Hostesses Bave Something Else to Do and Outlook for Any but Small Sert of Deings is Not Bright.

Socially, the calendar for the week inzluded practically nothing, and were it not for the fact that several of the young women who have spent the greater part of the last two months out of town are expected home soon the outlook would be dreary indeed for those who enjoy diversions of the livelier sort. Their homecoming is being generally anticipated for those of the hostesses who are not too occupied with spring house-cleaning (for even the fashionable women have this feature of the spring to meet) have declared that they will do nothing more "until the girls come

A good proportion of those of the fashionables who have not been in Chicago shopping or on some other egrand have spent much of their time at the Country club or Field club of late playing golf or condoling with the rest of society that there is nothing going on. As a matter of fact, outside of some half dozen dinners that have been neither large or especially elaborate, the theater, and, of course, the Burton Holmes lectures in the interest of two organizations that always receive fashionable support, the Country club and Field club have afforded about the only gatherings of the

KELLY'S BOQUET OF SONGS

"All in a Garden Pair" Proves a De lightful Evening with Flowers and Music.

A song recital on an original plan was given last Thursday night by Mr. Thomas J. Kelly and a few pupils at his studio in the Davidge block. The program was made up entirely of flower songs grouped under the title "All in a Garden Fair." Mr. Kelly sang a dozen songs as illustrations of case and artistic work, in his usual felicitous way. He sang, among other things, "My Love's an Arbutus," "A Violet in Her Lovely Hair," "The Dew Upon the Lily," "My Love is Like a Red, Red Rose," "To Lilac," "The Wind Had From the Almont Flung." "Dubist wie eine blume" (Rubinstein), and "Come Into the Garden, Maud." Miss Janet Marriott, a pretty young woman with a very pretty voice, sang "Four Leaf'd Mrs. William S. Rector has gone south Clover" and "Violets" in a dainty and natural manner. Miss May Weaver displayed a fine voice and much musical intelligence "Rose Songs." by Arthur Curry She sang with decided show of musical temperament. Mrs. Martha Miller Kelly and Mrs. Aller P. Ely, contraltos, sang each a delightful number, and Mr. Derrick, though suffering from nervousness, showed a fine quality of

Benefits of Massage.

The people of European countries patronize the bath in one form or another for nearly all ills which flesh is heir to, and the steadily increasing patronage proves the efficacy of the treatment. In Norway and Sweden the massage treatment has reached its highest development and graduates from the celebrated institutes from these two countries have carried that healing and health-giving art all over the world Every part of the system is benefited. Neryous troubles disappear, the skin becomes clear and healthy and it is like an infusion of new life and vigor. Those who are too thin or who suffer from excessive stoutness will find a sure remedy in this treatment. and it is the only safe and permanent means of developing the bust, rounding out the figure and removing wrinkles. A visit to the Bathery and a few trial treatments will convince the most incredulous. The new style Turkish baths are delightful and different from anything heretofore known. Trained women give the baths and treatments. For ladies only. Second floor, Bee building, rooms 216 to 220.
