the stand by Lewis Figg, her husband, who went over the same details. In the afternoon the witnesses called were the three defendants. Allan Wood admitted participating in the tarring process. W. W. Browning admitted being close by when it was done but denied assisting in applying the tar or holding the victims. Albert Donahoe said that he knew something was to be done, but that he did not go to the Figg house.

HOUR OF KUBELIK'S ARRIVAL

Bohemian Violinist Will Reach Omaha at 3 O'clock Saturday Afternoon.

Kubelik will reach Omaha at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, coming from Lincoln over the Burlington. His countrymen in Omaha are planning to give him a reception at the depot.

A committee will go from Omaha to Lincoln this morning to meet the Kubelik party and come with it to Omaha. This committee consists of Rev. J. Wraneck, S. A. Bernack, Mrs. Vaclav Bureah, S. L. Kastoryz and Mr. and Mrs. John Rosicky. Vaclav Bureah, who went to Lincoln yesterday, will join the committee there.

At the depot Mr. Kubelik will be welcomed by a great crowd of his countrymen. Many Bohemians from interior towns have already assembled in Omaha and will reinforce the residents at the reception. Rev. Wraneck will make a short address of welcome and the reception will follow.

Kubelik will spend Sunday in Omaha, but being much averse to formalities will not be given a reception. He will take a carriage drive about the city during the afternoon.

The Art of Self-Defense.

The popular idea expressed in the phrase, "the art of self-defense," shows the opinion that the chief enemies a man has to defend himself from are visible and external. But the real danger of every man is from minute and often invisible foes. In the air we breathe and in the water we drink are countless minute organisms leagued against the health of the body.

The one defense against these enemies is to keep the blood pure. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery thoroughly purifies the blood, removing poisonous substances and secretions. When the blood is pure there is no harborage for the germs of disease which find a lodging only when the blood is impure and corrupt.

"I consider your 'Golden Medical Discovery' one of the best medicines on the face of the earth," writes Mr. Wm. Foster, of Red Oak, Montgomery Co., Mo. "I am afflicted with piles. I have used many remedies, but I am now cured. I thought I would go crazy. I tried different kinds of medicine, tried different doctors, but all the relief they could give me was to make my pocket-book lighter. I then began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Two bottles without relief. I kept taking it. I took in all ten bottles. I am now cured. I feel like a new man. I can do my work and I am healthy. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation."

PUBLIC MARKET HOUSE SITE

Defense of Capitol Avenue Location Against Criticisms of Opposition.

OMAHA, Neb., March 7.—To the Editor of The Bee: In the report given of the alleged action and disposition on the part of the grocery association in connection with some commission house interests with reference to the market house question as given in the issue of The Bee on the 6th inst., I desire to say that inasmuch as there is a serious lack of publicity, of loyalty to public interest and much that is misleading in the reported statements made by the opponents of the proposed city market house and market place as decided upon by the city council, in view of these facts, although at the juncture it may not be necessary to discuss this matter, yet, it is proper to understand correctly all sides of a question which is to affect the interests of the entire city. I naturally feel the same interest in the proposed market house as the grocery association, and as taxpayers feel in the ultimate success of what is looked upon as a tax-saving proposition.

Many ardent supporters of the Capitol avenue site have no personal interest in the location, but the indifference of Capitol avenue property owners as a rule, has been very apparent in this matter, as I learn, so to impugn the motives of the many supporters and taxpayers of this city in their interest shown in the market house question by calling it a "scheme of private speculation"; its unjust, disloyal and disconcerting. The reasons for the seemingly universal interest in, and appreciation of, the Capitol avenue site, as I understand, is first, from the fact that the location appeals to people as being convenient of access for all the people from all parts of the city. Then again, Omaha has wanted a market house for more than thirty years. It was not a good thing that the people do not want and they are glad now to take it off the list of wants in so satisfactory a manner.

The building as contemplated would be a credit to any city. This city council will not be satisfied until a building is completed something which many councils have failed to do in the last thirty years; and it is believed that they will meet the approval of all taxpayers in this act, from the fact that with a natural support of the market house will afford a rich revenue for the city and will be appreciated by the people.

When it is stated that the grocers will never patronize the Capitol avenue market house, I will say that some of the leading grocers have stated that they would be purchasers of stalls in the market house when completed. Instead of casting reflections upon the location and upon the proposed building as being deficient in architectural grandeur and design, why do not the opponents say that they are opposed to any city market house and show their position without equivocation? The opponents to the market house and its location argue the inconvenience to their business. Why did they wish to get rid of the market some time ago? It seemed to be too near to them then. Why is the room on Capitol avenue insufficient when fifty-nine places are said to have been sold two years ago and eighty-three places a year ago? Some folks seem hard to please. The people bordering upon the old market place who have previously petitioned for its removal seem not to be considered by the opponents to the Capitol avenue site. There seems to be lack of harmony in the old market place, as has been stated, the market gardeners across the river, too "nosey" and conspicuous in their efforts to thwart the will of the city council and of the people, then they had better stay at home and "go way back and sit down;" we can do without them.

With some there seems to be a vague idea as to what comprises a city market. One would think from the strife and effort made by the opponents that cabbage, beans and turnips constituted a market and the success of their business depended upon a location dictated by them. The fact is, it is the same old story. I fall to recall to memory any matter intended for public and mutual good that has ever been presented and acted upon harmoniously, except the Transmissary expedition.

In other cities where market houses are being operated merchants in the commission and grocery line of business flourish and prosper just as they would here. The disposition of the antagonists against the market house is a desire to control for personal benefit blocks the wheels of public enterprise and progress. L. V. MORSE.

EDNA GRANT'S QUIET MARRIAGE

Nothing of Nature or Elopement in Story as Told by Her Father.

John Grant and his daughter, Mrs. Edna Grant Cornell, returned yesterday from New York and Washington. Mr. Grant was in the city for the purpose of printing in the eastern papers concerning the alleged elopement of his daughter.

"The only basis for the story," says Mr. Grant, "is that my daughter and her husband were married without saying anything to me or Mr. Cornell's parents about their intention. They left home to attend a theater together and on the way stopped at the home of an Episcopal minister and were married. When Edna and I left New York and were crossing the river to Jersey City she told me what she had done. He told his relatives at the same time.

"I have no objections to Mr. Cornell as a son-in-law. If I had been consulted I might have advised the young folks to wait a year or two, not because of their marriage, but because of their youth.

"Mr. Cornell is the son of Samuel W. Cornell, one of the oldest and best known residents of Brooklyn. The family is among the best in the city. Another of Mr. Cornell's sisters is married to a young man. My daughter will remain in Omaha a couple of months and will then return to her home in Brooklyn."

LUCKY DOGS TO BE IN CLOVER

Others Will Be Taken Up by Poundmaster On and After April 15.

City Clerk Eibour has received his assignment of dog tags for 1902. They are in the shape of a four-leafed clover, and can be distinguished at a glance from those of last year. In order to avoid the rush of previous seasons, the clerk has decided to start the sale earlier than usual and has announced that the tags will be at the disposal of the public next Monday. This will give everyone ample opportunity to procure dog licenses by April 15, at which time the poundmaster begins his annual canvass of the city in quest of untagged curs.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Frank Koutsky Endorsed for Mayor by Republican Voters.

OUTCOME AT PRIMARIES MOST DECISIVE

Successful Aspirant Carries Four Out of Six Wards, Against One for His Opponent and One Divided.

Yesterday's republican primaries resulted in favor of Frank Koutsky, he receiving the delegate vote for the six wards. The fight was between Mayor Kelly for reelection and Frank Koutsky, present city treasurer, for the republican nomination for mayor. Kelly received 369 votes for his reelection, while Koutsky polled 669 votes. This elects the Koutsky delegation. In the Sixth ward there was no contest, only one delegation being in the field, and while 106 votes were cast in this ward equal credit was given on the records for both Kelly and Koutsky. The vote by wards follows:

Ward. Koutsky, Kelly.

First.....174.....32

Second.....124.....46

Third.....124.....46

Fourth.....64.....76

Fifth.....64.....76

Sixth (no contest).....0.....0

Total vote, 1,028.

The delegates entitled to seats in the convention to be held this afternoon are:

First Ward—E. R. Leigh, George A. Curtis, A. H. Murdock, E. E. Darling, E. L. Pusterman.

Second Ward—John Kubat, Gus Olson, John Keenan, John Larson, Jacob Mettner.

Third Ward—George Johnson, W. C. Schmidt, John Kaski, Henry Dittmer, James Rybin.

Fourth Ward—Charles Offerman, Jed DeLee, C. E. Thompson, J. N. Donnell, Peter Oliver.

Fifth Ward—J. J. Coppenhaver, George Housman, T. J. Cooley, M. Hanno, Stephen Wawryczuk.

Sixth Ward—M. Mabery, J. Laverty, S. R. Cox, C. C. Stanley, E. T. Miller.

The primaries interesting and there was a great deal of activity displayed by the contestants, both around the city offices and at the voting places. A large number of voters who had neglected to register or vote fell were sworn in by City Clerk Shrigley who was forced to employ a couple of additional clerks in order to handle the crowd. No count was kept of the number of votes sworn in, but it was not less than 200.

It was stated last night that with the showing made at the primaries Koutsky could hardly fall of being nominated in the republican convention today.

League Meeting Called.

A call for a special meeting of the Taxpayers' league has been sent out by A. H. Morrill, for a meeting of the members tonight at Kelly's hall. It is stated in the call that important business is to be transacted and every member is urged to attend. While no special mention is made in the call of the importance of the meeting, it has been reported that steps are to be taken to prevent the council, if such a thing is possible, from raising the twenty-year bonds now outstanding at the same rate of interest. It is possible that a restraining order may be asked for from one of the judges of the district court. The plan of the council to raise these bonds, which have nearly fifteen years to run, does not seem to meet with favor among people who are paying heavy taxes.

Muster of Troop.

The South Omaha cavalry was mustered into the state service last night by Captain Hodgins of the Second Nebraska infantry. In this work Captain Hodgins, who commanded the Omaha Guards, was assisted by Captain Richards of the Thurston Rifles. Seventy men reported for muster and took the obligation and the drill put up was entirely satisfactory to the inspecting and mustering officers.

Following the muster the troop met and elected officers. William L. Holland was elected captain, Bruce McCulloch first lieutenant and Harry Tagg second lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers will remain the same for the time being. A drill under the state regulations will be held at the troop armory on Monday night and all members will be expected to answer to roll call. At the conclusion of the muster, Captain Hodgins addressed the troop, and gave some advice, which was much appreciated. Captain Holland also made a few remarks.

Real Estate Transfers.

Dealers in real estate look for a busy season this year. Already the spring trade has started. Yesterday John F. Shults disposed of his property at Thirtieth and R streets. The sale was a trade whereby Shults received a farm of 320 acres in Valley county, in exchange for his residence property. After completing this deal Mr. Shults proceeded to purchase two lots at Twenty-second and G streets, where he proposes building a residence for his family and family property. Other transfers of a like kind are in view by dealers and it is stated all along the line that the prospect for a busy season here this year is decidedly promising.

War Still On.

The ice war between the three companies now doing business here is still on. No radical change in the prices recently quoted has been made, but it is understood that each dealer is doing all he can to get business, and that the rates are being cut every day. One of the dealers said last night that there was not enough business in South Omaha for three companies, and that one if not two would be forced to drop out before warm weather came on. Up to the present time the consumers of ice appear to be getting rather the better of the deal.

REFEREE ISSUES SUBPOENAS

Officers of Five Public Service Corporations Cited to Appear with Books.

Subpoenas have been served upon the president, general manager and secretary of each of the five public service corporations of the city to appear before Judge Ryan, referee of the supreme court, at room 202, in the New York Life building Tuesday, March 11. Each one is commanded to bring with him the books kept by him as officer of such corporation.

It is the announced intention of J. H. McIntosh, attorney for the complainants in the tax suits, to prove by these fifteen officers the value of the property of their companies, it having been determined by the supreme court that the value of the property is essential to a solution of the questions presented.

"It was agreed that the hearing would be in the New York Life building," said Mr. McIntosh, "but it is possible that an adjournment will be taken to some room in the city hall. I am going to do everything I can to advance the trial, but it is not absolutely necessary that the issues be determined by April 15, as the rule is to extend the trial for 60 days if the referee is unable to make up his report.

"I do not think that there is anything in Mr. Connell's claim that the whole matter is out of the jurisdiction of the court, because we are asking that the assessment be fixed at 40 per cent of the actual value. If we are wrong, there has never been a legal assessment in the state of Nebraska and it remains to be seen whether the law requiring an assessment of 100 per cent is to be raised it should have been raised before the referee was appointed, and it may now be too late."

SOUTH DAKOTA MAN'S THRIFT

It Astounds County Commissioners, but Will Not Make Them Give Up.

Thomas Gannon of Edgemont, S. D., has shown a spirit of thrift and enterprise that astounds the commissioners of Douglas county and appeals them. Thomas has lived in the Hills country a long time and he knows all about cattle and their ways. But what he doesn't know about some kinds of women and their ways would fill a very large book, and when he is in Omaha early in the present winter he stumbled into the meshes of one, Helen E. Johnson, whose middle name is thought to be Earnest, and whose complexion is florid-tinted, did a little prestidigitating that left Gannon $125 poorer than she found him.

The police arrested Helen and she was bound over to the district court. Gannon came to the police station the back way and told the officers that he was always referred to by the Edgemont papers as "one of our leading business men," and that the town simply couldn't stand it to have him languishing in county jail, as complaining witness until the trial could come off. He was accordingly allowed to go home with the understanding that he should come when sent for.

Helen Earnest was called before the judge February 14 and Gannon was on hand. The woman pleaded guilty and was sentenced to the county jail for 30 days without his part in the affair being made public. But Gannon has his own idea about making and saving money, so, instead of permitting the dead past to bury its dead, he has revived an active and general interest in the affair by sending Douglas county a bill for $45 or $46 railroad fare and 25 cents fees, the same being for services which the state might have compelled him to perform and without letting him go home at all. And this is the display of thrift and enterprise which has appealed the county commissioners—not, however, to the extent that they will not be able to turn down his bill next year.

NIORBARA A HEALTH RESORT

War Department May Send Sick Soldiers to Post in Nebraska.

Fort Niobrara will for some time probably be a health resort established by the United States War department. There are a large number of convalescent soldiers at the Presidio, near San Francisco, and that post is so badly crowded that it is impossible to give proper care to the men. The department has been looking for some place where these men may be stationed until they are strong enough to return to duty and has settled upon Fort Niobrara as possessing the conditions desirable. There will be one company of infantry stationed at this post upon the arrival of the Twenty-second infantry in this department, and there are quarters for a considerably larger number. These quarters will be placed at the disposal of the medical department, which will send to the post such persons as the climate of Nebraska will aid in recovery.

The matter is now being considered by the adjutant general of the department, who will report upon the number who can be accommodated at the post. It is claimed that Fort Niobrara is peculiarly fitted for a resort of this character, as it is several miles from any railroad and in the center of one of the most healthy regions of the west.
