

CONDITION OF OMAHA'S TRADE

Spring Buyers Arrive in the City in Large Numbers. SUGAR MARKET A TRIFLE LOWER Cotton is Quoted Strong and it is Thought Price Will Go to Ten-Cent-Brown Cottons Advance Five Cents.

The jobbing district of Omaha was crowded last week with buyers of spring goods. The local market for these goods were well patronized, but still the boot and shoe jobbers, hardware men and in fact all wholesale and retail buyers were more buyers were expected in the city this week.

Several days ago a few lines have fluctuated up and down. A few lines have fluctuated up and down. A few lines have fluctuated up and down.

Wholesale grocers had a good word to say regarding the condition of trade last week. The market for these goods were well patronized, but still the boot and shoe jobbers, hardware men and in fact all wholesale and retail buyers were more buyers were expected in the city this week.

Both steel and manilla rope is being held at firm prices and it is predicted that an advance will occur in the near future. In fact it is claimed that the finished product is being sold in this market for less than the actual cost of the raw materials.

Omaha dry goods jobbers enjoyed a very nice trade last week and in fact it was one of the largest weeks for this district in this city. Not only were buyers numerous, but their orders were large.

A marked shortage is reported in shipments of both plain and fancy varieties of large quantities. As a result of this shortage, prices have advanced and it is predicted that the market will remain in the present strength throughout the season.

There is nothing particularly new to report regarding the hardware market. All goods are selling in just about the same manner. It is predicted that the market will be quiet for some time.

There was some improvement noted last week in the demand for fruits and vegetables. Wholesale prices for these goods are as good as the weather is moderate enough to enable retailers to display their goods on the streets.
