Lighton's Erratic Article in Atlas Monthly Goes Unanswered.

MAGAZINE EDITORS IN SELF-DEFENSE

They Assert that Their Descriptive Writers Are So Uniformly Inaccurate that Rejoinders Fairly Swamp Them.

The severe strictures upon Omaha which recently appeared in the Atlantic Monthly and which created such resentment in this city have been brought to the attention of the editors of the magazine, but they do not want to give space to a reply. A week ago Victor Rosewater telegraphed the editors asking permission to make corrections and received an adverse answer. He did not stop with this, but wrote to the editors on the subject, by the following correspondence showing the position taken.

OMAHA, April 7.—Editor Atlantic Monthly, Boston—Dear Sir: I regret that your answer to my letter of the 2nd inst. is so unfavorable. I am sorry to hear that you have no opportunity to correct through your magazine some of the misrepresentations embodied in an editorial article on Omaha in your April number, and hope you will see your way clear to reconsider your decision.

The people of Omaha who have had the article in question read, and whose attention is quite justly attracted to the facts which are uncalculated to reflect on our city and its people, if they have any doubts of this you can readily ascertain the feeling by corresponding with the agents who handle your publications here, am sure that, although it will be merely a matter of justice after an injury has been inflicted, a favorable response to my request will be appreciated by your readers here as an indication that you wish to deal fairly by the city.

While I assume to myself no special authority to challenge your right to publish to write to you because I believe I am familiar with the past and present conditions here. As to my literary ability, I refer you to the chapter on Omaha in the book recently published in this city in their "Historic Towns" series. Trusting you will give the request more serious consideration, I am,

VICTOR ROSEWATER.

The reply is as follows: BOSTON, April 10.—Dr. Victor Rosewater, Omaha—Dear Sir: We have your letter of April 7 and appreciate your reasons for desiring to make reply to Mr. Lighton's article. There are many reasons why we do not print your letter. First, we do not print from our point of view in printing rejoinders to these descriptive articles in our city and state which have been appearing in the magazine.

Secondly, the conditions of magazine publication make it necessary that at least three months, and usually four months, must elapse between the time of the original article and the reply. By that time most people have lost interest in the subject under discussion.

In the second place, we have found that no matter how carefully we select the writer of such papers and how diligent we may be in avoiding what seems to us controversial matter, it is impossible to please all of the inhabitants of any particular section of the country. Indeed, the Atlantic's descriptive articles are uniformly called forth so many rejoinders that we should have to print them in self-defense, if for no other reason, to ask our critics to print their rejoinders elsewhere.

In writing to you we do not enter into the question of Mr. Lighton's accuracy. As a resident of Omaha, however, we supposed that he was a competent person to prepare the article in question. In our opinion, his statements may prove desirable as he made much more effectively through the daily press than through a monthly magazine. Very truly yours,

THE EDITORS.

Chicago Board of Trade Injunction Suit Against Alleged Buckets.

It is understood that the case of the Chicago Board of Trade against the Boyd Commission company will not be decided by Judge Munger until the circuit court of appeals acts upon two similar cases, which are pending upon appeal from the decision of district judges of the United States courts in other states. In these prosecutions the Board of Trade seeks to restrain the Western option through company from sending board of Trade market quotations to firms which are charged by the board with operating bucket shops, and to restrain the said firms from using the quotations of the Chicago board in their business. In every case the defense has been the same, the firm accused of operating bucket shops claiming that their transactions are identical with those on the Chicago board, and that if their trading is illegal the trades on the board are likewise outside the pale of the law, and that, therefore, a court of equity cannot act in the premises.

The condition which confronts Judge Munger is that upon the same issues, with practically the same evidence before them, two judges of the United States district court have taken opposite views of the case, one holding that the injunction should be granted, and the other deciding that it should not. In both cases appeals have been taken by the defeated parties, and two courts of appeal will pass upon the case. It is said that if these courts should each sustain the opinion of the district judge before whom the case was tried, an ap-

MEETS FRIEND OF HIS BOYHOOD DAYS

F. J. Bengels Then Tells How C. M. Schwab at One Time Drove Hack and His Brother Washed Buggies.

A good American, whose father used to keep a lively stable back in Loretto, Pa., came into Omaha on a special car yesterday afternoon and met a man whom he hasn't seen since they were to play "midgets" together on the streets of Loretto.

The first man was J. E. Schwab, brother of Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation, and himself a prominent figure in it. The other man was F. J. Bengels, now with an Omaha carpet company.

Mr. Schwab is returning to Pittsburgh, his home, after a western tour that has included Redlands, Del Monte, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Colorado Springs and Denver. In the special car "Heuleme" with him are his wife, who has visited in the west for some time, their son, Charles, aged 5, daughter, Dorothy, aged 3, Mrs. Schwab's aunt, Mrs. McMullen of Pittsburgh, and Mr. Schwab's friends, William Fenerty of Pittsburgh and H. M. Foster of New York.

They spent their hour of waiting in and about the Burlington station, which Mr. Schwab pronounced the finest he had ever seen. They were delighted with their entire trip and when Mr. Schwab was asked if he had any notion of "buying up California," he answered: "No, but I am mightily tempted to rent a part of it through the winters hereafter."

Of business, Mr. Schwab said: "This is purely a pleasure trip and that he is spending his time forgetting the things to which he devotes himself at home. Were Boys Together.

When Mr. Bengels approached and introduced himself, Mr. Schwab remembered him instantly, grasped his hand cordially and chatted with him until the bell tapped, then waved a farewell from the car window. Later, Mr. Bengels said:

"When I last saw that man, more than twenty years ago, we were boys together at Loretto, where my father kept a hotel. John Schwab kept a lively barn, his elder son, Charles, drove a hack between Loretto and Cresco, and this boy played around the place, a competitor of mine for the task of watering Andrew Cernig's carriage team, in which job there was a quarter pocket money every time we could get it. Later Charles went to Braddock as a clerk, made a record by his business ability, got in with the steel men and finally placed himself in the position that gave him the boost when Eric had to step out. Some people think J. E. is going up by clinging to his brother's coat tails, but that isn't true. He has climbed by the same course and without assistance and I think he is about as good an illustration as is Charles of what the right kind of boy can do in America."

J. E. Schwab declined to stand for a photograph yesterday, but had a picture taken for his friends, but he received him other than the president, two years his senior, who is now in New York, and whom he is the counterpart in every feature.

CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT M. S. Rowley Said to Have Padded Payrolls at Armour & Company's.

Through nearly all yesterday Martin S. Rowley sat in the office and corridors of the county jail, with his hat on as though expecting to be allowed to depart any minute. No friends called, but he received three telegrams from Chicago, where he has an uncle prominent in banking circles, but with whom he is said to have had a falling out some time ago. When seen in the jail office in the evening by a reporter for The Bee, he showed sorry, but he politely declines to say anything concerning his alleged embezzlement of $4,800 from the Armour company, because of which Justice Altstadt issued a warrant Saturday night on which he was arrested and jailed under $4,000 bond, which he has not yet been able to furnish, though he at first thought he could readily do so. His preliminary hearing will be in Altstadt's court Tuesday, April 22.

It is said that it has been known by the principal office men of the company in South Omaha for a week past that something was amiss, but they were not permitted to know until the company's principal Langdon was sent out from Chicago and there were secret conferences. Rowley had been in special favor for a long time and Mr. Armour knew him personally and had such an interest in him that when Mrs. Rowley was sick some time ago he sent his special physician from Chicago to attend her.

The alleged misappropriation of funds is reported to have been accomplished by inserting fictitious names in the payroll, of which Rowley had control by reason of his position as head timekeeper. It is said, too, that the discrepancies were discovered when the foremen of certain departments had money sent them for men who had never worked under them. The report that spread because of this resulted in the Guaranty Surety Company of North America, by whom Rowley was bonded, getting a detective agency to work and Rowley was arrested at his home, Twenty-first and I streets, South Omaha, late Saturday evening. Formerly he lived at Twenty-eighth and Leavenworth streets, Omaha. He has a wife and child and has had an excellent reputation, with no more serious charges against him than that of being a Jewish entertainer and too generous.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS COMING

Nebraska Agents Will Gather in Omaha to Meet National President.

There will be a large gathering of life insurance agents in Omaha on May 15. They will come from all parts of the state for the purpose of meeting William Wymoa of Chicago, the president of the National Association of Life Underwriters.

Mr. Wymoa came west on the invitation of the Nebraska Life Underwriters' association, and his presence in the city will be the occasion for a state reunion, at which matters of interest to the men engaged in the work will be discussed. The interests of the association will not be forgotten and it is expected that the national president will have something to say upon that subject, and that he will show the beneficent results of associations in states where the agents have organized for mutual protection.

The Nebraska association is in good shape, but its membership comes mainly from Omaha and Lincoln. An effort will be made to secure members from all parts of the state and for this purpose invitations will be extended to prominent agents in every city in Nebraska. The conference and reception will close with a banquet to be given on the night of May 15.

TO SETTLE MORAN ESTATE

Lawyer for Heirs of Eccentric South Omaha Man Arrives from New York.

E. J. Garvan of New York City is in the city, as the attorney of the heirs of Frank Moran, who died at South Omaha a few weeks ago. Mr. Garvan represents the children of a sister of the dead expressman and Sister Flavin, a member of the order of the Sisters of Mercy, a sister of the deceased. The estate consists of a lot on Douglas street near Twenty-fourth and a small amount of personal property. The clients of Mr. Garvan are the only heirs of Moran known to the Omaha authorities and these persons are certain that they are the only heirs in existence. Mr. Garvan will make arrangements to distribute on the property, and it will be distributed among the heirs, as so far as known, Mr. Moran had no debts.

EDITORIAL PARTY PAUSES

Northwestern Scribes Spend Half-Hour Stopover in City of Omaha.

The editorial party from the northwest, numbering sixteen persons, who will attend the convention of the National Editorial association at Hot Springs, Ark., arrived in Omaha over the Union Pacific at 4:45 Sunday afternoon and left thirty minutes later over the Wabash for St. Louis.

The party comprised the following: Albert Tozier of Portland, Ore., editor of the Pacific Farmer, president of the National Editorial association; F. S. Hardin of McMinville, Ore., editor of the Telephone Register, president of the Oregon Press association; accompanied by his wife, A. Y. Beach of Lake View, Ore., editor of the Examiner; F. B. Evans of Paisley, Ore., publisher of the Post; Will A. Steel of Alaska, editor of the Nome City News; Orso Strong of Tacoma, Wash., editor of the West Coast Traction; C. H. Fisher of Boise City, Idaho, editor of the Evening Capital-News, accompanied by his wife; Edgar DeWitt of Ritzville, Wash., editor of the Adams County News, accompanied by his wife; D. C. Brit of Cholan, Wash., editor of the Chelan Leader, accompanied by his wife and son; Colonel E. A. Slack of Cheyenne, Wyo., editor of the Leader; Mrs. George W. Perry of Rawlins, Wyo., wife of the editor of the Republican, accompanied by her sister; Joe Carl of Portland, Ore., cartoonist of the Chronicle.

A delegation of six from the Tri-City Press club of Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs, made up of I. A. Medlar, E. O. McCune, E. S. Bradley, B. Ryan, G. H. Gillespie and Frank Wickiser, armed with cigars for the men, flowers for the women and a large quantity of literature, met the delegates at the depot, and escorted it to Omaha, meanwhile putting in vigorous ballots for Omaha as a convention city, and urging the delegates to hold their 1903 convention in this city.

Several of the wives of the Tri-City men met the women of the party at the depot, and entertained them during the half hour they were in the city. E. O. Mayfield and J. H. Tanner joined the party here, and will represent the Tri-City club at the Hot Springs convention.

The delegates reported a very pleasant trip, the only thing happening to mar it being the illness of the young son of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt C. Britt. This compelled Mrs. Britt to stop off at Council Bluffs, where she will be entertained for a day or so at the home of a relative, John Press.

Will A. Steel of the Nome City News reports everything prosperous in Uncle Sam's possessions in the far north. He gets $20 a thousand for printing letter heads, he says, and everything else is in proportion. Single copies of his paper, the News, sell for "two bits," 25 cents.

A. Y. Beach of Lake View and F. B. Evans of Paisley, Ore., rode a buckboard 175 miles to reach the nearest point on the Union Pacific, where they joined the rest of the party. "On the way," said Mr. Beach, "I heard his name in the Plamoth river, which is in Plamoth county, Oregon."

All the delegates expressed themselves as highly pleased with the reception given them by the Tri-City club members and the wives, and wished our way down to Omaha as the convention city in 1903.

LOECHNER BOLTERS' DEFENSE

It is Said to Be that Majority Candidate Refused to Support Bryan.

Saturday night is the time fixed for the report of the committee appointed by the Jacksonian club to investigate the action of the South Omaha members who bolted the nomination of Loechner in the last municipal campaign.

At the meeting of the club last Saturday night it was said that the committee had prepared a report, but that it desired to confer a story heard since it was made out and that this would delay the report one week, the committee, however, promising to make its findings known to the members of the organization at the next meeting.

The report that the insurgents were to make a defense on the ground that the late candidate for mayor in the Magic City had refused to support Bryan in the last political campaign is laughed at by the members of the club, who are responsible for the present investigation.

The defense outlined is merely a subterfuge said some of the bolters. "The men who bolted Loechner did not do it because he failed to support Bryan, but I guess it is a fact that they are now setting up that defense. It makes no difference to the club whether Loechner supported Bryan or not. He was the regular democratic nominee in South Omaha and no man can bolt democratic nominees regularly and fairly named, and hold membership unquestioned in the Jacksonian club. The test of membership in the club is a man's loyalty to the party, not to a faction."

Loechner bolted a regular nominee of the party he could have been disciplined and if the fact had been known it is hardly possible that he would have received the nomination; but, having received it, it was the duty of every democrat to support him, and the plea of the bolters that Loechner had been guilty of party treason will do them no good when the report of the committee has been received proving them guilty as charged."

It is said that the South Omaha democrats who have been charged with bolting the ticket are going to make a fight for their standing in the club.

ANOTHER LINE TO THE COAST

Perry S. Heath Says Chicago & Great Western Contemplates Building.

SURVEY TO SALT LAKE ALREADY MADE

New Line, According to Mr. Heath's Statement, Would Reduce Time to the Pacific by Twelve Hours.

Perry S. Heath, editor of the Salt Lake City Tribune, who was first assistant postmaster general under the McKinley administration, arrived in Omaha from the west over the Union Pacific Sunday afternoon, and left soon afterward for Chicago, where he will remain several days. Mr. Heath is much interested in railroad building, especially such as will contribute to the material prosperity of Salt Lake City, and in this connection he expects that something will be doing inside of a year on the Chicago & Great Western's prospective line to the Mormon metropolis and the coast.

"There is a strong probability," said he, "of this being a great transcontinental trunk line. There is now a final survey between Sioux City and Salt Lake City, which strikes straight across the line across the country, and which, if extended on to the coast, will reduce the time to San Francisco by twelve hours. This line, as projected, has less than 1 per cent grade. A. B. Stickney is back of the movement."

"The only hitch now in the way of building is an outlet to the west out of Salt Lake City. If the company can make satisfactory arrangements with the Southern Pacific to let it into San Francisco there is no doubt in my mind but that the road will be built."

Nucleus of the New Line.

"Building is already in progress between Fort Dodge and Omaha. I understand the roadbed between Sioux City and Fort Dodge will be prepared for the rails some time this summer. This last project is, in my opinion, a part of the great transcontinental trunk line, the final survey of which has been completed as far west as Salt Lake City."

"Salt Lake City is on the crest of a great railroad boom just now," continued Mr. Heath, "and I think as a city it has a brilliant future before it. I predict that it will outstrip Denver before many years. Fifteen hundred men are now at work on the Leamington cutoff, which so reduces curves and grades as to shorten the distance to San Francisco over the Southern Pacific by 110 miles."

Mr. Heath was accompanied by his wife, who, after reaching Chicago, will go to Louisville, Ky., to visit with relatives. Mr. Heath expects to return to Salt Lake City about Wednesday of this week.

BRYAN JOINS IN THE PROTEST

Co-Operates with New York Club in Denouncing Sending Embassy to Coronation.

NEW YORK, April 14.—The Thirteen club of this city had a dinner tonight at the rooms of the New York Press club. The business before the club was that of making a formal protest against the United States sending an embassy to the coronation of King Edward. William J. Bryan was invited, but sent instead a letter which read in part: I am entirely in sympathy with you in your criticisms of the attitude of the administration in sending a special commission to represent this country at the crowning of a king. The most extravagant demands of courtesy and international friendship do not require us to surrender our convictions in regard to government or our disapproval of regal birth or military force as the foundation of governmental authority."

Kodol Digests what you Eat Dyspepsia Cure

Some people wonder why pepsin preparations don't help their dyspepsia. They probably suffer because they can't digest foods that pepsin does not affect. The reason is, pepsin digests only nitrogenous foods, while different substances are required to digest the variety of other foods necessary for proper nourishment. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure contains all the digestants, and is capable of completely digesting every kind of food. That is why it digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the variety you want; and that is why it cures indigestion, even after everything else has failed. As it is the only preparation of the kind known, the demand for it has become enormous. Its use affords instant relief from all forms of stomach trouble.

TAKE NATURE'S OWN MEDICINE.

Nature provides a cure for everything if we know where to look for it, and SMITH'S GREEN MOUNTAIN RENOVATOR is a medicine of her own making.

Among the roots and herbs which grow in old Vermont there are some which have been shown by experiment and experience to be the best, quickest and safest cures for blood troubles, malaria, rheumatism, scrofula and all ailments of the liver, kidneys and stomach—that is to say, more than ninety per cent. of all known diseases.

These roots and herbs are compounded in Smith's Green Mountain Renovator and offered to you as the best medicine which can be made. As a matter of fact, it isn't made at all—it is simply compounded skillfully and scientifically.

Any dealer in medicines will tell you that New England, and particularly, the State of Vermont, is one of the hardest places in the world to establish a business. The people up in that section of the country are very careful what they buy, decline to buy new things and never make two purchases of an unsatisfactory article. Yet up in Northern Vermont you will find that almost everybody uses Smith's Green Mountain Renovator, and on every hand you will hear words of the highest praise for it.

This has been the case for more than twenty-five years, and this remarkable medicine has grown stronger and stronger in popularity as the years go by, although, until its present owners got hold of it, it has been advertised only by word of mouth.

This proves better than pages of argument that here we have a medicine that meets every possible requirement and is really good and reliable.

You ought to use it for yourself and your family. We are glad to be in a position to offer it to you and to recommend it.

When the unmistakable signs that your blood is out of order appear, take Smith's Green Mountain Renovator at once. The bad complexion, the dull eye, the lack of strength and endurance, the loss of vigor, all tell the story of impure blood. Pains in the back, rheumatism, constipation and all other diseases due to the liver and kidneys can be immediately relieved and permanently cured by this purely vegetable product of the Green Mountain State.

It is the first and foremost duty that you owe to yourself and your family to see that everybody is kept well, and you ought further to see that no harmful, dangerous drugs are used.

This medicine is the safest and best for every member of the family, young or old. It is a renovator of the entire system.

Of course, you want blood that is pure itself, and you want sound, firm flesh, strong muscles and nerves, and clear complexion and a continual feeling of brightness and cheerfulness. These all come from the use of Smith's Green Mountain Renovator, and if you will give it a trial you will say, as thousands of others do, that no medicine you ever knew anything about was its equal.

We sell it with the strongest kind of a money-back guarantee. Any sufferer may come and buy this medicine, give it a fair trial and judge it by the results. If the results are not beneficial, all you have to do is to ask for your money back and you will get it promptly.

The Best Office Building

Moving is not pleasant to think about except when the prospect of a handsome office is in prospect.
