

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Hidden Fortune Decides to Build Mill-site at Deadwood.

GRANTZ SUCCEEDS ST. ELMO COMPANY

University Exploits 200 Acres Near Rockford-Bloody Gulch Group Enables the Attention of Experts and Investors.

DEADWOOD, S. D., March 9.—(Special.)

The annual meeting of the Hidden Fortune Gold Mining company was held in Denver last week and these directors were elected: A. M. Stevenson, H. J. Mayham, Herbert A. Shaw, Denver; George M. Nix, Lead, S. D.; Otto P. Th. Grantz, Deadwood; A. H. Marble, Belle Fourche, S. D.; J. P. Allison, Thomas J. Steele and E. W. Rice, Sioux City, Ia. The directors organized by the election of the following officers: A. M. Stevenson, president; J. P. Allison, vice president; E. W. Rice, treasurer; H. J. Mayham, secretary; George D. Hegole, assistant secretary and treasurer; Thomas J. Steele, general manager.

Among other matters of importance that came up for discussion at the meeting of the stockholders was the location of a mill-site. The company has had in view for some time a site at Deadwood, one at Belle Fourche and another on Castle creek, in the southern Hills. A committee of four, consisting of President Stevenson, Mr. Grantz, Mr. Mayham and General Manager Steele, was vested with authority to employ a competent engineer to make a careful search and decide the location of the mill.

The company has had its plans completed with regard to the character and size of its plant for a long time. It is settled that it is to be a 300-stamp mill and a cyanide plant capable of treating 1,000 tons a day. The ore will be treated first by amalgamation, and submitted to an after-treatment of cyanide. It is expected that the mill will be placed at Deadwood. Thomas J. Steele was appointed general manager, to succeed George M. Nix, who has resigned. Mr. Nix continues a director.

Grants Gets a Charter.

A charter has been obtained from the secretary of state by the Grants Gold Mining company, which succeeds the St. Elmo Mining company under the reorganization. The incorporators of the Grants company are: Otto P. Th. Grantz, George W. Egan and Ann Baldwin. The company is capitalized at $2,500,000. It is owner of the St. Elmo group of thirteen claims in Pennington county, near Harney peak, and Sylvan lake. The St. Elmo was for a number of years the leading producer of that part of the Black Hills. It has a ten-stamp mill and it was supplied with a rich quality of free gold ore for several years, or until deeper working became impracticable owing to the system that had been inaugurated. The new company will sink a 500-foot shaft and develop the ore at depth. Mr. Grantz is president of the company and will have charge of the work.

The University Gold Mining and Milling company has bought 200 acres of mining ground two miles from Rockford, of Deadwood. The first payment has been made on the ground, and the company took possession last week. The property is situated near Rapid creek, and there is a large mill-site on the creek, easy of access from the mining ground, and with a single water supply. The health ground is developed by number of shafts, tunnels, open cuts and test pits, opening up several large bodies of free milling ore. The company sampled the ore carefully before purchasing, the assays averaging between 24 and 25 tons. The University Gold Mining company, eight miles south of Spearfish, in the Spearfish canyons. The ore was found in a tunnel, the face of the tunnel being sold ore that assays better than 25 tons. The stock in the company is nearly all owned by Spearfish men, and the discovery of the solid body of ore has created considerable enthusiasm in the town. It is expected that the company will build a cyanide plant of its own on the ground this year.

Reduction of Custom Over.

Walter C. Brace of Denver is in Deadwood representing a Boston syndicate that contemplates the erection of a cyanide plant for the reduction of custom ore. A few months ago Frederick A. Smith was in the Black Hills in the interest of the syndicate, looking up a favorable site. When he returned to Boston he had several locations to submit to the consideration of his people. They have announced themselves in favor of Deadwood, owing to the centrality of the location relative to the large deposits of low-grade cyaniding ore. Mr. Brace is here to ascertain if the visible supply of ore is sufficient to warrant the building of the plant, and he will spend several days canvassing the region. If his report is favorable the syndicate will build a plant of 500-ton capacity, and it is expected that the treatment charges will be paid at about $5 a ton. Options are held on several sites in Deadwood, and Mr. Brace will probably decide which is the best suited to the proposed plant.

A good body of cyaniding ore has been found on the property of the Castle Rock Mining company, eight miles south of Spearfish, in the Spearfish canyons. The ore was found in a tunnel, the face of the tunnel being sold ore that assays better than 25 tons. The stock in the company is nearly all owned by Spearfish men, and the discovery of the solid body of ore has created considerable enthusiasm in the town. It is expected that the company will build a cyanide plant of its own on the ground this year.

Bloody Gulch Attracts Attention.

ROCHFORD, S. D., March 9.—(Special.)

Mining men are giving their attention to the Bloody Gulch group of claims, situated near the old Steadby mine. The ground has come into prominence, owing to the disclosure of some excellent ore in the bottom of a shaft eight feet deep. The ore is found in a fissure, and carries some free gold, although the greater portion of the value is in the concentrates. The ground consists of 150 acres, three claims of 50 acres each, belonging originally to Mendelsohn, Hoover and Smith. The first payment has been made on the ground, and the Black Hills Copper company has assumed possession. The Benedict has one of the largest bodies of low grade free-milling and concentrating ore in the Black Hills outside of the Homestake, and the work of fully exploring it is to be commenced this month. The Black Hills Copper company continues to prospect east and west from the bottom of its 700-foot shaft, on its copper ground at Copper Reef mountain.

British-American at Work.

The British-American Copper company, whose ground joins the Black Hills group, has a force of men at work, and this is to be increased by the end of the month. The company has recently been issuing first mortgage bonds on its stock to procure money for further development, and $200,000 has been raised in this manner. The company owns nearly 700 acres of ground in one group in Pennington county, and about 100 acres in Lawrence county, where it has a good showing in gold ore. Electric drills have been purchased by the Ajax Mining company for the Steadby mine at Rockford. J. B. Baker, superintendent of the company, has returned from the east, where he has been to purchase the drills. The company has been using air drills. The power for the mill and mine machinery is obtained from the water of Rapid creek, and while running the air compressor it was impossible to keep more than ten stamps of the mill dropping. It is claimed that there will be a fourth shaft required to operate electric drills and if this proves correct it will be a matter of consequence to the company.

HENDERSON FOR PAYNE PLAN

Speaker of House Supports Ways and Means Committee's Reciprocity Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Sunday brought something of a lull in the agitation over Cuban reciprocity, although the pros and cons continued the discussion. During the day there were no meetings, but the leaders on both sides held many conferences. The tactical plans of the ways and means committee were carefully committed to Representative Long of Kansas, who was busy prosecuting his canvass. Mr. Long was in consultation during the day with Speaker Henderson, who is taking an active interest in having the ways and means committee supported on the ways and means committee to amend that to some extent, affects the regular organization of the house.

The various consultations, however, did not lead to any new developments in the situation. Those who oppose the ways and means committee are confident that they had 105 republican members, with some twenty-five more doubtful. If this claim could be made good it would be decisive in the coming conference. But Chairman Payne and his associates, while giving no figures, as yet, concede the strength claimed by the opposition.

IOWA MINERS' WAGE SCALE

Conference in Des Moines to Decide on Terms of Agreement.

STATE MEETING OF THE UNITARIANS

Bill Ready for Introduction in Legislature to Abolish the Trustee System for Control of Education.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, March 9.—(Special.)—President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America is expected in Des Moines tomorrow to attend a conference of the miners and operators to consider the mine scale of wages. The convention of miners has been in session the last week and will be resumed on Monday, there being about 150 delegates present, and much detail work to be done. A conference committee of miners and operators has utterly failed to agree on the wage scale because of disagreements as to some minor matters, and this will necessitate the taking up of the question directly by the convention, which represents the entire district. The operators will convene here on Tuesday. They have a compact organization. The miners have endorsed the movement to secure legislative action to require inspection of blasts in the mines and to use other safeguards for the miners where shot firing is employed. A committee will be named to act as an advisory committee in matters of legislation. A committee has also been appointed to attend the state federation meeting and complete the deal for the reaffiliation of the miners with the state federation.

Conference of Unitarians.

A state-meeting of Unitarians is to be held in Des Moines this week, commencing on Tuesday. The program includes a paper by Judge G. B. Robinson of the State Board of Control, addresses by J. D. O. Powers of Sioux City, Margaret Olmsted of Cherokee, A. J. Williams of Rock Rapids, Abram Wyman of Topeka, Kan., E. M. S. Hodgkin of Humboldt, Elizabeth Fradham of Des Moines, D. J. H. Ward of Iowa City, Marion Shuter of Minneapolis, W. H. Patsford of Chicago, Adolph Rosbach of Keokuk, Johnson Brigham of Des Moines; N. A. Haskell of Dubuque, Marie H. Jenny of Des Moines, F. C. To Control the Colleges.

The bill has been prepared and is ready for introduction in the legislature to abolish the trustee system for control of state educational institutions and place all of them under one board of education consisting of three members, who shall be placed on a salary. At present each of the three educational institutions is managed by a board consisting of one member from each of the eleven districts, and some of the boards have ex-officio members, so that about forty persons have something to do with these institutions. Inasmuch as the greatest work of these boards at the present time is in the matter of directing the building and rebuilding operations there is much complaint that the lawyers and scholars who compose these boards are not competent to direct building operations. The work of the new Board of Educational Control will be along the line of that of the present Board of Control. It has also been suggested that the school for the deaf and the college for the blind should be taken from the group of penal and charitable institutions and be placed with the new board.

He stood the journey well, but since caught a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia.

DENVER, March 9.—John Franklin Spaulding was born in Redwood, Pa., in 1828. After attending Bowdoin college and the General theological seminary, he was ordained to the priesthood of Christ's church, Gardner, Me. He subsequently held the parishes at Oildown, Me., Lee, Mass., Providence, R. I., and Erie, Pa. He was elected Bishop of Colorado, Wyoming and New Mexico, in October, 1873.

When he first came to the west there were but seven Episcopal churches in his diocese, now there are more than 100 in Colorado alone and nearly all of them were started by Bishop Spaulding. Wyoming and New Mexico were set off as separate dioceses more than twenty years ago. Western Colorado was segregated ten years ago. Bishop Spaulding was well known among the western Indian tribes, and has performed successful missionary work with them. He established the first Episcopal church in Arizona, the one at Prescott.

he met his son, Dr. August Anderson, who arrived from Europe after an absence of a year, taking a post-graduate course in Berlin, Germany, and Sweden. He was buried Tuesday, March 4, in the Swedish cemetery, between Shickley and Osa, the funeral being conducted by the Masonic order, of which he was a prominent member, being a Knight Templar and a member of the Mystic Shrine. Rev. Boyd, Rev. Chalmers and Rev. Munson, all of Lincoln, officiated at the services at the house. The procession contained 125 carriages. Mr. Anderson was born in the parish of Onnestad, Skane, Sweden, December 19, 1840, where he received a high school education. He married in 1863 Miss Anna Nilsson, who died the following year. In 1866 he married Miss Nellie Nilsson. This union was blessed with one son, Dr. August Anderson, who survives Mr. Anderson as his only heir. Mr. Anderson emigrated to this country in 1869, locating at first in Moline, Ill., and settled in 1871 as a homesteader in section 6 in Bryant township, Fillmore county, where he has ever since resided. In politics his career was as eventful as it was in business. He was a member of the Nebraska legislature in 1881, was elected to the same body in 1898, but his election was contested by his political opponent, his own party being in the minority in the house he was unseated by a strict party vote.

Mr. Anderson left a fortune, estimated to be worth about $100,000, accumulated through the tilling of the soil and raising of stock, and through the investments of his earnings in Nebraska land, in which he had unbounded confidence. It was his pride that his large fortune had been accumulated by his own unaided efforts. "Try again" was his watchword. His advice and counsel was always sought by his countrymen and many are the men today in the community where he lived, who owe their homes and independence to his valuable counsel. In the early days of Nebraska his faith and confidence in the future of the state was so great that, as he often expressed it, "I invested every dollar I earned on the first payment on land and trusted to the Lord for the rest." During the exciting contest for his seat in the Nebraska legislature in 1899, before the final result of the vote was announced, it became evident that the decision of the house had gone against him; he arose in his seat and said: "Mr. Speaker," being recognized by the chair, he said: "In view of the fact that I have very pressing business at home, I beg to be excused for the remainder of the session." The chair stated, "there being no objection the gentleman from Fillmore is excused." He was a liberal-minded man, broad in his views. He loved intelligence and enlightenment. He hated bigotry and fanaticism. He was a defender of the poor and defenseless. Everything wrong and unjust was repugnant to his sensitive nature.
