BEATRICE, Neb., March 16 .- (Special.)telegram received from Clatonia, states near that place had died from symptoms of polsoning. It appears that some time ago a woman traveling medicine peddler or fakir was through that section and left at or sold to the Wayman's some of her nostrums in the form of pills. While the parents of the child were away from the house temporarily, the child found the pills and ate them. The little one was taken violently ill and went into convulsions. Dr. Deardorff of Clatonia was died in convulsions about 5 o'clock last evening. The symptoms were those of strychnine poisoning. Dri Deardorff notified Coroner Welden by telegraph, giving a complete history of the case, and as the cause of death was clearly evident it was deemed unnecessary to hold an inquest. The incident is but the result of the indiscriminate peddling and free distribution of medicines of an unknown character, not cities as well. While under ordinary circumstances these patent medicines may be harmless, yet there is frequently just enough of dangerous drugs in them to produce either a temporary stimulation or permanent injury.

This city has recently been flooded with samples of powders and pills, which falling into the hands of careless and guilible people, can produce dangerous results.

Seasonable Fashions.
