

OVERLAND ROLLING PALACES

First of New Trains on Chicago-Frisco Run Passes Through.

COST QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS

Large Party of Railroad Officials and Others Inspect the Magnificent Cars During Twenty-Minute Wait Here.

Resplendent from end to end with the brilliant gilt lettering on the background of rich olive green, undimmed as yet by foot or sun, the first new Northwestern Union Pacific-Southern Pacific No. 1 passed through Omaha yesterday, a train of elegant cars that were on their first journey and that represented a cost value of a quarter of a million dollars as they stood.

A body of Union Pacific officials, headed by President Burt, was on hand at the station to greet the pioneer edition of the new train. Almost a hundred outsiders had also gathered at the station, and during the twenty minutes that it stopped in Omaha the train was gone through and inspected from buffet to observation car by the visitors, who formed a continuous string of admiring guests all through the mazes of green, gold, bronze, white and mauve in which the cars were tinted.

President Burt looked grim satisfaction at the sight of this series of rolling palaces, the latest triumph in the handling of passenger traffic, but he said only a word. Other Union Pacific officials present at the station were General Manager Dickinson, Superintendent Buckingham, Freight Traffic Manager Munroe, Assistant General Freight Agent Garratt, Superintendent of Telegraphs Kory, Advertising Manager Darlow, City Ticket Agent Abbott, Traveling Passenger Agent Goodsell and Station Superintendent Hanny.

General Agent H. C. Cheyne and City Ticket Agent George West of the Chicago & Northwestern line were also there. They went across to Council Bluffs early in the morning and rode back on the beauty, in which their road has a share with the others.

Product of Pullman Shops.

The Pullman Car company representative at Omaha, Mr. Richardson, was on hand to have a look at the latest product of his company's construction shops. These cars were built by the Pullman company expressly for this overland service and are now owned outright by the three railroads in the route.

With General Manager Dickinson was Mr. Ferris of Columbus, O., a personal friend and a railroad man. With President Burt was Luther Drake. Other citizens noticed were Councilman Whitehorn, W. N. Nason and Dr. W. A. Nason. All were shown through the train.

The time scheduled for the arrival of No. 1 is 9:20 a. m. and just at the minute the shining train slowed up at Union station. It was drawn by engine No. 1853, a compound locomotive of the mastodon type, with seventy-two-inch driving wheels. John E. Dolan was the Union Pacific engineer who pulled the train from Council Bluffs on west.

There were just eight cars behind the engine, a dynamo car, baggage car, mail car, composite car, dining car, Portland sleeper, San Francisco sleeper and San Francisco compartment observation car. The most beautiful was the dining car. This cost $20,000 as it stands and is a marvel of mirrors, soft tints, shaded lights and general luxury. The table service is exquisite and the kitchen equipment elaborate in its completeness. The color scheme is light, shading from cream ceiling with gilded fretwork to a mauve base. In the sides of the car above each table is a little hanging garden built into the wall, from which ferns droop, backed by small mirrors that heighten the effect of greenness and luxuriant foliage.

Observation Car a Beauty. The most modern thing in cars, however, was found at the end of the train in the observation car. This was something new to Omaha. In it are six private compartments, with complete toilet arrangements in each, and provisions for a full section berth. A narrow passageway down one side of the car enters upon these rooms, and all are connected by doors that may be opened if desired, so a party may take several compartments, all communicating. Then at the end of the car is a spacious general observation room of solid plate glass, sides and end.

When the train went out at 9:40 Advertising Manager Darlow took on it as 'Union Pacific guests a party of newspaper

Patronizing Home Industry

Railroad Now Has Most of Its Printing Done in Omaha.

Means Thousands of Dollars Yearly

Union Pacific Begins the Operation of All Dining Cars on Its Lines—Railroad Notes and Personal.

"A striking illustration of what Omaha is doing for itself as a progressive business center came to my attention yesterday," said Assistant General Passenger Agent J. E. Buckingham of the Burlington railway.

"The example arose in connection with the visit to Omaha of J. C. McNamara of St. Louis, chief clerk to the Union Pacific, who was on his way to the Burlington lines in Missouri.

"Mr. McNamara is about to issue a book of instructions to agents, conductors and baggage men, and he came to Omaha from St. Louis to get the book printed and bound. It seems to me that is a flattering thing for Omaha, and when you take that fact in connection with others which I can mention the proposition becomes more than a mere matter of patriotic interest, for it assumes important business proportions.

"I remember, ten years ago, when the printing from Burlington headquarters here was all taken to Chicago or St. Louis. The passenger department never thought of having anything printed here, even a little advance slip, much less a folder or big pamphlet.

"Now the Burlington has most of its work done in this city. We have been making the change gradually for several years. Even our folders with time cards are printed here now. We issue from 1,000,000 to 1,250,000 of these every year, and they contain twenty-four pages of practically nothing but figures. Every change in time means a change through columns and columns of figures, and thus the correction bills alone make a big item, in addition to the original printing.

"Besides these folders we carry about twenty-five publications of one kind and another, and when you figure it all in it amounts to a big item of printing each year out of this office. That this goes to Omaha printers instead of to Chicago or St. Louis houses is certainly a pleasant thought.

"Other railroads, too, are doing this, though not to the extent that we are. I believe that in time all railroads with headquarters here will get all their printing done in Omaha."

Operates Dining Cars Now.

The Union Pacific Railway company yesterday took over from the Pullman company the conduct of its dining cars. Hereafter it will operate all the diners on the system, some twenty cars. It has owned them for some time, having purchased them gradually since the plan to operate them privately was first taken up.

There will be no change in the force of men that has till this time been employed in handling these cars, however. At Council Bluffs are the headquarters, where Superintendent of Dining Cars Akeley keeps his office force of half a dozen men busy with the detail end of the work. Then the number of employees who go with the cars, including cashiers, cooks and waiters, will average ten men to a car, and that puts about 200 on the pay roll in all.

The reorganization of such a system would be an extensive matter and the Union Pacific has not attempted it. Instead it has simply taken over all the Pullman force, retaining Superintendent Akeley in that position. The men are now all working for the Union Pacific, however.

ENJOINS TELEPHONE COMPANY

The Plattsmouth "Hello" Concern Must Get Franchise Before Operating in South Omaha.

Those South Omaha interests that have fought the Plattsmouth Telephone company so long and persistently were rewarded yesterday by Judge W. W. Keyser of the district court. He signed a decree stating that the court found the defendants in the case of Plattsmouth Telephone company against the city of South Omaha et al to be entitled to a permanent injunction on their cross-petition and that the cause of plaintiffs' action should be dismissed. The plaintiffs were permanently enjoined from constructing or operating a telephone system in South Omaha without first getting a franchise and the defendants are to recover costs.

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement.

Announcements of the Theater.

"The Explorers," which will be seen at the Boyd tonight and a special matinee Thursday, is a sister piece of "The Burgomaster" and is under the same management, which, as a consequence, should be heralded with delight by its admirers. The artistic wit, beauty and song, inasmuch as it is far above the average musical comedy, and contains an original score of twenty-six numbers, and comprises eighty players of unusual eminence. The production is said to be a positive Aladdin achievement, and the most beautiful and costly ever manufactured in the west. It is difficult to describe the principal features of this jolly oddity, as they are innumerable, and must be seen to be appreciated. The "girls" chorus is one of the brightest revelations of the season, and one of the distinct, important factors of the piece, as they are very much in evidence, all young and pretty, and constitute many of the brightest moments of the performance. Thursday night the ever welcome "The Burgomaster," will be presented.

Much in praise can be said of the bill on view at the Orpheum this week, which merits the approbation that is tendered it by a series of big houses. Just now it is to be commended for having something new in song and monologue and eschewing chestnuts. He is doing his turn in white-face, which is much neater and more pleasing than his old manner in cork. Another monologue that scores big is presented by Jessle Couthout. Her stories and recitations have caught the public's fancy and she is compelled to respond to scores at every performance. The three Bioscopes do a very funny and clever comedy. The five No-noses, instrumentalists; Louise Dresser, the noted beauty and singer and three other acts keep up a good record. The regular Wednesday matinee will be given this afternoon.

Collects Delinquent Taxes

Son of County Treasurer Reports Fair Success in Capacity of Collector.

Fred F. Elsas, a son of the county treasurer, who has been acting as a special collector, reported to the office Monday night that since March 2, when he went after his first delinquent, he has collected $1,525 in back taxes. One man paid $210.28 Monday and another paid $67.58, the smallest collection of the month being $2.50. Some of the delinquencies run back fourteen years.

These collections are only of tax on personal property, and on the success or failure of other collectors whom the treasurer has said he expects to put in the field depends how soon he will have to fulfill his other threat—that of starting out furniture vans to take property seized under distress warrants.

PAINTERS AGREE ON SCALE

Continue Present Rate of Thirty-Seven Cents and a Half Another Year.

The Painters' union, at its meeting Monday night, decided to accept the offer of the master painters as to wage scale. This offer was to continue the present scale of 37½ cents per hour for the term of one year. The union at first requested a contract for two years, wages to be advanced to 46 cents an hour after April 1, 1903. In response the master painters offered to agree to such wages, provided the Journeymen would consent to work for no one but contracting painters. The union refused to bind its members to work for any certain men and the present agreement was the result of compromise between the parties.

"Finally I tried DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which soon completely cured me."

REDELL TAKES DEPARTURE

Packs Up His Goods and Moves Off to Live in Chicago Hereafter.

John Redell, deceased chief of the fire department, has left Omaha with his family for Chicago, where he has property, and where he will take up his permanent residence. City officials continue this to mean that he will make no further attempt to re-instate himself in the place now occupied by Fire Chief Charles A. Salter, and that he is not counting on results from the attempt of Attorneys Wright, Ransom and Gurley to mandamus the governor to appoint a new Board of Fire and Police commissioners. Whether or not he will seek to recover from the city salary from the time he was suspended as chief to the time he was formally dismissed remains to be seen.

Another Photographed Note

Secret Service Agents Alarmed Over Improvement Made in Counterfeiting.

The third photographic counterfeit bank note in two weeks has just been reported by Chief Wilkie to the local secret service office. This note is said to be the work of the man who made the two which have been previously reported, and shows that he has made progress in the art of photographing national bank notes. The present one is upon the Union National bank of New Orleans, La., series of 1882, check letter C, bank No. 1470, signed by W. S. Rosencrans, register, and J. N. Houston, treasurer.

The counterfeiter has turned his attention to coloring the paper in imitation of the tint blocks used by the government in printing the bank notes. In this he has made a negative, print notes for a day, to make it difficult to detect the counterfeit and impossible to reach the counterfeiter. Where more than one man has a secret it is not impossible to detect him, but now we have a condition where one man has a camera can make counterfeit notes that will be better than those made from plates, for they will be exact reproductions.

"Another thing which will make detection difficult will be the ease with which incriminating evidence is destroyed. He can make a negative, print notes for a day, to make it difficult to detect the counterfeit and impossible to reach the counterfeiter. Where more than one man has a secret it is not impossible to detect him, but now we have a condition where one man has a camera can make counterfeit notes that will be better than those made from plates, for they will be exact reproductions.

The quickest cough eradicator.

(From the Shortville, N. Y. Enterprise.)

This is the most sure and quick remedy for coughing, which is so persistently disagreeable, as we know by personal experience. And we also know that the quickest eradicator of such cough has been Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, and which has been our staunch standby for several years. This is no "puff," but merely a just recognition of an invaluable remedy for coughs, colds and all lung affections, and, like the editor, it has scores of other staunch friends in this town.

A Valuable Folder and Map.

A large folder which is called No. 21 of the Four Track Series, has been issued by the passenger department of the New York Central lines. This folder bears the title "Round the World by Way of New York and Niagara Falls in Sixty Days." It contains a large amount of information of a cosmopolitan character, and an excellent railway map of the United States, showing the railway systems in good proportion. This folder is a sequel to the address given by Mr. Daniels before the International Commercial congress at Philadelphia, and serves to illustrate the immense debt which the manufacturing and commercial interests of the country owe to transportation lines for the effective manner in which they have advertised the products of American soil, mines and mills to the people of every country on the globe. The map which accompanies this folder is unusually clear and distinct, and the coloring and shading are artistically treated. A copy of this folder will be sent free, postpaid, on receipt of three cents in stamps by George H. Daniels, general passenger agent, New York Central, Grand Central Station, New York.—(From the Travelers' Official Railway Guide.)
