HALE AND HEARTY AT 75.

Mrs. Susan B. Ryerson, who is over 75 years of age, says Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey prolonged her life; she is as hale and hearty and feels as young as when 20 years old.

MRS. SUSAN B. RYERSON, 75 YEARS OLD.

GENTLEMEN—I was very ill with grip and so run down that the doctors had given me up on account of my age—I am now 75 years old. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey saved and prolonged my life.

I was induced to try it, not because I thought it would benefit me, but for the reason that I had read that others had been cured by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. I never am without it. It gives me great strength. It makes me feel young and I enjoy ripe old age. Not long ago one of my grandchildren was taken ill with a cold and I know that a few doses of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey saved it from serious sickness. I have asked my son, Dr. John W. Pierce, a well known physician of West Eighth street, Coney Island and Sheepshead bay, to recommend it to his patients. I cannot speak too highly of Duffy's Malt Whiskey. SUSAN B. RYERSON.

608 St. John's Place, Brooklyn.

We receive thousands of letters from old women and old men whose experience has been similar to that of Mrs. Ryerson, who say Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a godsend to suffering humanity.

recent speech of General Funston, whom he described as the "Jayhawker brigadier from the windswept plains, the mightiest Samson that ever will wield the jawbone of an ass as a weapon of war." Mr. Carmack said death had cheated Funston of some illustrious victims, like former Senator Sherman and former President Harrison, but there were still enough to keep him busy. Papers had quoted Funston as saying that the president entirely approved his speech and wanted him to accept an invitation from the junior senator from Massachusetts to go to Boston and talk to the people there about hanging the senior senator from Massachusetts, but the plain truth was that Funston could not hang anybody.

Funston Should Go Back.

"Funston should go back to the Philippines—to the land where there was plenty of hemp, and if men are to be hanged without regard to law for speaking words calculated to incite insurrection," said he, "the first neck to feel the strangling clutch of the scaped rope should be the heroic gullet of Funston." Ever since he had been in the Philippines he had been pouring forth tirades of indiscriminate insult against the whole people, and had outrageously insulted the very men upon whom the commission was relying for aid in pacifying the country. He also had it on the very highest authority that a speech made by the senator from Indiana (Mr. Beveridge), had been circulated broadcast throughout the country with an exceedingly pernicious effect upon the natives.

To Exploit Philippines.

The dominant idea of the bill now before the senate, said he, was to exploit the Philippines. It was proposed to make a wholesale grant of franchises and concessions and to dispose of the people's lands to foreign syndicates and corporations without giving the people themselves any voice in the business. The whole bill was a pitiful evasion of a plain duty. We had a right to demand and the Filipinos have a right to demand, that the administration shall at least define its policy in the Philippines.

"Upon what fact or experience," he said, "did they base their belief in the purity of carpetbag government?" He spoke of "the horrors of carpetbag government in the south," and said that "the republicans gave no heed to the cry of an oppressed and plundered people, though they were their own people, of their own blood." He declared that from the very first outbreak there had been a conspiracy to suppress the truth and to whitewash every outrage in the Philippines.

In conclusion he said that he had not been influenced in this matter by any low desire for party advantage. He only wished to see the country recalled from the bloody doctrines of bloody men and return to the peaceful paths by which it had ascended in safety and security to glory and power.

YOUR SPRING CLEANING

Won't be all done until you have cleansed and set things to rights in your system. There are those humors that make you break out and feel tired, that take away your appetite, too.

You'll have those dull headaches, those bilious turns, fits of indigestion, that tired feeling and that eruption, until you get rid of those unhealthy accumulations.

That's certain.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cleanses the system, sets things to rights in it, makes the blood pure and rich, strengthens all the organs and functions.

That's why so many take it every spring.

"My husband has been taking Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring. He always has a cough in the spring and sometimes has chills, but has had neither this spring, and we give all the credit to Hood's Sarsaparilla." Mrs. W. G. Hieronymus, Sedalia, Mo.

"We have been using Hood's Sarsaparilla for several years, and have not found any other medicine equal to it as a tonic and blood purifier. We have used it as a spring medicine with excellent results." Susie De Muth, Bloomfield, Ia.

Colleges Play Chess by Cable.

BOSTON, April 25.—The fourth annual cable chess match between the American College Chess league, consisting of the clubs of Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Princeton universities, and the chess clubs of Oxford and Cambridge began today. The gymnasium of the Boston Athletic club has been handsomely decorated for the event. Six large boards with movable pieces have been arranged behind the tables of the players, so that the spectators may follow the progress of the games, as the moves, actually made at this end and at the British Chess club, Whitehall court, London, where the British end of the contest is conducted, are repeated. These contests are for possession of the costly and handsome trophy presented by Prof. Isaac L. Rice of New York four years ago. The three previous matches were played at the Knickerbocker Athletic club in New York. This year, however, the students accepted the invitation of the Boston Athletic club, an organization which has taken much interest in chess of late years.
