

JUSTIFIES FILLEY SHOOTING

Coroner's Jury Says Killing of Smith Was for Good Cause.

UNABLE TO FIND FELONIOUS INTENT

Citizens Suspect Dead Youth Was Prompted by Older Knaves to Put Up the Job that Led to His Slaughter.

FILLEY, Neb., March 17.—(Special Telegram.)—A coroner's jury was empaneled today to investigate the shooting of William Smith by Frank Shadley. After being sworn in at the B. & M. depot the jury proceeded to the late residence of Smith. After an examination of the body the jury went to the church where he got the sack of money and then the examination of witnesses was begun.

Frank Shadley, who did the shooting, was the first witness. The gist of his testimony was that his intention was to shoot the fellow man in the leg, but the walk in front of the church is nearly three feet above the ground and the man jumped from the walk as he fired. As a result the ball penetrated the left shoulder blade near the spinal column and made a wound six inches in depth. Smith fell to the ground and expired four minutes later without uttering a word.

The jury adjourned at 7 this evening for supper, to reconvene at 8. The general opinion among the citizens of the town is that Smith, although not yet of age, was addicted to gambling and drinking unknown to his parents, and citizens are a unit in saying that the youth never planned and executed the crime without the aid of older heads. A few men who are known here as gamblers are thought to be responsible for the youth's behavior.

George Suthers and Wade Ladis drove into town at 5 p. m. yesterday, put up their team at the livery barn and did not call for the team until 4 today. Suthers lives three miles southeast of here and Ladis is a school teacher at Clear Creek. Subsequent to the shooting, Suthers and Ladis were in the following verdict:

That on the 16th day of March, 1902, that one Frank Shadley, then and there being in the town of Filley, in the county of Adams, Nebraska, did, with a thirty-caliber revolver, unlawfully and feloniously shoot and kill the said William Smith, without any felonious intent, and we further find that

G. N. STUBBS, Foreman.
C. H. ANDERSON,
E. W. STALLING,
J. H. STUBBS,
EUGENE BEAL.

RAPP WILL STANDS APPROVED

County Judge Turns Down Rejected Niece's Objections to Its Probating.

After much contesting on the part of Mary Venable Wolf, the will of Christian G. Rapp was yesterday admitted to probate by County Judge Vinton. The instrument leaves a $5,000 estate, including a drugstore at Twentieth and Grace streets, to be converted into cash by Luther E. Roberts, special administrator, to buy a monument for Mr. Rapp's father and mother, buried at Springfield, Ill.

Though Mrs. Wolf, a niece, lived with her uncle for many years prior to her marriage, which her uncle bitterly opposed, he left her only $5 when he died last January. She protested the probating of the instrument, alleging that her uncle was not in his right mind after the decision yesterday she filed motion of appeal.

It was during the argument of this case some time ago that her attorney, W. H. DeFrance, and the attorney for the estate, Charles Blugher, grew openly warlike because the latter called the former a liar. Yesterday both were docile and apparently on good terms.

ANOTHER ORPHEUM PROJECT

Beck, Kansas Manager, Garden in New Orleans and Better Will Manage It.

Manager Reiter of the Orpheum received word yesterday from General Manager Beck that he had leased Athletic park, the principal summer playground of New Orleans, thereby adding another important amusement venture to the enterprise of the Orpheum circuit company. Mr. Beck says he will start workmen erecting an immense gallery at once and push with all possible speed the installation of a score of big improvements that by the time of opening, which will be about June 1, he will have ready one of the most elaborate and complete resorts for amusements in the entire south. Mr. Reiter was notified by Mr. Beck to make no arrangements for the coming summer, as he intends to transfer him to the new park until the reopening of the Omaha house next fall.

Brakeman and Fireman Killed.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., March 17.—(Special Telegram.)—The Pullman division of the Southern railway, near Kyana, sixty miles west of Chicago, in the city of Louisville, where a fireman and a brakeman were killed and a passenger injured.

DANGEROUS SURGERY

Should Be the Last Resort.

Many people suffer from piles because after trying various lotions, salves and ointments without relief or cure, they come to the conclusion that a surgical operation is the last resort, and rather than submit to the shock and risk of life of an operation prefer to suffer for years, often, however, the afflicted one is prevented from resorting to the knife, and even though the operation is apparently successful and there is complete recovery from the shock incident thereto, the result is invariably the same; the piles sooner or later return, because their cause has not been removed. The result is a logical one, inasmuch as the knife removes the effects of the disease only, while the cause remains as before. There is claimed to be a remedy which removes the cause, hence eradicating the disease, and that is the Pyramid Pile Cure. It is in the form of a suppository, is applied directly to the parts affected and brings about a complete cure, quietly and painlessly. In this connection the testimony of Mr. John O'Brien Bryant, the well known bookkeeper of Haverhill, Mass., is of unusual interest.

"I desire to contribute an unsolicited but purely voluntary testimonial in favor of Pyramid Pile Cure. I have suffered for more than twenty years with hemorrhoids and have consulted numerous physicians and expended great deal of money for medicines that did me no good. I had often seen Pyramid Pile Cure advertised, but hesitated for months before buying same, thinking it a patent or quick remedy that had no merit, but having tried every other remedy prescribed, I was finally persuaded, one year ago, to try Pyramid Pile Cure. I bought a fifty-cent package at the drug store, and while I may not be permanently cured, the past year has been the best year of my life with regard to the matter, and I am now, after using the Pyramid Pile Cure, feeling better than I have for years. I have brought the change. I offer this testimonial for the benefit of suffering humanity."

OMAHA'S SEWERAGE SYSTEM

City Engineer Explains Its Construction and Efficiency to New Citizens.

A critic of Omaha's sewerage system who writes his impressions to The Bee has been answered by City Engineer Rosewater. The correspondence follows: OMAHA, March 17.—To the Editor of The Bee: As a new resident of your city I was surprised on inspecting the sewerage system that for a live western city you are not more up-to-date. Omaha has a great future. That future can be made still greater by doing away with this antiquated plan for allowing this foul matter to flow into the river. The stench arising from the decayed matter to rot exposed are such menace to health it is surprising that these things are allowed to exist. The dumping of garbage in yards and alleys is another great detriment to the health of the city.

I come from a city that ten years ago put up a sewerage system. It cost $200,000 to abate just such a state of affairs. Now it is costing them $1,000,000 and before long it will be $2,000,000. Why not do it now and thus secure the healthy condition that will some day make Omaha one of the foremost cities of the country.

OMAHA, March 17.—To the Editor of The Bee: The article signed "C. B. C." sent me evidently for reply, is of a kind that usually emanates from parties who, like this author, are eager to criticize what they do not understand. The sewerage system which will compare favorably with that of any city in the United States, is the one which is being installed in Omaha. Every sewer in this city is provided with automatic flushing devices, which give it a daily cleansing. The system has a thorough ventilation provision, and the thousands of inlets being connected with the sewers without any thereby so thoroughly diffusing with fresh air whatever of gases may be developed as to render it practical for anyone to go for miles through the main sewers without feeling the remotest effect therefrom. In this respect it is the only city of over 100,000 population that has absolute ventilation through untrapped inlets.

Your brilliant critic thinks it horrible because the sewerage of the city discharges into the Missouri river. Where would he have it discharged? The city of Chicago discharges its sewage into the lake. The city of St. Louis does the same and so does Kansas City and hundreds of other cities, both in the United States and abroad. The Missouri river has a mean flow of 250,000 gallons per second at this point. If Omaha had a population of 200,000 the mixture of its sewage would contaminate the river to a distance of 100 miles. The mixture of that would be the most expert chemist to detect, at a point a few miles below the city. The city of Omaha is not in an entirely different corporation and the sewerage of that town does not discharge into the Missouri river. It is discharged into the Missouri river. It is discharged into the Missouri river. It is discharged into the Missouri river.

The Rifle Supplants the Sword.

A half century ago the sword was considered the best known weapon in warfare, but it is now being discarded by the British soldiers and the modern rifle is substituted. Many people throughout the country are also discarding old methods of trying to cure headache, nervousness, insomnia, indigestion and dyspepsia, and are using Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the old reliable remedy for these ailments. It is recommended by physicians and a trial will convince you of its value.

FIRE RECORD.

Nebraska City Residence.

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., March 17.—(Special.)—Fire was discovered at about 11 o'clock this morning in the house occupied by James Heidick on east First cosine. The department responded promptly to the alarm and soon had the flames under control.

The household goods were all removed from the building without damage. The house is the property of Mrs. F. D. Spencer. The loss will not exceed $200 and is fully insured.

Farm Buildings Near Blair.

BLAIR, Neb., March 17.—(Special Telegram.)—At 8 o'clock this morning the barn, granary and adjoining sheds of Mrs. Oliver Bonvillier, four miles south of Blair on the Omaha road, were burned to the ground. Eight head of horses, a valuable mare team, five milk cows, three sets of harness, a wagon and a quantity of hay and feed were burned. There is strong suspicion that the fire is the work of an incendiary. The loss is about $2,000, with no insurance.

House at Table Rock.

TABLE ROCK, Neb., March 17.—(Special.)—About 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, while a fierce wind was blowing, fire was discovered at the residence of John Hillbert, sr. It was some time before the department arrived and the fire had made good headway. Much of the furniture was saved, though in a damaged condition. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective fuse. Mr. Hillbert had $500 on the house and $150 on its contents.

House at Edgar.

EDGAR, Neb., March 17.—(Special.)—Hon. S. W. Christy's house caught fire last evening between 5 and 6 o'clock. The fire company was promptly on hand and soon extinguished the flames. The fire caught in the ceiling of the parlor around the stovepipe. The house is quite badly damaged and the loss is estimated at $200. Mr. and Mrs. Christy were absent at the time.

Marine Country Place.

NEW YORK, March 17.—(Normal.)—The country place of the late Norman L. Munn, near Long Branch, N. J., was set on fire and burned to the ground last night. The building was valued at $50,000. It is also believed that it was robbed. The late Vice President Hobart occupied the place during the summer of 1899 and during the month of August President McKinley was a visitor.

State Manufacturing Plant.

PARAGOULD, Ark., March 17.—The large plant of Pekin State and Manufacturing company was destroyed by fire today. The loss approximately $100,000, nearly covered by insurance. About 100 employes are thrown out of work. The company will rebuild.

Buildings Near Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., March 17.—A fire in the village of Shortsville today destroyed twelve business places, two residences and three barns. Loss is about $40,000.

HYMENEAL.

Beck-Torbeck.

LUMBOLDT, Neb., March 17.—(Special.)—Louis Beck, a young farmer, and Miss Charlotte Torbeck went to Falls City today and were married by the county judge. The bride arrived here only recently from Germany. The couple will make their home on a farm near this place.

How to Prevent Pneumonia.

You have good reason to fear an attack of pneumonia when you have a severe cold, accompanied by pains in the chest or in the back between the shoulders. Get a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and use it as directed and it will prevent the threatened attack. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for colds and influenza, we have yet to learn of a single case that has resulted in pneumonia, which shows that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease.

IRELAND'S PAST AND FUTURE

Editor Phelan of St. Louis Descants on Greatness of His Race.

IRISH WEAK ONLY IN THEIR STRENGTH

Defeated, But Not Conquered, They Are Still True to Their Ideals and Determined to Win Their Independence.

The entertainment given by the Ancient Order of Hibernians at Creighton university hall last night in commemoration of St. Patrick's day was most successful. The hall was packed with the members of the order and their friends, assembled to celebrate the annual feast of the patron saint of the Emerald Isle. The proceeds of the entertainment are to be devoted to the Sacred Heart parish and the arrangements were under the management of Father Judge, pastor of the parish.

When the curtain arose it presented a beautiful scene. The decorations were a combination of Irish and American colors, the centerpiece being a floral harp—emblem of Ireland. C. J. Smyth presided. Briefly referring to the significance of the day, he introduced the Elks' quartet, which sang "Believe Me of All Those Endearing Young Charms." D. J. Hurley recited "Caoch, the Piper," a pathetic thought of old Irish days. Another Tom Moore number, "The Last Rose of Summer," was sung by Miss O'Brien. In response to calls, the sang "Bendemeer's Stream," from "Lallah Rookh." Illness prevented the presence of H. V. Burkle, who was on the program to sing "Kathleen Mavourneen." Miss Genevieve Croft sang "Kathleen Mavourneen." The choir sang "The Star of Bethlehem." The choir sang "The Star of Bethlehem." The choir sang "The Star of Bethlehem."

The chairman then introduced Very Rev. D. S. Phelan of St. Louis, as a man who personifies the subject of his address, which was "Irish Character." Father Phelan is editor of the Western Wanderer of St. Louis, and a speaker both eloquent and forcible.

"Twelve years ago I got my first glimpse of Ireland," said the speaker, much to the surprise of the audience, most of whom believed him to be a native of the island. He told of the first sight of Donegal on that visit. "In this country we have little respect for anything small; we associate greatness with bigness. Gauged by that standard, we have little to be proud of, for we come from a small country. I never knew how great Ireland was until I visited the Paris exposition a few years ago, when I visited the Breton village, where every one seemed to be Irish. There are 6,000,000 of Bretons in France and they are all Celts, speak the Celtic language, and the only magazine published in the Celtic language is published in the Breton dialect.

"There are 20,000,000 Irishmen—what have we done. We did considerable up to the year 1200. Then we were teaching Europe civilization, founding churches in Germany and carrying the light of Christianity to all parts of the world. Then we stopped and have been doing little since then but raising a disturbance."

"England, like all countries, believed that having conquered the country it could do with the people as it pleased; but the Irish would not do what was expected of them. They refused to be slaves; they refused to die. They are there yet and there they are likely to remain. Though Paddy may be poor, may be weak, he can be depended upon to raise a devil at the proper time. Today England is trembling for fear of an Irish uprising and the leaders are consulting together to do something for Ireland."

Ireland's History Clear and Bright.

The history of Ireland outside the pale has been bound up in the history of the church, and that history shows clear and bright. "In the last fifty years we have been making a good deal of trouble. Fifty years ago we were a very contemptible minority. I assure you, but we are coming to the front with a rush. The Irish are weak in their strength. Their constancy has been their undoing. It was constancy to the house of Stuart which cost Ireland its nobility. The Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their love and constant in their hate. England found the factions warring and kept up the war until Irishmen had nothing left. A parish priest in New York told me that he saw a difference between the Irish of the east and the Irish of the west in America. I explained to him that the English and the Irish are constant in their