Land Office Rules that When They Have Taken Lands in Severalty They Have All the Rights of Citisenship.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, April 12 .- (Special Telegram.)-The nomination of Patrick M. Mullen of Omaha, which the president sent to the senate today for receiver of public moneys at Juneau, Alaska, was accomplished at the earnest request of both Senators Dietrich and Millard, who have labored indefatigably for Mr. Mullen's appointment ever since it was announced that the land offices in Alaska would be consolidated at Juneau. Mr. Mullen, when the president's proclamation was issued discontinuing the land offices in Alaska and fixing an office at Juneau, was receiver of the land office at Rampart City. Immediately after the proclamation of the president was made public both senators from Nebraska at once began a canvase for Mr. Mullen, and the nomination of the Omaha man was brought about after an exceptionally vigorous campaign,

Teller Also Criticises Wu.

Mr. Teller criticised the Chinese minister "interfering" with pending legislation. "It never has been done in this country," said he, "and nothing in the treaty can be distorted into an excuse for such an act. No self-respecting nation ever has permitted such an interference in its affairs." He challenged any senator to point to precedent for such an act.

Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin interrupting, with a smile, said: "I accept the challenge." "I have no desire," replied Mr. Teller, "to fight a duel with the senator." Mr. Spooner then called attention to the ployes who had been appointed from South protests entered by the ambassador of Ger-Dakota since the state was admitted into many and the minister of Austria-Hungary the union. fifty-two widows. Mr. Richardson of Tennessee, said he had seen granted several pensions to the widows of presidents. The custom had stood from time immemorial. If this was the first case it might be desirable to stop and inquire as to the need. But as this was a time-honored precedent, Mr. Richardson declared he would be the last to break the precedent in the case of William McKinley. Mr. Richardson announced himself emphatically in favor of the bill.

Mr. Kleeberg of Texas, declared that if no other reason this pension should be passed because President McKinley wiped out the last vestige of sectionalism. As one who had "worn the gray" Mr. Kleeberg said he joined in this act of justice to the widow of one who had "worn the blue." A vote was then taken on ordering the bill to favorable report and without a dissenting voice action was taken, which was equivalent to passage of the bill. The calendar was entirely cleared of private pension bills, all of those reported being passed by the house, 177 in all, and including that to Mrs. McKinley. At 3:50 the house ad-

Banking interests in which the Moores are especially prominent have been heavy buyers of Louisville & Nashville, and one bank in particular is said to have called a number of loans this week so as to accumulate the money for its purchases of Louisville stock.

Record-Herald quotes Mr. Fish as saying:

The railroad managements of this country, without an exception, I believe, will hall with delight any method which proves effective in maintaining rates. Heretofore everything which has been tried has been more or less a failure and we are all hoping the remedy has at last been discovered. As to the right of the government to proceed by injunction, I cannot speak. Legal authorities seem to differ on the subject, but if such right does exist and the injunction proves an effective measure, the railroads and the public shall have found what they have long been seeking.

It is too early to express an opinion concerning the efficiency of the measure, and furthermore the right of the government to employ the injunction in this way has not been determined. I believe, however, that the rate situation is now better throughout the country than it has been for years and I presume this excellent condition is the result of a wholesale fear of the court's mandate. Record-Herald quotes Mr. Fish as saying:

Tangle Over Bassett Election.

BASSETT, Neb., April 12 .- (Special.) -The people of this place have become entangled in a controversy over the recent municipal election, and the matter will undoubtedly have to be settled in the courts. It appears that no notice was posted of the election as required by law and the ticket had thereon one man's name in two places he being a candidate of one caucus for a two-year term and of another caucus for the one-year term, to fill vacancy. The election board, which was for the most part composed of members of the board of trustees, canvassed the vote and made a finding in which what was known as the citizen's ticket, three members, were elected. Since that time the board of trustees, under advice of an attorney, has adopted a resolution declaring the election invalid and vold, and it will refuse to issue certificates to the ones so declared elected. The question of license was submitted directly to the people at the election and the result was two to one for license

Following the Flowers

Is a title always associated with the name of the author of that column in the Ladies' Home Journal, Eben E. Rexford, the Shiocton, Wis., poet and story writer. One always thinks of a nature lover like Mr. Rexford as the possessor of bounding health and superabundant vitality, so it sounds odd to hear that he was a confirmed dyspeptic not so very long ago. The story of his trouble and its cure is best told in Mr. Rexford's own words. "Having need of a remedy for indigestion" writes the floricultural editor of

"I decided giving Kodol Dyspepsia Cure a trial, expecting only temporary relief, but am glad to say that a few bottles afforded permanent relief and restored the tone of the digestive organs to its natural condition. I can heartily recommend it."

NORMAL CONDITIONS

are referred to by Mr. Rexford as natural conditions. This is undoubtedly the correct view. The normal man is a healthy man. Health depends on the digestion. If the digestion is good the health is good. If the digestion is poor the general health always suffers.

DIGESTION IS NATURAL; INDIGESTION UNNATURAL

But so many of us have strayed away from natural conditions that few people are really healthy. Hasty eating, irregular hours, mild discipation, a dozen other stomach destroying customs of the day have made dyspepsia and indigestion the characteristic complaints of the generation. If the sufferers knew how easily such troubles can be cured there probably wouldn't be so many of them.

KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE

"I was troubled with indigestion a long time," writes W. H. Bozarth, prominent merchant and mill owner of Pure Air, Mo, "I consulted a number of doctors and tried many kins as of medicine but nothing did me any good. Finally I took Kodol Dyapensia Cure. A few bottles cured me of my complaint. I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from stomach trouble."

"I had Dyspepsia for fifteen years." says Jerre Long, general merchant of Blue Knob, Pa. "I tried all kinds of remedies and got medicine from many doctors but got no relief. Lately I have been using Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and have been feeling better ever since I started. I have an appetite and what I cat agrees with me. I must give the credit to Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and would recommend it to all others suffering from the dreaded disease of dyspepsia."

for His Crime.

DETROIT, Mich., April 12.-At midnight tonight, seventy-two hours after Prof. Joseph M. Miller murdered Miss Carrie M. Jennett with a hatchet, he was in Jackson prison, sentenced to spend the rest of his life there at hard labor. He was arraigned in the recorder's court this morning on the charge of murder. His attorney, who was appointed by the court raised the question of Miller's sanity and Judge Murphy accordingly appointed a committee of three, alienists, Drs. Emer son, Hitchcock and Kennedy, to examine Miller. His plea was withheld pending their examination. After a careful examination the physicians came into court this afternoon and announced that they were agreed that there was no symptom of ineanity in the defendant. Miller was then ordered to plead and the confessed murderer said in a low voice:

Miller Pleads Guilty.

"Guilty." Evidence was then introduced to prove the death of Miss Jennett. At its conclusion Miller's attorney, F. C. Chamberlain, addressed the court. He congratulated the police department on their efficient work in running down the murderer and securing his confession and said that he had no sympathy with Miller, who deserved the extreme penalty of the law. In sentencing Miller Judge Murphy called him a demon and said that he considered that the sentence he was about to impose on him was inadequate to his horrible crime. Sentence was then passed. Miller was taken back to jail, where he remained until he left for the station. Accompanied by two officers, he went to Jackson at 8:20 o'clock over the Michigan Central railroad. Mrs. Miller, his wife, who has been an invalid for several years, is prostrated at her home and is in a dangerous condil She at first refused to believe her husband guilty, even after he had confessed, but as the truth gradually forced itself on her she collapsed.
