"What's the score ?"

On Thursday the National league opened its playing season before such crowds as have not been present in years. New York had 24,000 persons, Cincinnati had a record attendance, over 10,000, St. Louis had 10,-600, and Brooklyn 9,000. Over 53,000 people at four games is certainly a most encouraging beginning from the magnates' point of view. It indicates better than any words the hold the game has on the American people, and forecasts a successful season. war is over.

On Wednesday the Western season opens, with Milwaukee at Omaha, Peoria at Des Moines, Kansas City at Colorado Springs and St. Joseph at Denver. The teams are all in excellent condition and a lively race is expected from the very first day. It is only natural that Des Moines, Peoria and Milwaukee will be handleapped to some ex-tent owing to the circumstances under which these teams were gotten together, but the older members of the league are in excellent condition and the individual roster of the newer clubs is such as guaran-tees their ability to make it at leagt in teresting at the start and probably un-comfortably lively before the close of the be found President Sexton's instructions to his umpires, which will be read with interest by players and public alike. Beginning Tuesday the boys start on their first trip, playing the Cedar Rapids league team there, then meeting Luther college at Decorah, Ia., and finally running up to Minneapolis, where they play the University of Minnesota two games. The outcome of these last two contests will be especially interesting, as a game between these teams last year was the flercest one of the season, the Gophers finally winning. In May comes a longer trip with a schedule of eighteen games, and a large share of the laurel wreaths will certainly fall to the Nebraska boys on both journeys.
