DEPENDS ON POINTS OF LAW

Tax Mandamus Case is Reduced to Strictly Legal Basis.

REFEREE RYAN DEFINES HIS POSITION

Bays that on Showing of Facts Relators Are Entitled to Writ, but There May Be Legal Obstacles.

Referee Ryan has again declared himbelf as to the status of the tax mandamus hearing, and his position is virtually the same as a week ago. He said Monday afternoen:

"I am convinced that the relators are in fact entitled to the writ. They have technically demonstrated their right to it, and the only things standing in the way of it now are one or two law points upon which I am still in doubt. One of these is section 32 of the Nebraska revenue laws, which clearly says that in assessing franchise corporations the bonds must be subtracted from the stock in order to ascertain the value of the franchise. Does this law apply to corporations in cities of the metropol-Itan class? That is one point upon which I want light. Another is: Had the assessing bodies of Omaha a right to assess property at 40 per cent or any other per cent of its value, when the charter says it must be assessed at its fair cash value?

"I throw out these suggestions now, gentlemen, so that you will have time to consult authorities on them before court convenes again Wednesday morning. So far as I am concerned, I don't care to hear any further testimony along the line we are now investigating, for, as I told you, I have an abiding conviction that the relators are entitled to the writ as a matter of fact. However, the supreme court will not grant a writ of mandamus if it would be fruitless. If there are laws existing which the writ, if enforced, would violate, then there is no use of my asking the supreme court to grant one."

Attorney McIntosh said: "But the court may not look at it as you do, your honor, so I think I had better proceed along this line and finish my record."

Referee Ryan said: "I don't think the supreme court is inclined to split hairs." McIntosh is Satisfied.

After the adjournement for the day Mr. McIntosh said he was perfectly satisfied with the referee's position. "If it goes to the supreme court in that shape," he said, "there is not the least doubt but that I shall get my writ, because those questions of law that bother Judge Ryan will not last a minute with Judge Sullivan. He will not let them stand in the way of the writ.' When court convened Monday morning the attorneys clashed almost immediately on the question of whether City Councilmen Zimman, Lobeck and Burkley would be permitted to give oral testimony in contradiction of that part of the record of the Board of Equalization written up by City Clerk Elbourn about a month after the board adjourned. Such evidence was offered by Attorney McIntosh and was objected to by counsel for the respondents. The objection was austained. Referee Ryan held that he did not care to inquire into the fact of whether or not the clerk did his Attorney McIntosh appeared fresh and Vigorous yesterday morning after his rest of two days. He began by continuing the examination of City Clerk Elbourn. Referring to the pencil minutes taken at the time the board was in session, he pointed to a note made with a different kind of a lead pencil, which read, "Agreement with Wead," and asked: "When was that minute made?"

January 14," was the answer

Then, pointing to the note in its expanded form in the journal, he read, "In accordance with the request of F. D. Wead the hearing of all complaints against the franchised corporations was fixed for Friday, January 17, at 2 p. m., and the clerk was standby for several years. This is no paid Instructed to so notify said corporations." "When was that written?" he asked.

"February 11, I think." "Could you hold in your mind the exact words of the order an entire month?" Attorney Webster objected to this question, and the objection was sustained. "You wouldn't undertake to say that the language in this entry is correct?" was Mr. McIntosh's next question. "No: I say it is as I remember it," was the answer. Councilman Zimman Called.

Councilman Harry B. Zimman was then ralled to the stand. "Mr. Zimman," asked Mr. McIntosh, "was there any order made by the board that day relating to the hearing of the public service corporations, the street railway company and others?"

"No. there-" He was interrupted by the city attorney and all the corporation counsel in chorus. "You're altogether too flip yith your answers, Mr. Zimman," exclaimed Mr. Webster, with asperity. "Both the answer and the question were intended for the benefit of the press, and not in the interest of Justice.

"His answer was the truth," said Mr. McIntosh.

being taken up in arguing the question of whether Mr. Zimman would be permitted to resume his testimony. Attorney Morsman of the telephone company argued as

"Mr. McIntosh cannot be permitted to Impeach his own witness (Elbourn), your honor, by calling another witness to testify to something different."

Attorney McIntosh said; "I will admit that, but will that prevent us from getting at the truth? This witness is not called for the purpose of Impeaching Mr. Elbourn but that he may testify to what took place before the Board of Equalization."

Attorney Morsman's objection was over ruled. Then Mr. Morsman interposed another objection to the effect that oral testimony could not be introduced to contradict the record, which is held by courts generally better than oral evidence.

Question of Memory.

To this Attorney McIntosh spoke in part as follows:

"Your honor, this is simply a question of memory either way we take it. On the one hand we have the memory of Mr. E!bourn, who, after the lapse of a month, and after he finds that the entry will be needed in the trial of a case, presumes to enter in the journal something he alleges took place before the board. On the other hand we have the memory of Mr. Zimman on the same subject, which should certainly be as good. The record, Mr. Elbourn admits, was made from no minutes taken at the time. I shall prove by expert testimony when the proper time comes that the pencil minute 'agreement with Wead' was made with a pencil different from the kind the salary. Later he created a smile by moving other minutes were taken in. It would be unjust, it would be ruinous, if the city clerk, trusting to his memory for a month and then writing down just what he sees fit to write down, could close the mouths of the entire world against a record so made."

He then cited several authorities to show that mutilated records had several times in the past been excluded by courts to make way for oral testimony. Court then adjourned for the neon recess.

Zimman Answers Questions.

At the opening of the afternoon's session Attorney McIntosh resumed the examination of Councilman Zimman. "Were you present during all of the time the city council sat as a board of equaliza-

"Yes, sir."

"Were you there when Councilman Hasall made his motion to the effect that each | hand. side in the corporation tax controversy be allowed an hour and a half only in which to present and argue their case?"

"I was." "And the record shows that that motion carried," resumed Mr. McIntosh. "Now, what happened immediately after that?" "Speeches were made by the corporation lawyers and by members and representatives of the Real Estate exchange."

"Were any witnesses sworn or examined?"

"No. sir." "Was any evidence taken?"

Attorney Webster objected to this quesion on the ground that if speeches were made they took the place of testimony. "Statements of that kind," he said, "are just as binding on the board as though evidence was taken in a more formal way." His objection was overruled.

Mr. Zimman answered that no evidence had been taken.

Court adjourned until Wednesday morning, as the supreme court convenes Tuesday and several of the attorneys have cases tax mandamus hearing will conclude about Thursday of this week.

The Quickest Cough Eradicator. (From the Shortsville, N. Y. Enterprise.)

This is the month that one takes cold so cough which is so persistently disagrecable, as we know by personal experience. And we also know that the quickest eradicator of such cough has been Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and which has been our staunch "puff," but merely a just recognition of an invaluable remedy for coughs, colds and all lung affections, and, like the editor, it has scores of other staunch friends in this town.

A Remarkable Distribution.

The distribution of sample packages of various kinds is not an uncommon occurrence, but the managers of the Natural Food Co., of Niagara Falls, who manufacture the Shredded Wheat Bisuit have gone a step further and are distributing fullsized packages instead of the ordinary diminutive samples. Last week they shipped in a carload of Shredded Wheat Biscuit, and on Friday commenced a house to house distribution, under the direction of Frank B. Black of Kansas City, the western sales agent, supervised by T. P. Jones, their local representative. After Omaha is covered, the distribution will be extended to South Omaha, Council Bluffs and Lincoln.

OPEN SEASON FOR FISHING

Omaha Anglers Making Arrangement to Be Early in the Field.

Tuesday morning the open season for ashing in the lakes and streams of Nebrasks begins, and a large number of angiers are making arrangements to be the first in the field. Fishermen who devote their time generally to catching game fish complain of the early open season in this state. The Iowa season does not begin until April 16, and in Minnesota it is June 1 before the capture of game fish by the book and line is legal. One of the

ADDING TO COUNTY PAYROLL

Commissioners Shoot Two More Holes in Retrenchment Schedule.

DEE AND BODWELL SECURE EXTRA HELP

Connolly Tells Ostrom that the New Salary Schedule is So Full of Holes that He Could Never Recognizes It.

The Board of County Commissioners shot two more holes in its retrenchment schedule yesterday by giving Superintendent Ed Dee of the court house another lanitor and E. J. Bodwell, superintendent of instruction, the assistant he formerly had. County Clerk Harry C. Miller appealed for authority to retain two of the extra men now in the tax department, but his democratic brother from South Omaha said he would insist on the communication going to the committee of the whole, and Mr. Miller had to wait. When the board adjourned at 1:30 the persevering clerk had the recalcitrant Mr. O'Keeffe backed into a corner and was showing him fortyseven pages of figures in an effort to prove the necessity for the extra men remaining on the pay roll for at least sixty days,

O'Keeffe voted to allow Dee his man at $50 per month, but voted a solitary nay on the assistant for Bodwell at the same to increase the salary of the assistant county auditor to $82.33 per month. Under the old schedule this was the figure, but the retranchment axe whittled it to $75. Now, however, the assistant county auditor is his personal friend, A. J. Webb, and O'Keeffe argued that he "is as good a man as the former assistant auditor and ought to have as much pay."

Retrenchment Wave Passing.

When the balloting got around to strom, whose man was the one sacrificed to make room for Webb, there was an embarrassing pause. Finally Ostrom remarked that "the evidences of that wave of retrenchment seem to be disappearing, whereupon Connolly exclaimed with delighted emphasis: "Why, Henry, you wouldn't know that revised schedule of yours if you were to meet it face to face." But everybody voted ave to the motion in

Clerk Miller in his communication to the board stated that he had found it would be physically impossible to carry on the work of the tax department with only the chief clerk and one assistant, but would not retain any extra help a minute longer than necessary.

The addition to Dee's force gives him four day men and one at night, including the lawn tender. The total now lacks but one of being what it was before the retrenchment are was swung with such gusto and loud acclaim.

Collection Proposition Goes Over.

The propositions of local attorneys to collect the taxes due the county on percentage were not taken up today, but will be at a meeting of the board to be held next Thursday. Included in the routine business was the extending of an invitation to a committee of the Woman's club to attend, that meeting of the board and discuss their "Pingree gardens" project. The committee had by its chairman, Ida V. Tilden, filed with the commissioners a request for $75 or $100 before it. The present estimate is that the with which to buy seed potatoes for the gardens, and Harte moved to draw a warrant at once, but Ostrom wished to be more fully informed on the plan before voting on such a resolution, and action was ac- Douglas streets. Finally the resolution porcelain bath, laundry with stationary was changed to include the county physician as a member of the health board and the motion then prevailed. Thomas Davis was appointed special deputy health commissioner at $3 per day.

Improving Thirteenth Street.

John Carson was authorized to carry out his plan to distribute 2,400 cubic yards of dirt along South Thirteenth street for $200. This makes possible the new park connection by street car that South Omaha people had asked for.

A committee representing the Douglas County Agricultural association asked the board to say what it proposed to do toward helping arrange for next fall's fair, and called attention to the fact that Bennington is bidding for it. The board told the com mittee to file a financial report and ther call again for further consultation.

MAKING READY FOR PAVERS Workmen Laying New Street Car Rails on North Twenty-Fourth.

Descendants of Roman gladiators and Spanish grandees are co-laboring with some remote relatives of German barons, Irish lords and American congressmen in an effort to get the street railway company's tracks on North Twenty-fourth street into condition for the new paving. The gangs include about 150 men and the heavy new rails are going down with such rapidity that the paving force, it is expected, will be free to work in a very few days.

The material is already being hauled to various points along the route, and it is to be the most extensive paving job of the year, the new pavement to extend from Lake to Spalding street. At the city engineer's office it is said that at least ninety days, and probably more, will be required to finish the work. On Cass street from Sixteenth to Twenty-second the pavers are also following the street car track men and the blocks that have been rotting there for ten years are vanishing. Lafayette avenue is to be tackled soon and Dodge street between Thirty-eighth and Fortieth by April 20, or a little later. These are all last year contracts, of course, the department having not yet even asked for bids on this year's work. One of the projects in contemplation is the paving of Seventeenth from Davenport to Cuming, but the prospect of the work being done is still ruther remote.
