

WEBSTER RENEWS ORATION

Endeavors to Show Referee that Assessment Question is Closed. HAS LITTLE TILT WITH MR. MCINTOSH

Judge Ryan Asks Street Railway Lawyer if Equalization Board Acted in Good Faith with Shriver and Morton.

John L. Webster and W. W. Morsman, counsel for the street railway and electric light companies, took up all of Referee Ryan's time in the hearing of the tax mandamus case yesterday.

Webster Shouts Calamity. "I believe, sir," retorted Mr. Webster, "that you have precipitated such a state of affairs here that, if we do have a tax levy, not half of the people will pay, and that you've brought on a condition of a greater calamity to this community than you ever anticipated."

Referee Puts a Poser. Judge Ryan interrupted the speaker. "Did the Board of Equalization have a right," he asked, "after setting the time for hearing the complaint of Shriver and Morton for Monday, January 20, to rescind its action two days later and decline to hear them?"

Raises Another Law Point. Mr. Webster then read several authorities, the essence of which was that mandamus cannot be invoked for the purpose of correcting error committed by a court or other body exercising judicial functions.

TALL CORN doesn't come by accident. A fertile soil and careful cultivation are necessary to produce the towering stems and heavy ears.
