

DR. PRICE'S Cream Baking Powder

The difference of cost between a good and a poor baking powder would not amount for a family's supply to one dollar a year.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder is the most economical in the end, because it goes further in leavening and insures perfect, wholesome food.

Used always in making the biscuit and cake it saves both health and money. Made from pure, grape cream of tartar, most healthful of fruit acids.

NOTE.—You cannot, if you value good health, afford to use cheap, low-grade baking powders. They are mostly, in spite of the pure food laws, made from alum, which endangers the health.

PRICE BAKING POWDER CO., CHICAGO.

ANXIOUS FOR A YANKEE CANAL

Colombia Welcomes Construction of Panama Waterway by United States.

ITS ATTITUDE IS CLEARLY SET FORTH

Minister Concha Informs Panama Canal Company that Government's Views Have Been Discussed by Executive of Project.

NEW YORK, March 7.—Don Jose Vicente Concha, minister plenipotentiary to the United States from Colombia, who arrived in this city a few days ago, from Bogota, has addressed an official communication to William Nelson Cromwell, the general counsel of the new Panama Canal company, on the attitude of Colombia, with regard to the construction of the Panama canal.

Confirming the conference which he held on the subject of the relations between the republics of Colombia, the United States of America and the Panama Canal company, he leaves to state in answer to your specific inquiry that the cable communication made to the Panama Canal company by Mr. Concha on the 24th ult. was purely formal and as a reminder of well-known conditions is not declaratory of the attitude of Colombia.

That instance has been no disturbed by the enemies of the Panama route that I take great pleasure in confirming my assurance to you that the government of Colombia does not at all object to the sale and transfer of property to the Panama Canal company by the United States, but on the contrary my government approves of the steps taken by the United States to give all requisite consent and do all in its power to facilitate the matter under the reservation.

Colombia Welcomes Canal.

Colombia welcomes the construction of the Panama canal within its domain by the United States and entertains for the government and its people the warmest spirit of cordiality in the completion of this great enterprise.

This concurrence of Colombia in any sale by the Panama Canal company to the government of the United States is with the reservation, of course, that a mutually satisfactory convention shall be agreed upon between Colombia and the United States as to the development of interests of both nations.

OBJECT OF PRINCE'S VISIT Germany Desires to Permanently Keep a Fleet in Caribbean Waters.

NEW YORK, March 7.—"I am informed from a trustworthy source," says the Berlin correspondent of the Herald, "that the ultimate object of Prince Henry's visit to Washington is to bring about an agreement by which Germany will be permitted to maintain a large fleet in Caribbean waters."

For 60 Years "Honest Quality" has been the watchword of

BLATZ BEER MILWAUKEE

The best materials obtainable are at the command of the most skilled brew masters. The system of brewing is original and absolutely in advance of any other in the world.

BLATZ MALT-VIVINE (Non-Intoxicating) Drink, Druggists or direct.

VAL BLATZ BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, OMAHA BRANCH, 1418 Douglas St., Tel. 1081.

ONE VICTIM A WESTERNER

Edward Dangerfield of Kansas Goes Down Aboard Wasland.

HARMONIDES DAMAGED BY COLLISION

Heroic Efforts of Crew Prevents Large List of Fatalities—Only Two Lives Known to Be Lost.

LIVERPOOL, March 7.—The British steamer Harmonides, from Brazilian ports, which was in collision with and sank the Red Star line steamer Wasland Wednesday night about forty miles southwest of Holyhead and which was towed to this port early this morning by the tug sent in search of the great hole in the bow. One of the rescued passengers of the Wasland, who was on board Harmonides, said Wasland was run into amidships in a fog at midnight and sank half an hour afterward, its boilers bursting as it went down. The report that only two of the passengers of Wasland, a man and a child, lost their lives, appears to be confirmed. In addition, one woman was injured. Some of Wasland's boats were in the water a couple of hours before, owing to the fog, they could be along the Harmonides. When Harmonides arrived here its decks were crowded with half-clad passengers of Wasland, whose pale and haggard faces told the story of their trying experience. So hurried was the departure of the passengers from the sinking ship that in some cases they were left with only their blankets and handkerchiefs were their only headgear.

When the disaster occurred Wednesday night the two vessels were steaming slowly off the coast of the island of Anglesey. Harmonides crashed head-on into Wasland, and backed away, but once again struck the then sinking ship, making a great gap in its side. Though the sea was perfectly smooth the denseness of the fog added to the terrors of the passengers of Wasland.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

The women rushed on deck screaming, but were soon reassured by the officers. The boats were quickly lowered, but the operation resulted in fatalities. One of the lifeboats slipped from its davits and precipitated one of its occupants into the water. A steerage passenger, Edward Dangerfield of Kansas, struck his head against the boat fittings and was instantly killed. His daughter, 12 years old, the daughter of Rev. A. Wait, was drowned. The other persons who were in the boat were picked up. The bravery of the passengers, many of whom were Scandinavian emigrants, was exemplary. Scarcely a cry was heard from the survivors taken on board that vessel, where everything possible was done for their comfort. A pilot boat met Harmonides off the island of Anglesey and communicated the news of the disaster to persons ashore, with the result that tugboats were dispatched to search for Harmonides and accompanied the steamer to this port. Here the passengers were landed and comfortably housed. They will proceed to Philadelphia on board the steamer Noordland. The surviving passengers, a man and a child, escaped with only a few slight bruises.

Women and Children First.

HECTOR M'LEOD IS MISSING

Well Known Railroad Man Disappears from His Usual Haunts.

NO REASON KNOWN FOR HIS GOING

Closes Up His Work, Pays His Bills and Drops Out of Sight, Leaving Neither Address Nor Explanation.

Railroad circles are agog over the disappearance of Hector M'Leod, a well known contracting agent for the Merchants Dispatch Transportation company. For reasons which his employer and his friends are unable to fathom, this railroad man has absented himself since last Saturday, no one having seen him in Omaha since then.

M'Leod owed not a cent, as far as can be learned. Furthermore, he was a valuable man in his position, according to General Agent Weaver of the Merchants' Dispatch, and none of his acquaintances know of any troubles in which he was involved. A roving disposition, urged on by a discontented mind, is assigned as the only possible cause for his taking French leave.

Saturday M'Leod finished up his day's work, drew his month's salary for February, left everything at his desk done up in the best of order and left the office. He went to the Arcade hotel, where he had been living for two months, paid his bill up to March 5 and was not seen again. He took his belongings from the hotel.

No one credited has called at the office for M'Leod and no embarrassment has yet come to light. He had worked for the company eighteen years, first at New York City, then at Albany, then Chicago and came here three years ago. He had high connections in the Omaha, a good position here and was unmarried. He was very popular among railroad men and was known as a "good fellow." Thirty five years is his age.

MRS. LEE L. HASSETT MISSING

Husband Unable to Account for Her Disappearance in Company with Her Father.

Mrs. Lee L. Hassett of 2823 Franklin street left her home at 4:30 yesterday afternoon to drive, as has been her custom, to South Omaha to bring home her husband, who is employed there, and no trace of her has been seen since that time.

When Mr. Hassett reached home he discovered his wife's absence, but paid no particular attention to the fact until a late hour in the evening, when he began making inquiries. He learned that Mrs. Hassett was accompanied by her father and that she told a neighbor she was going for her husband.

Mr. Hassett then began a search among all his acquaintances in South Omaha, without securing any information about his wife. He reported her disappearance to the South Omaha police and was late last night to the Omaha police.

Mrs. Hassett is 25 years old. When she left her home yesterday she was dressed in deep mourning. Her father is 65 years old. Mrs. Hassett drove a bay mare and what is known as a half phantom, with black body and red running gear. The police were not given the name of Mrs. Hassett's father or where he lived, and Mr. Hassett could not be found afterward to supply these particulars.

Mr. Hassett told the police that he feared the horse had run away and possibly killed both his wife and her father, but the police say that unless she drove out into the country a runaway could not have occurred without some report being made of it. Mr. Hassett made no explanation that would account for his wife's leaving him without information as to her whereabouts.

GRATEFUL TO OMAHA POLICE

New Yorker Thanks Officers for Good Treatment Accorded Him in This City.

Seasonable Fashions.

William H. Switzer of New York feels grateful for the good treatment accorded him by the police of Omaha and yesterday Chief Donahue received from him a letter requesting the chief to convey his thanks to the officers. Some time ago Switzer, who was going east, became ill while on the train and was taken off here and sent to the police station. In his letter he stated that before being in the station more than ten minutes he realized that he was in competent and willing hands. He desired particularly to express his thanks to Officers Wilson, Glover, Story, Baldwin, Fabry and Yanous, Sergeant Marshall and Sergeant Bergum and Bennett. The letter was lengthy and was full of praise for the entire police department. Switzer remained in charge of the officers for several days.

Bulls of John Bull.

In the making of bulls, says the Youth's Companion, Ireland has without doubt attained pre-eminence, but she has by no means established a monopoly. Indeed, John Bull is not often able to poke fun at her upon that score without being promptly reminded of his own achievements in the same line. A recent newspaper controversy has called forth some fine examples of the Misses' Five-Gored Skirt.—Tucked, with yoke effect, and lengthened with graduated tucks, No. 4076. Tucks are in the height of present fashion and are especially charming when used upon the gowns designed for young girls' wear. This very pretty skirt is cut after one of the latest models and is well adapted to a wide range of materials, silks, velvets, albatros, etc., and is graduated and becomes perceptibly wider as it approaches the back. The fullness at the back is laid in flat inverted plaits, or it may be gathered if preferred.

For the accommodation of the Bee readers, these patterns, which usually retail at from 25 to 30 cents, will be furnished at a nominal price, 10 cents, which covers all expenses. In order to get any pattern enclose 10 cents, give name, number and name of pattern wanted and bust measure.

What has worn well and lasted long must be good. This is Nature's law and applies to all things. As against the claims of transient competitors and imitators the places the stubborn fact that it has been before the public for over thirty years and is to-day preferred before all other articles of its kind.

LIEBIG Company's EXTRACT OF BEEF

Cleveland Bicycles... $35.00

We have a few Cleveland left over from last year that we will sell for $35.00. Roadsters, $50; Racers, $50; Imperials, $50; Maudslows, $50; and others. Write for catalogue.

Edison Phonographs and Records.

Edison Phonographs and Records.

PERIODS OF PAIN.

Miss Gertrude Williams, Chaplain of Woman's Christian Association of Detroit, and Two Other Women, Tell How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cures Periodic Suffering.

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to have been the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It relieves the condition which produces so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

MISS GERTRUDE WILLIAMS.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—and dear friend, for such your medicine has proved to me; 'a friend in need is a friend indeed.' For several years I suffered from Menorrhagia, or profuse and painful menstruation, until my vitality was well nigh gone, and as a last resort I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was restored to health, to the surprise of my friends, and I now sing its praises. Graciously yours, Miss Gertrude Williams, 75 Columbia St., West Detroit, Mich."

Two More Sufferers Related.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: I had been a sufferer of suppression of the menses from girlhood, always appearing after time and causing great pain compelling me to keep my bed. I tried a number of doctors but without relief. Having read so many testimonials about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done, I decided to try it. After using only one bottle I felt much better. I continued its use and the health and strength that I have to-day I feel I owe to you."—Mrs. C. M. GILL, 1013 Winter St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

$5000 NEW AWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be given to the person who can find that the above testimonials are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

purely British bull, of which two were contributed by members of Parliament, although not within the walls of the house. They occurred, however, in the course of the campaign, eloquence which admitted the speaker to its precincts.

"Expenditure on so vast a scale," proclaimed one of them who was urging national economy, "will in time empty even the inexhaustible coffers of Britain, and convince her reckless legislators too late, when the mare is sties, that they must close that barn door through which for years the flood of extravagance has poured unchecked."

The second speaker did even better, although it is fair to allow something for a man who, hooded down by a derisive opposition, is naturally too excited and indignant to carefully consider his words.

"Gentlemen, gentlemen!" he protested, "the cry of the cat, the crow of the cock and the hiss of the gander are not arguments. True, they may for the time overwhelm the feeble voice of one man in their roaring tide; but not all their leagued forces, however armed and arrayed for combat, shall avail finally to extinguish that beacon torch of Experience, still gripped fast and held high in his unflinching hand to guide safely through the breakers the straining eyes of Posterity!"

Footwear Novelties

For Fashion Followers...

An assortment of spring creations, the like never before shown in Omaha, all placed on sale at half and less than half the cost of production. Only a limited time given to raise the balance of agreed settlement for the creditors.

....COME SATURDAY....

The opportunity to buy high grade footwear at your own price may never come again.

The Rochester Shoe Co., Creditors and Bankrupt Sale,

1515 Douglas St. 1515

Some Boys' Have Feet—

that are almost as big as a man's; others as small as a girl's—a wide range of sizes and widths required to fit all boys—yet we can do it satisfactorily to you, the boy and ourselves (and we're mighty particular about fitting shoes just right with our boy's $1.50 all leather shoe—an ideal school shoe for spring wear—no damp or cold feet—and a Drexel L. airship with every pair sold on Saturday.

Drexel Shoe Co., Omaha's Up-to-date Shoe House, 1610 FARNAM STREET.

Drexel Shoe Co., Omaha's Up-to-date Shoe House, 1610 FARNAM STREET.

Drexel Shoe Co., Omaha's Up-to-date Shoe House, 1610 FARNAM STREET.