CHARGE AGENT WITH FRAUD

Heirs of Alvah Buckingham Bring Suit Against Former Agent in Nebraska.

A suit has been instituted in the United States circuit court by James Buckingham and other heirs of Alvah Buckingham against Charles W. Conkling, a real estate agent at Tekamah, Neb., by which the complainants seek to recover from him the sum of $26,000, with interest.

The suit refers to actions which took place in the years 1893 and 1899, the complaint setting up that in those years and for a long time prior thereto Conkling was the agent of Alvah Buckingham, charged with the management of lands owned by him in the state of Nebraska, and that upon the death of the older Buckingham he was continued in the position by James Buckingham, executor of the estate; that during that time the executor received full confidence in his agent, and not knowing the value and condition of the Nebraska land was guided in his action solely upon the advice of the agent.

GATHERING OF DARK CROWD

It Comes to Witness Horse Whipping of Afro-Grecian Nabob.

ESTELLA GREEN APPLIES PERSUADER

Young Woman Who Says Preston Hieronymous "Spoke Certain Words Derogatory to Mah Carcathah" Gives Street Show.

Preston Hieronymous, colored, who, as his name indicates, is of Greek extraction, and is said to trace his genealogy back to the reign of Xerxes, figured as chief factor in a little society function at 7:30 Wednesday night at the corner of Seventeenth and Farnam streets. Estella Green of North Twenty-fourth street, who was also born that way, had passed the word around among a number of her friends. She had also sent a pink note, scented with lavender, to Hieronymous, inviting him to meet her.

Promptly at the hour named the Afro-Grecian nabob was "standing on the corner and didn't mean no harm," awaiting his lady love. His dress was recherche and his self-esteem was three points above par. He swung his walking stick and hummed something from Florida.

A dark crowd began to gather on the opposite side of the street. Then she came. Her gown was a clinging creation of violet crepe de chine, with smocked pleating at the waist and a yoke of mirrored satin.

It is an old saying that when Greek meets Greek things are doing, and it applied in this case. Producing a three-foot riding whip from the folds of her raglan, she uttered a yell like a Zulu warrior and pounced upon Hieronymous. Whack! whack! whack! went the gad across his classic lineaments. The crowd yelled. The persuader wrapped about his neck and beat a tattoo upon the broad expanse of his shirt bosom. He stood it as long as he could and then turned and ran down the street, the woman and the crowd after him.
