

DEATH FOR ALL ANARCHISTS

Senate Favours Capital Punishment for Criminals of that Stripe.

MEMBERS DIFFER ON DEFINING CRIME

Some of Minority Except Conspiracy from Death Penalty and Eliminate Attempts to Kill.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—During the entire session of the senate today the bill providing for the protection of the president of the United States was under consideration. Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin contended that the government had an absolute and inherent right to protect itself against assassins made either upon itself or upon any of its officers. He maintained that an assault on the president was in the very nature of things an assault on the nation, for there never has been a time when the president was not in the exercise of the duties of his office. His argument was largely legal and constitutional and throughout was forcible, entertaining and instructive.

Reimburse Postmaster Coyne. A house bill for the relief of Postmaster Coyne of Chicago was presented by Mr. Mason, chairman of the postoffice and post-roads committee, and passed. The purpose of the measure is to relieve Postmaster Coyne from the loss of $74,610, the value of stamps stolen by burglars on October 19, 1901.

Other bills were passed as follows: To provide for holding terms of court in the district of Utah, to ratify an agreement with the Indians of the Devil's Lake reservation in North Dakota.

The senate then resumed consideration of the bill for the protection of the president. Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin addressed the senate in support of the measure, dealing especially with the legal and constitutional questions involved.

He declared that if Mr. Bacon's argument was crystallized into law "this would be an important government, unable to protect itself against obvious crimes, endangering our institutions and obstructing the operations of the government."

It was an evident right of the United States to protect its own officials from assault or assassination while engaged in the discharge of their governmental duties. "If the function is a federal one," he declared, "it involves the safety or the sovereignty of the government, there are no state lines."

Wants Congress to Define Crime.

Mr. Spooner said he never would believe in any doctrine that was a denial of the right of congress to define as a crime the assassination or attempted assassination of the president or vice president or a conspiracy to take the life of either. He said that if President McKinley had been permitted to live, although he might have been wounded and incapacitated for years, his assailant would have been punished by ten years imprisonment. "Regardless," he said, "of the laws of the states, I believe that such a crime ought to be punishable by death."

Substitutes Are Offered.

Mr. Teller of Colorado said that while he had no objection to legislation of that kind proposed, he thought it might have been better to recognize there was any crying need for it. However, public sentiment seemed to demand it and he wanted as nearly a perfect bill as possible.

Mr. Bailey of Texas maintained that the government had ample authority to protect its officials in the performance of their duties, but said he doubted its authority to punish a man who should assault or kill any government official merely as a person. A properly drawn bill to meet the demand of the American people would command the unanimous support of the senate. Holding the views he entertained, he could not support the measure as it stood.

Directly in line with the suggestion contained in Mr. Bailey's remarks, Mr. Bacon of Georgia introduced a bill for the deportation and exclusion of alien anarchists. It was the bill, he said, which, introduced by former Senator Hill of New York, had been passed by the senate, but failed in the house.

The senate, at 3:45 p. m. went into executive session, and a few minutes afterwards adjourned.

River and Harbor Bill Read.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—At the opening of the session of the house today Mr. Mann of Illinois, of the committee on elections No. 1, gave notice that immediately

OTIS FINDS ERROR IN DELAY

Says Troops Should Have Attacked Filipinos on Reaching Manila.

ASSERTS INDEPENDENCE WAS NOT SOUGHT

General Admits Change in Troops Halted Him in Bringing About a Pacification in the Islands.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—General Otis continued his testimony before the senate Philippine commission today. Referring to the order of September 8, 1898, directing the withdrawal of the Omaha troops from the defense of Manila, General Otis explained that a commission from Aguinaldo visited him.

In the discussion which followed they did not mention the fact that the towns immediately adjacent to Manila were not a portion of the city. He classed as ridiculous Aguinaldo's request to receive a portion of the northern part of Manila occupied by the Spaniards in trade for some of the southern part of the city held by the insurgents.

General Otis said he did not give the insurgents actual permission to occupy the blockhouses, which Aguinaldo claimed had been given. What he had said was: "I don't care anything about the blockhouses; we are not going to take possession of them."

General Otis said that Aguinaldo had demanded of General Merritt the right to occupy the palace of the civil governor, which caused General Merritt to cable to Washington for instructions. The result was that there must be no dual occupation of Manila.

Capture of Iloilo.

General Otis then related the circumstances of the capture of Iloilo, the offer of the Spanish General Rios to hold the place against the insurgents pending the arrival of United States troops and the capture of the town by the Visayan before the arrival of the United States troops. Aguinaldo, he said, was overjoyed when he learned that the detachment had been sent out because he (Aguinaldo) declared that the first shot would be fired at Iloilo which would bring on war between the United States and the insurgent forces.

Senator Hawley sought to show that many of the things done by the United States military authorities in the Philippines were in violation of the protocol, but General Otis explained that he felt it his duty to protect lives and property.

Hampered by Change of Troops.

General Otis admitted in reply to an inquiry from Senator McComas that the act of congress limiting the service of the volunteer troops until July, 1901, their return to the United States and the forwarding of others to take their places, greatly hampered him in the pacification of the islands.

When the trouble in China occurred notice had been passed among the Filipinos that the United States would not be able to send more men to the Philippines than they were authorized to resist the authority of the government.

"No man ever worked harder in the interests of peace than I," said the general, "but if the United States troops had attacked the Filipinos and driven them out of the islands, the situation would have been much better. They got very 'cocky' after a while and thought they could sweep us into the bay."

General Otis declared the ultimate original object of the Filipinos was, not independence, but the establishment of a government under Aguinaldo.

NUMBER OF DEAD IS UNKNOWN

Loss of Life in Explosion at Hoboken Pier Will Probably Never Be Determined.

NEW YORK, March 19.—No estimate could be made today of the loss of life in the explosion at Hoboken, N. J., which started last night on the Phoenix pier in Hoboken and it was thought the number of dead never would be known. Patrick Hussey, a longshoreman, who was burned while trying to escape from the pier, died today from the effects of his injuries. Dr. Heifer, the health officer of Hoboken, says that all the men of the British Queen, with the exception of Scott, have been accounted for.

Besides Hussey four longshoremen were taken to St. Mary's hospital and are now under treatment there. All were more or less burned. Some of the longshoremen who saved themselves by swimming ashore say they saw twenty or thirty men leap into the river.

Although some of those who jumped into the water were picked up by tugs, it is feared a number sank before they could be reached by the rescuers. Many of the longshoremen are single men and have no relatives who could report them in the event of their being killed or having perished in the fire. The police say that no one except Engineer Scott had been reported to them as missing.

British Queen has been beached off Communipaw, in the upper bay and search will be made as to whether the skeleton body of the missing engineer, Hussey, the longshoreman, who died today, was 40 years old. He leaves a large family. Superintendent Mason of the Phoenix pier said that it would be impossible to definitely state the number of those who perished in the fire. He was asked if he thought $1,500,000 would cover it, and he replied that he did not think it would.

British Queen was worth $600,000 and there was a great quantity of valuable merchandise on the vessel, on the pier and on lighters there, were destroyed. This included cotton, hides, oils, grain and a quantity of harvest machinery.

Chief Engineer Scott, who it was supposed perished in the fire, was found in a Hoboken hotel today. He was badly burned about the face and would be had a dreadful experience.

It was learned today that Fireman Thomas Cooney of the Fireboat David A. Boudy fell off his boat last night and was drowned.

PAYING UP SOME OLD TAXES

Receipts at County Treasurer's Office Pick Up After Van Is Suggested.

County Treasurer Elmsler said yesterday morning that he expects the receipts at his office show the effect of the announcement in The Bee of last Monday that he is about to go after delinquent personal taxes with distress warrants and moving vans of capacity sufficient to hold any belongings to satisfy the county's claims.

"Now, if only there was as easy a way to reach delinquencies in real estate tax, how profitable it would be," he remarked. "I do not know the exact amount, but with the penalty, interest and costs of publication added in, the total must be in the neighborhood of $200,000."

The 1901 taxes become delinquent the first of next May and no accurate figures can be given until then; as payments are being made every day.

James H. Fairchild, Educator.

OBERLIN, O., March 19.—James H. Fairchild, the "grand old man of Oberlin," died at 10:30 tonight, after an illness of several days. His death was due to a gradual decline. At his bedside were his son and daughter and other relatives, who have for nearly a week been attending the end. James Harris Fairchild had been connected with Oberlin college for sixty-three years. He was born in Stockbridge, Mass., November 25, 1817. His parents came to the state on the first steamer to carry passengers on Lake Erie. Young Fairchild graduated from Oberlin in 1838 and from the theological seminary in 1841. In 1842 he was made professor of Greek and Latin and afterward filled the chair of mathematics, theology and moral philosophy. In 1846 he became president of the college. He resigned in 1859, at the age of 42 years, but continued to teach in the college and theological seminary until 1897. In 1843 Prof. Fairchild married Mary Fletcher Kellogg. Eight children were born to them, only two of whom survive, Mrs. Lucy Fairchild Keston of Oberlin and Prof. James Thorne Fairchild of Tabor, Ia. Mrs. Fairchild died in 1869. In 1867 he married Hettie Howland Hobbs. Two children were born to them in London, E. H. R. Green, now president of the Texas Midland railroad, and Sylvia H. Green. Mr. Green returned to this country in 1875 and for a time was president of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. He was a charter member of the Union club in New York and a member of the Somerset club, Boston. For the past fifteen years he has spent the winters in New York and the summers in Bel lows Falls.

NEW YORK, March 19.—Thomas E. Burns, manager of the Jersey City baseball club and the Boston club, Boston, died in bed today at the home of P. T. Powers, president of the Eastern league. A physician who was called said death was due to heart disease.

Burns was a member of the Chicago National league club during the period in which that organization won the championship several times in succession. Several years afterward he was manager and player for the Pittsburg National club for two years. Last year he managed the Eastern league club and was a member of the base ball organization which made a tour of the world.

GUEVERRA IS TIRED OF WAR

Succesor of Lukban Agrees to Give Up Men and Guns.

ENDS THE INSURRECTION IN SAMAR

Energetic Measures of General Bell Also Settling Affairs in Disturbed Provinces of Luzon.

MANILA, March 19.—General Lukban's efforts in influencing Gueverra, who recently issued a proclamation declaring himself the successor of General Lukban in the island of Samar, to surrender, have been successful. Both General Smith, in command of the United States forces in the island of Samar, and Gueverra have agreed to an armistice to facilitate the collection of Gueverra's men with their rifles, when the formal surrender will be made. The arms will be paid in at the fort.

General Smith cables that Gueverra has 400 rifles and guarantees the absolute peacefulness of his men.

General Chaffee is greatly pleased with what he considers closing the active insurrection. The resistance in Batangas and Laguna provinces is practically over. There are daily surrenders of men and guns. The insurgents have been completely starved into submission by General Bell's aggressive tactics in preventing any exterior assistance from reaching them.

Some surprise is expressed at the number of rifles to be turned in by the men under Gueverra, as it was thought there were but 500 in Samar.

WILL DEPOPULATE HOBOKEN

Settlement of Squatters on North Tenth Street Will Be Broken Up.

A picturesque little community on North Tenth street, locally known as "Hoboken," is to be vacated. Judge Cockerell, special agent of the city attorney's office, went there there yesterday with a big bundle of eviction notices and served them upon thirty squatters of assorted nationality. The documents allow the tenants three days in which to move. As there was no show of resistance the chances are that "Hoboken" will soon be a thoroughly depopulated "sweet Auburn," the deserted village of which Goldsmith wrote.

This action was taken by the city as the result of protest by citizens whose property fronts upon the street. They say this property is valueless as long as the street is occupied by nondescript hovels made of tin, rat paper, driftwood, packing cases and fragments of wrecked freight cars.

The street is to be cleared for a distance of two blocks, from Nicholas street to Fowler avenue.

Here are five names culled at random from the list, which tends to show how diversified as to nationality is this settlement of squatters: George Cleveland, Sam Johnson, Adam Rattinsky, Kunrod Weichel and Mike Fritz.
