McCLURE BOOK OF CHILDHOOD STORIES

Father Endeavor Clark's Lectures
Printed in Book Form by Funk & Wagnalls Company—Several New Novels Appear.

"The 13th District" is a new political novel by Brand Whitlock. The scene is laid in the middle west. He has chosen a candidate for congress as his character and carries him through the campaign. It tells of the struggle of the candidate for nomination, of his campaign and election. It follows him in his work among his constituents, in his successes and reverses, and shows in strong lights and shadows the effect of his work on himself. While there is no sensational exposure of the making of a congressman, yet it tells of the ways and the means by which a campaign is carried on among the voters and at the polls, and of how the candidate managers operate. In its closing chapters it pictures forcibly the result of an adequate manager's absence because of unkept promises of reward by the congressman in the defeat of the candidate for third election. Through all his campaigns his wife, whom he married after his first election, stands his ardent admirer, disbelieving every rumor of corruptness in his actions. At the last, when he admits the truth of the rumors, though "she turned her face away in disappointment," he was her husband and she loved him still and "would live for him, without any regard to what attitude he might take." Published by the Bowen-Merrill Company.

McClure, Phillips & Co. have published a book of children's literature, "The Little Dicksy and the others are as genuine as they are amusing and attractive. The charming child-romance of 'The Little God and Dicky,' and the naive humor of 'A Study in Piracy,' show Miss Daakam in two widely diverse but equally characteristic types of her work.

Rev. Francis E. Clark, the founder of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor, has performed another service of importance in gathering together in the compass of a serviceable manual, entitled "Training the Church of the Future," his lectures upon the subject of Christian nurture and all the data pertaining to the origin and spread of the Christian Endeavor movement, together with forms of constitutions, pledges, etc., used in the society and its various branches. The lectures were delivered before the Auburn seminary and are upon the following subjects: first, "The Church of the Future," second, "Methods of Christian Nurture Past and Present," third, "The Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor as a Training School of the Church," fourth, "Other Training Classes in the Christian Endeavor Society." In addition to the lectures, the volume contains much helpful and interesting matter to Christian Endeavor members. It is published by the Funk & Wagnalls Company.

In "Gertrude Dorrance" Mary Fisher offers her first novel, and the same discrimination and excellent taste that govern her writings elsewhere is exhibited in this thoroughly modern story. Gertrude is a most engaging young person who has everything against her, but manages to come out very well in spite of it. She is a proud, clever girl, with a remarkable talent for the violin and an exceptional endowment of good looks. Three men fall in love with her—the young Scotch doctor, the philanthropist Robert Ald, and finally Holmes, who is just the sort of man that a spirited girl like Gertrude would care for. As for Jack, "the lover," he is a man of the world, who, which seems only to grow deeper and sorer as the years roll by," believing "the greatest thing in the world" is to make a happy home. Besides the love story the book is interesting on account of its description of city life. It is published by A. C. McClurg & Co.

"Blood Will Tell," by Benj. Rush Davenport, is certainly, as the inscription on the cover states, "a strange story of a son of Ham." The dedication note by the author reads: "To all Americans who deem purity of race an important element in the progress of our beloved country." But with all its strangeness, the story is very interesting. Lucy Dunlop, daughter of a very old and wealthy firm of shippers and bankers, marries the manager of the firm, Walter Burton. Just prior to the marriage Lucy's uncle discovers that Walter, though his looks do not show it to the least, has some negro blood in him. This does not, however, prevent the marriage, as his looks, education and business ability, together with his polished manners and power to entertain, give him a place in the highest society in Boston. He has a dwelling and property that was his home before his marriage, where he shuts himself up in gloomy, dependent spells over an evil spirit that almost seems to conquer him at times. The truth is kept from Lucy, but when discovered by the negro offspring, together with her uncle's death, she goes insane. Walter's life is tragical. The Dunlop name, which had stood as a firm for ages and seemed almost lost, is kept up by their nephew, Jack, who stands prominent throughout the story as a good-souled and whole-hearted sailor boy. Published by Caxton Book Company.

Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. are out with a new story of the first empire, by Eleanor C. Price, entitled "Angelot." In it the elements of love-making and adventure are blended about right to make an entertaining novel. A general, risen from the people, who had the daughter of an old aristocratic family, she seeks to force his wishes through a decree of the emperor. But he meets with a continual stumbling block in the person of the young Angelot, who desires the maiden also for himself. This clash of militarism with sentiment is the merit of the book. The result is a bright, wholesome story, well worth the reading, and one which leaves the reader with a good idea of a very critical period in French history. It is not a historical novel, nor simply a study of character, but partakes more of the nature of a romance.

"A Roman Mystery" is the title of a new novel by Richard Bagot, author of "Castles of Nets" and "The Just and Unjust." The Literary World has the following to say of the book: "A well-written novel. The author writes of those intrigues at Rome between the 'Blanch' and the 'Neri' that have already supplied material for such writers as Marion Crawford and Zola, and he manages to present the questions involved freshly and fairly. He is evidently well acquainted with Roman life, and with that double set of theories which divide Roman society sharply in two parts. The whole account of Roman life is fresh and accurate." Published by John Lane.

It has been a common remark with many that they could not get into the action of a Shakespearean play until they had heard the plot outlined or seen it acted on the stage. Thomas Y. Crowell & Co. have recently published a book written by J. Walter McSpadden entitled "Shakespearean Synopses" that will meet just such needs, giving a clear idea of any play at the shortest notice. An outline of each of the thirty-seven plays is given by acts, much after the manner of opera arguments, carefully prepared and in continuous reading form. A cast of characters is included, also the title of the play and date of its first printing. No critical matter is attempted, the author confining himself to analysis, which is clear, concise and accurate.

After having allowed without a protest for almost three-quarters of a century succeeding 1826 the inclusion by the Mucovite and the American governments within their sovereignty of all of the Alaskan territory along the coast of the Pacific mainland above 54 degrees 40 minutes, or since the discovery of gold in the Klondike, has put in a claim to a large and to us a most important part of our Alaskan domain. To demonstrate the groundlessness of this claim a paper on the subject, read before the Franklin institute by Thomas Willing Balch, has been published as a monograph, with maps in elucidation of the text. It is a clear, though brief, demonstration of the indefensibility of the British pretensions and furnishes interesting reading to all who desire to see American rights on the Pacific ocean maintained against English aggression. SALE OF OKLAHOMA RAILWAY

Deal is Made Through Speyer & Co., Bankers of New York.

OTHERS BELIEVED TO BE THE PURCHASER

Rock Island is Looked Upon as the New Owner, Partly Owing to its Recent Increase in Capital Stock.

PHILADELPHIA, April 10.—Announcement was made today by Edward B. Smith & Co. of this city, bankers, that the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad company has been sold to Messrs. Speyer & Co. of New York. The announcement is as follows:

By authority of President Gowan it is stated that a majority of the stock of the Choctaw, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad company has been sold to Messrs. Speyer & Co. of New York. The purchase price is $20,000,000 and $500 for the preferred, both ex-April dividend. Under the terms of the sale this made the stock exchange here is at the same price all stock offered. A circular giving details will be issued to stockholders in the course of a few days and they will be asked to deposit their stock with the Girard Trust company, Philadelphia.

It was not officially announced for whom Speyer & Co. is acting. As the April dividend amounts to $1.25 on preferred stock, the price named is equivalent to $61.25. The dividend on the common stock per share is $1.50. Dividends are payable on April 30 to stockholders as registered April 15. Mr. Smith estimated today that the sale would bring over $21,000,000 to this city, where most of the stock is held.

Rock Island Suspected.

Francis I. Gowan, president of the Choctaw, said tonight that he was not in a position to talk in detail on the subject. He said the transfer would mean a revolution in the management of the road, but what way the coup would be made he did not say.

The proposition Speyer & Co. he said, was the first bona fide offer made for the purchase of the road. The stock issue of the Choctaw amounts to 170,000 shares of common, par value $8,000,000, and 120,000 shares of preferred, par value $6,000,000. The announcement of the sale was made after the stock had closed and closed little information could be had as to the prospective purchaser.

During the last six months rumors have connected the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, the Missouri Pacific railway, the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad and the Rock Island with the sale. There is a strong belief that the last named road is the real purchaser. This belief is strengthened by the fact that the board of directors of the Rock Island road is about to issue $15,000,000 in new capital stock.

REVISIONISTS BACK AT WORK

Committee to Revise Confession of Faith Resumes Sittings in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The Presbyterian committee on creed revision assembled here today. The final report on the subject is expected to be adopted by the committee within a week. Pending decisive action the committee is carefully guarding its deliberations against publication.

The main discussion today was over the text of the declaratory statement which is to be adopted by the general assembly. The committee accomplished considerable work today, finishing up all features except that relating to the brief statement of doctrine. Consideration of this statement will occupy the committee during the remainder of the session here.

As a result of the work already done overtures will be submitted to the general assembly, which meets in New York in May, for action on the declaratory statement with reference to the third and tenth chapters of the confession. These relate to predestination and election of infants. The object is to remove misunderstandings on these points by declaring that the confession is not to be understood as teaching that any child who dies in infancy is lost; also that the confession is not to be understood as teaching that the provisions of the gospel and the offer made by it is to be limited to a certain number—that Christ died for all men, nor is it to be understood as in any way interfering with human liberty and the freedom of men.

An overture will be sent to the general assembly dropping from the text of the confession the chapters relating to the pope of Rome and that it is a sin in another to refuse an oath when administered by rightful authority.

POWER FOR THE NEW SHOPS

Union Pacific Lets a Big Contract to Westinghouse Electrical Company.

NEW YORK, April 10.—(Special Telegram.)—Westinghouse, Church, Kerr & Co. today entered into two important contracts for electrical apparatus for operating the new shops of the Union Pacific at Omaha and the Oregon Short Line at Pocatello, Idaho, and will consist of Westinghouse machines throughout, engines, generators and motors. It is intended to adopt direct driven tools wherever possible, as it is believed that under this plan better results can be obtained, everything considered, than through any other form of equipment.

GOES TO CONCILiate VIENNA

Count Von Buelow Visits Austrian Capital on a Diplomatic Mission.

VIENNA, April 10.—Count von Buelow, German imperial chancellor, arrived here this evening. Besides his immediate purpose concerning the triple alliance, Count von Buelow's visit to Vienna has the further object of allaying the irritation which resulted from his visit to Vienna, when he was appointed imperial chancellor. It is said that Count von Buelow will seek the consent of Austria to give Italy economical advantages without which that country would be reluctant to renew the triple alliance.

Washington, and his recall is expected. Being accredited to Vienna and Rome, permission to go to either of those cities was not necessary, and assuming that the order for his recall will reach him at an early date he is arranging his affairs.

Commander Beehler during the last two years has breakfasted, lunched and dined with Emperor William twenty-seven times and has had several audiences of his majesty, almost all at the emperor's initiative, who has shown an extraordinary liking for the attache and has facilitated his official inquiries in every way. Emperor William on several occasions, like the Kiel regatta and smoking parties, put his arm on Commander Beehler's shoulder and called him "Bill."

LEADING A STRENUOUS LIFE

Eldiest Son of Prince Henry is Subjected to a Rigorous Routine.

BERLIN, April 10.—Prince Waldemar, the eldest son of Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia, who has been at a sanatorium near Dresden for several weeks, is being subjected to a rather rigorous life. He sleeps on a thin horse hair mattress with a single blanket, in a room so ventilated that it has the temperature of the outside air. He wears porous clothing and lives on a diet of fruit, milk and salad.

OMAHA MEN IN CONFERENCE

General Manderson, J. L. Webster and John E. Ut Attend Reciprocity League Meeting.

CHICAGO, April 10.—At the convention of the Western Reciprocity league, which opens here tomorrow a national reciprocity league will be formed.

Governor Stanley of Kansas, the chairman, arrived today and went in conference at once with Chicago people who are interested in Mexican reciprocity. Governor Stanley said it was a question whether he should retire from chairmanship. New York state, San Francisco, Indianapolis, Detroit and numerous other centers of the middle west will be present.

YOUNG KAUFMANN MUST SHOW

Unless He Actually Took the Money His Plea Will Be Rejected.

County Attorney Shields said yesterday that while he had not fully determined on what he should advise in the Kaufmann embezzlement matter, he did not believe he would favor accepting a plea of guilty from the son unless it became clear that the young man actually took the $2,095 which the Farmers' insurance company of Chicago alleges was due from Charles Kaufmann, the father, as agent, but which was never refunded.

Charles F. Kaufmann, the son who offers to plead guilty and take a penitentiary sentence if necessary, is assessor for the First ward of Omaha, and from now until June 1 is expected to be his bus time. Should he be much detained the work must fall behind and in the tax department there is some wonder as to what is to be done. When he qualified December 31, last, Kaufmann furnished the required $500 bond, with Ed J. Dow, superintendent of the court house, and Anton Kreck as sureties.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

James Smead, Charles Lewis and Fred Bray are at Ashland hunting jacksnipe. Judge Paul Jensen and his court reporter, John W. Dixon, of Nebraska City are in Fremont. General John C. Davis of Minneapolis, on a trip from the Pacific coast to Vermont, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Hoobler.

SHIELDS AND BRADY TRIAL

Victor Walker Testifies that Police-men Hit Him Without Provocation.

In county court yesterday Judge Vinsonbaler began the hearing of Victor B. Walker's case against Martin Shields and John Brady, policemen, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily injury. The action grows out of the incident of February 26, when the officers were sent to 1125 Capital avenue to arrest Walker for carrying concealed weapons and are alleged to have used undue violence in doing so. Walker was given a hearing in police court and fined $4 and costs by Judge Herka for carrying the weapons as complained of, but takes the assault case into county court, where J. J. Dunn acts as his attorney. W. J. Connell and Thomas Lee appear for the officers.

On the witness stand Walker testified that the first intimation he had of the presence of the policemen was when Shields grabbed his (Walker's) pistol from his hip pocket and inflicted two painful wounds with it, one on the head and the other on the side of the face, saying, "Now, d— you, I've got you." Witness did not remember that Shields carried any club or that Brady inflicted any blows. He said that on the way to the station Brady said: "Shields, I've got a good job," and that Shields answered: "I'm ordered to bump him off."

Of their earlier relations, Walker said that Shields had arrested three girls who were drinking beer at a table in his place one night last October and that he had complained to the chief about it. He did not know whether the chief had ever mentioned the complaint to Shields, but later when he went to speak to the officer about it, Shields had declined to talk to him, whereupon he had said: "You're nothing but a policeman and a policeman ain't none of us." He said that he had never answered to this: "Now, d— you, don't you monkey with me or I'll fix you." The witness said, their last conversation until the trouble now complained of.

THANKS TO INSURANCE MEN

Committee of Commercial Club Sends Letter to Omaha Fire Underwriters.

In recognition of the efforts of the Omaha Fire Underwriters' association to forestall the threatened advance of 25 per cent on insurance rates in Omaha, the insurance committee of the Commercial club has sent the following letter of thanks to the president of the association:

OMAHA, April 10.—D. H. Wheeler, President Fire Underwriters' Association—Dear Sir: At a meeting of the insurance committee of the Commercial club held on the above date, a copy of the resolution of the Omaha Fire Underwriters' association, which provides for a 25 per cent advance in rates ordered upon all un-allocated mercantile risks in this city and throughout the state of Nebraska, was read and discussed, and on motion it was ordered that as a committee we convey to the Omaha Fire Underwriters' association our hearty approval of their action and to its individual members the appreciation of the business men and heavy buyers of insurance in this city of the unselfish efforts which the association is making to prevent an undue increase of rates in Omaha and Nebraska at this time.

CHARLES H. PICKENS, Chairman Insurance Committee.

At the meeting of the city council in general committee next Monday the ordinance providing for the appointment of a fire coroner will be considered. The mayor has expressed himself as favorable to such a measure. The ordinance would have come up at the last meeting of the council but for the fact that Councilmen Burkley and Mount, a majority of the committee having it in charge, were out of the city. Such an officer, it is said, would result in a saving of 4-7 per cent of all mercantile risks in the city, which would make a difference of between $12,000 and $15,000 a year to insurance buyers.

MRS. BURDETTE IN THE CITY

Arrived Early Yesterday and Was Given Reception by the Women's Club.

The presence in the city of Mrs. Robert Burdette has created more of a stir among local club women than any event for some time. Mrs. Burdette has been accompanying her husband on a lecture tour through the east and arrived in Omaha early yesterday, several hours in advance of Mr. Burdette, that she might participate in the reception to be given in her honor yesterday afternoon by the club women of the city.

Mrs. Burdette is one of the most prominent women on the Pacific coast, having been president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, an organization composed of 7,000 women, and she is one of the most capable candidates for president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Her

AFFAIRS OF THE AUDITORIUM

Directors Transact Only Routine Business at Their Regular Weekly Meeting.

At the meeting of the Auditorium directors yesterday O. D. Kiplinger tendered his resignation as a member of the board. Action on the resignation was deferred for two weeks.

The promotion committee, which has under consideration an "Auditorium day," upon which the wage earners of the city are to be asked to contribute a part of their wages to the fund, asked for further time to formulate a report, which was granted.

A letter from Jennie M. Kennedy, mother and manager of Maxwell Kennedy, a boy vocalist, asking a date for an Auditorium benefit, was referred to the promotion committee.

RELEASE FOR STOCKHOLDER

Judge Munger Makes a Ruling in Plattsmouth Gas Company Suit.

J. G. Ritchie of Plattsmouth has been released from all liability for damages in the case of the New Hampshire Savings Bank against the Plattsmouth Gas and Electric Light company and others. In this suit the bank sought to hold the city responsible for the payment of $11,333 which was paid as rent to the lighting company when the city took the management of the company into its hands. Mr. Ritchie was a stockholder in the company and participated in the distribution of the money paid by the city to the company.

In the action now pending it is claimed that the money thus paid was a trust fund to be used for the benefit of the bondholders and that the stockholders should be held for that amount. Judge Munger takes a different view and holds that the company had a right to lease the property to the city or to anyone else so far as the bondholders are concerned. He, however, suggests that the question be taken to the court of appeals before the main question is tried.

FORTUNE BY IMAGINATION

Former Cook at Windsor Hotel Falls Heir to a Mythical Estate.

Frank Silod, formerly a cook at the Windsor hotel, is in the city jail charged with beating Proprietor A. L. Schuets out of $102, representing seven weeks' board and some cash. Several weeks ago Silod received word that he was heir to $40,000, which had been left him by a distant relative in France. He immediately quit his position, and, after informing the landlord that City Comptroller Westberg was looking after the fortune for him, proceeded to live
