

BASE BALL GETS GOOD START

Season Opens with Best of Prospects on Western Circuit.

UMPIRE TRIUMPHS OUT AT DENVER

Exemplary Players Fined and Ejected from Opening Game for Using Bad Language in Regard to Decisions.

Started splendidly. That's the unanimous verdict of fans as regards the present championship season, and only one ballot was taken. Omaha's share has only been what was expected. The Rourke family has made good on its promise and really seems that Omaha has a look in for the pennant this year. Milwaukee, of course, is not in such condition as to make any team extend itself, but we have evidence that the Omaha are capable of playing first class ball. Duffy's men are individually strong and once they get into the work with each other will make all their opponents hustle. Denver and St. Joe were probably the most evenly matched antagonists of the week unless it was Des Moines and Peoria, the latter pair being in another class, however. Erratic work marked the playing of all the teams but Omaha. It is too soon, though, to give a line on the season's outcome save in the way of attendance. This has been good everywhere, and augurs well for the financial success of base ball in the west this season.

Denver was treated to a most unwelcome performance on the day of the opening, when Umpire Stearns was forced to exercise his authority and put four Denver players out of the game. Of course the umpire came in for a fierce roasting from the patrons and the press, who resurrected his old playing sobriquet of "Dixie" Dan, and howled it at him in raucous chorus. Stearns was undaunted, though, and the game since the first day have been marked by much less demonstrative proceedings on the part of Parkie Wilson and his gang. It is just as well to have it understood at the outset that the umpire is playing the game and not the players. It will prevent lots of unpleasantness. One feature of the affair at Denver was the promiscuous with which Stearns called the "stiff" of one "Blitz" Davis, the fat-headed player who made the playing of Jones out of the game for cursing him after being fined. Davis started some of his funny work, intending to turn the laugh on the umpire. He was fined and ejected from the game so quickly that he forgot to laugh himself. Dundon applied some of his choice collection of epithets to the umpire, and out went two $5 fines sticking to him, and then Captain and Manager Parke Wilson undertook to tell Stearns just what sort of a robber he is. Well, you all know how Parke can talk when he gets started. It cost him $10 and his position in the game. But Parke says he didn't use any language he considered vile. No, probably not, but happily, Parke isn't the criterion for polite society. If Stearns doesn't do anything else this summer he is entitled to thanks for having squelched the Denver disturbers so promptly.

President Sexton was in the city Thursday and watched the Omaha-Milwaukee game. He expressed himself as very well pleased with the outlook for the Western and gave it as his opinion that the fact in Milwaukee and Kansas City would terminate in its favor. Mr. Sexton modestly discussed the base ball situation in general and proved himself to be an even-tempered man of excellent judgment and wide information. It is an matter on which the Western league magnates are to be congratulated, that they have secured a man so well qualified to manage their affairs.

Beyond question the sensation of the week was the decision of the Pennsylvania supreme court in the Lajoie case. This so clearly and completely determines the status of the contract jumper that all base ball patrons and players alike should familiarize themselves with the law as laid down. When Colonel Rogers in 1901 applied for an injunction to restrain Lajoie from playing with the Philadelphia Athletics, the court of common pleas, discussing this point in denying the writ, said that no irreparable injury had been done to the plaintiff. On this point the supreme court says "no certain pecuniary standard exists for the measurement of damages" in some cases, and goes on:

He (Lajoie) has been for several years in the service of the plaintiff club, and has become re-accustomed to seasons of a constantly increasing salary. He has become thoroughly familiar with the action and methods of the other players in the club, and his own work is peculiarly meritorious as an integral part of the team work which is essential in addition to these features, which render his services valuable to the club. In addition to these features, which render his services peculiar and special value to the plaintiff, and not easily replaced, Lajoie is well known, and has great reputation among the patrons of the sport for ability in the position which he filled, and was thus a most attractive drawing card for the public. He may not be a star in the base ball firmament, but he is certainly a bright, particular star.

We feel, therefore, that the evidence in this case justifies the conclusion that the defendant's services are of a special value to the plaintiff, and that his departure from the plaintiff's service would result in a pecuniary loss to the plaintiff.

plaintiff, and so difficult of substitution, that their loss will produce irreparable injury, in the legal significance of that term, the plaintiff's retention of the defendant in violating his contract is a breach of good faith, for which there would be no adequate remedy at law. It is therefore, properly, calls for the aid of equity, in negatively enforcing the performance of the contract, by enjoining against its breach.

On the point of mutuality, it having been set up that under the reserve clause the owners of the club had an undue advantage over the player, the supreme court says: We have then, at the outset, the fact that the paragraphs now criticized and relied upon by the defendant, and that such acceptance was made part of the inducement for the plaintiff to enter into the contract. We have the further fact that the contract has been partially executed by services rendered and payment made therefor, so that the situation is not now the same as when the contract was wholly executory. The plaintiff has so far performed his part of the contract in entire good faith, in every respect, and it is not equitable to permit the defendant to withdraw from the agreement at this late day. The term "mutuality" or lack of mutuality, does not always convey a clear and definite meaning. In the contract now before the court, the defendant agreed to furnish his skilled professional services to the plaintiff for a period which might extend over three years, by proper notice given before the close of each current year. Another feature of the contract was the right to terminate the contract upon ten days' notice and the payment of salary in getting to his home.

But the fact of this concession to the plaintiff is distinctly set out as part of the consideration for the large salary paid to the defendant, and emphasizes, as such, and owing to the peculiarity of the services demanded by the business, the high degree of mutuality which must be maintained, the stipulation is not unreasonable. Particularly is this true when it is remembered that the defendant played for years under substantially the same regulations. We quoted that the terms of this contract manifest any lack of mutuality in that each party had the possibility of enforcing all the rights stipulated for in the agreement. The defendant's consent to the plaintiff for a valuable consideration the exclusive right to his professional services for a stipulated period, and the payment of salary therefor, was a consideration of equal value to the plaintiff, which could only be after due and reasonable notice and payment of salary to the defendant. Why should not a court of equity protect another player from the same treatment? The court cannot compel the defendant to play for the plaintiff, but it can restrain him from playing for another club in violation of his agreement. No reason is given why this should not be done, except that the plaintiff is not to be bound by the contract given to the plaintiff to terminate the contract upon ten days' notice. But this is mutually agreed to by both parties. It may be answered that, as already stated, the terms of the contract stipulated giving all the rights for which he stipulated in the agreement, which is all that he can reasonably expect.

The conclusion of the court is in part as follows: The remedy by injunction is elastic and adaptable, and is wholly within the control of the court. If it is applied in such a way as to be dissolved whenever a change in the situation in the attitude of the parties to the plaintiff should seem to require it. The granting of refusal of an injunction or its enforcement is a matter of discretion to be determined by the court in view of the particular facts of each case. Upon a careful consideration of the whole case, the court is of the opinion that the provisions of the contract are reasonable, and that the contract is fully adequate. The evidence in this case is sufficient to establish that the contract is not one of overreaching or unfairness. Substantial justice between the parties requires that the court should enforce the contract. The court is of the opinion that the contract is not one of overreaching or unfairness. Substantial justice between the parties requires that the court should enforce the contract. The court is of the opinion that the contract is not one of overreaching or unfairness. Substantial justice between the parties requires that the court should enforce the contract.

This decision will fall with great weight on the American league. Sixty-four players are affected by it. They are the stars of the game, and have been enlisted by reason of the great advance in salary over what the National league paid them. An idea of the extravagant salaries paid by the American may be gained from the following list, which, while not official, is said to be accurate:

LOCAL HORSE NEWS FOR WEEK

Breezy Bits of Gossip from Stud, Boulevard, Stable and Track.

During the week and after Superintendent Thomas of the Trotting club had sent out invitations to the amateurs, whenever and wherever they met, discussed the outlook for amateur racing with evident satisfaction. The initiatory step taken by the trotting club is one that will have the support of all the racing fans in Omaha, South Omaha and Council Bluffs. A meeting was held at the Millard Hotel last evening pursuant to the call and an association formed.

Last Sunday saw a number of good horses on the boulevard, and, as usual, many stopped at the track. James Peterson was driving a good roadster, and Jean de Kolty and ladies were on horseback. W. A. Watson was an interested visitor and declared he wouldn't be without a roadster and a horse for the money in the world. Mr. Watson has a well bred mare, Red Mae, and two colts, at the Keystone farm, but he has the desire of a true amateur to own something that can show its heels to the best of them. William Hope and Mr. Hay were out at the track. Mr. Hope and son were among the visitors. Arthur Briggs was also seen on the boulevard. Dick Thompson and wife were driving Blackhawk and stepped him a quarter, to a heavy bugger, in 40 seconds. George S. Cackley was behind a recent import, a 5-year-old gelding imported by Attorney General.

The first turn of the track, which was widened last week, is now fenced and the track is in condition for fast work. A visitor in Omaha last Sunday was Alfred von Gotthausen, the prominent Milwaukee business man and horseman, also owner of the well known Progress stud of that city. He was a visitor at the Keystone farm. His farm, the Progress Stud, is famed for the good stock it produces and its operations have been carried on by its owner purely for the pleasure he finds in breeding trotters. In his fifteen years' experience he has never sold a horse, "but," he said, "when I do sell one it's going to be a good one; then I can't sell it so fast and so for so much."

A recent arrival in Omaha is the Progress stud in a 4-week-old stallion colt by Dave Devil, 2:09, the stallion for whom Thomas W. Lawson of Boston recently paid $46,000. The colt's dam is Victoria McGregor, 2:19 1/2, considered by competent judges in different parts of the country to be the most beautiful trotting mare in the world. The colt is eligible to the $10,000 Horse Review Futurity, and, if "like father like son," as the students of pedigrees and breeding problems like to say, the colt will surely get a good slice of that classic purse. The Dave Devil colt is the result of a carefully planned cross. Mrs. von Gotthausen said: "As far as can be judged now, he combines everything desirable in the form of a show and race horse. This Dave Devil colt cannot help but be beautiful. His dam is considered by many the most beautiful trotting mare in the United States. His sire, Dave Devil, is rarely seen in the show ring. Dave Devil's sire, Mambrino King, was beaten but two or three times in his show ring career. Victoria McGregor is the dam of Victoria Phyllis, 2:15 1/4. Her owner is so well satisfied with her Dave Devil colt that he will breed her to another Dave Devil. The Progress stud is paying a great deal of attention to the breeding of trotting bred show animals and their brood mares are being mated to well known show horse producing stallions, not only to Messenger Wilkes, Nebraska Indiana on Saturday at Vinton park. Last season the Indians played 107 games and won 137 of these contests. Since their organization the Indians have won five games out of seven with the University of Nebraska, two out of three from the University of Iowa, and one from Indiana and Wisconsin.

The storms of last Tuesday and Friday stopped work on the Creighton field and blew down the fence, so the work is not entirely complete. A day or two more will see the grading completed and then the Creighton people can boast as fine a college diamond as they can desire, right in the city, accessible to three car lines. The week just passed has been a poor one for practice, but the men faced the wind every day save Tuesday. "Midget" O'Hanlon has made a considerable showing as pitcher and next season should be among the Creighton star twirlers. So also has Hanigan, subbing at short during Callahan's absence. McCaffrey, the utility man, grows better every day in practice, but somehow in a game he is assailed with a case of rattles. Second baseman Lynch is getting on his feet and is expected to play for his off day in the Rourke series by knocking a home run and fielding his position to perfection in the game at Lincoln Thursday. Creighton has taken a slump in his batting and now Dineen, Lynch and Clark are behind the bat. If they do not surpass him in percentage.

BASE BALL AT CREIGHTON

"Omaha's Own" Begins Its College Season with Strong Showing and High Hopes.

Another week of hard practice has passed, another game with the coming Western league champions has taken place, and now the Creighton university team, together with most of the colleges of the middle west, has entered upon its base ball season proper. Thursday "Omaha's Own" went down to Lincoln and met the Cotner university team, which, excepting Nebraska, has been a leader in base ball in this state. The Creighton team, which has won the 25 to 5. The score would indicate a poor game, and owing to the terrific wind, that almost tore a ball out of the pitcher's hand, it was not a first-class quality of ball. But by the way the local "varsity" lads stole bases, and Dave Devil, in particular, was a better one, shows that they learned a trick or two in their games with the league and in their practice work.

However, neither this game nor the game with Bellevue are a test of Creighton: tomorrow the game with Washburn College at Topeka, Kan., will be a better one. Washburn has long boasted one of the strongest teams in Kansas and her schedule includes all the big universities of the west. After tomorrow the next big game for Creighton at Omaha will be with the Nebraska Indians on Saturday at Vinton park. Last season the Indians played 107 games and won 137 of these contests. Since their organization the Indians have won five games out of seven with the University of Nebraska, two out of three from the University of Iowa, and one from Indiana and Wisconsin.

Speaking of Mambrino King and his very few defeats in the show ring it is interesting to note that one of his defeats, the second, was received at St. Louis and the winning stallion was the noted Cator farm premier Don Cosack, by August Belmont 386, then in charge of A. L. Thomas, now of Omaha. Mr. Roby is one of the rising western trainers, with past practical experience that will stand him in good stead the coming season. Being asked about his plans for the summer he said: "I will start throughout the Nebraska circuit from Omaha to Lincoln. From Lincoln I will go on to St. Joe, St. Joseph and other points." The fastest record horse in the stable is the mare Jessie King, 2:13 1/2, by Tacconet, sire of three, son of Nelson, 2:09; dam Jessie Harris, by Strathlain, 2:14; son of Strathmore; granddam Lady Harris, by Draco; near the money, C. C. Gill's Vermont, fourth dam Inding, by Gill's Vermont, and back to the 9th dam, by Imp. Diomed, thoroughbred. Jessie King raced through the Nebraska circuit last year and was never behind third money. Mr. Roby believes her capable of reducing her record by some seconds. In speaking of his plans concerning her he said: "I will enter her in the 2:17 paces through the Nebraska circuit and probably the 2:12 paces also, that is if they don't get to stepping faster than 2:14 or along there."

Another account that bids fair to break into the list of the money makers is C. C. D., a 5-year-old trotting mare, dam by Dr. Franklin Jr. C. C. D. has a nice high-acting, clean-cut way of going and will be carefully prepared for her first start at Seward, where she will try to get a piece of the $1,000 pie that is to be served out in the 2:27 trotting class. May Be it is a promising young pacer by Tacconet, dam by Broadway. Mr. Roby is especially sweet on a 3-year-old trotter, Effie H., by Tacconet, dam by Proctor. She will not be entered until the Seward meeting. Max, by Woodbine 2:15, is in her. Her sire, Effie H., dam is Ida Mays, the dam of three, list, by Maxie Cobb, 2:13 1/2. Mr. Roby has another green trotter called Peacock, by Hemlock. It is rumored that Mr. Haigh's horses will be wintered in Memphis next winter, in which case he will start work on some of his youngsters that are now on bond for this summer. Among them is a 3-year-old gelding, Joe Chamberlain, trotter, by Tacconet; dam by Alcantara; second dam, dam of Thornless, 2:18 1/2; and sired by Venture 1973. Also two 3-year-olds, Connetta, a fast pacing mare, by Tacconet, dam by Broadway, and the other a gelding, Pat Owey, by Tacconet, dam by Broadway. Mr. Haigh also owns a 3-year-old gelding, Heeluck, by The Conqueror, 2:12 1/2, dam Fame, by Hector.

It is clearly evident that Mr. Roby will have a fair string of horses this summer. Some of the Keystone farm horses were given their first workouts a week ago yesterday. Bachelor gelding, driven by John White, of the Oregon, driven by Superintendent Thomas, at a mile in 2:46, last eight in 19 seconds. Mr. Thomas then drove The Critic, a very fast 5-year-old, a mile in 2:46 last eighth in 15 seconds, and afterward repeated Bachelor Maid in 2:38, half in 1:19, last eighth in 17 1/2 seconds.

Thursday at the track was an extra number for the horsemen. Pat McAlvey gave Tom Dennison's fast pacer, The Kid, a 500-mile race. The Kid is very fast, having a trial of 2:14, but is being worked at present only to reduce flesh. Charles Roby repeated C. C. D. and Jessie King several slow miles, nothing faster than 2:45. Harry Tharpe drove out behind Henry Dunn's pacing mare, with a record of 2:14 1/2. This mare drove Miss Williams out a mile in 2:12 last and is rated as being one of the fastest in town. Mr. Dunn is having her prepared for the road, but will probably race her later in the year. Harry Tharpe, it will be remembered, drove Tharpe's pacer, with a record of 2:14 1/2, giving her a mark of 2:23 and a fraction. Mr. Tharpe watched Jessie being worked out by Charles Roby and predicted good things of his old pupil, whom he claims to have driven a mile in 2:12 over the Omaha half-mile track. Mr. Tharpe has charge of Dick Thompson's black pacer Blackhawk, who has been prominent in matinee races in past years, and will be in with the rest of them this year.

C. F. Reed's pacing stallion, Roby, 2:19 1/2, by Charles Caffrey; dam, Winnie Lee, the dam of two, by Red Buck, granddam also by Red Buck, will doubtless be placed in Charles Roby's hands to be trained this summer. Winnie Lee, the dam of Roby, is a well known mare to the older local horsemen and has a record under saddle of 2:36.

Fred Poffenbarger, now stationed at the Council Bluffs mile track, was another visitor at the Omaha track on Thursday. Mr. Poffenbarger undoubtedly has one of the very best stallions in the entire west. He calls him Baron Allerton. He is a 4-year-old trotter, with lots of speed, and will probably be trained this summer. He is by Allerton, 2:09 1/2, dam, Nelly T., 2:21 1/2, by Baron Wilkes, 2:18, granddam Belle Allerton, by Draco; near the money, C. C. D., a 5-year-old trotting mare, dam by Dr. Franklin Jr. C. C. D. has a nice high-acting, clean-cut way of going and will be carefully prepared for her first start at Seward, where she will try to get a piece of the $1,000 pie that is to be served out in the 2:27 trotting class. SKIN DISEASES. The skin is provided with millions of little pores and glands invisible to the natural eye, yet through these tiny outlets the larger part of the deadly matter that daily collects in the body is carried off. But nature never intended that poisons of an irritating or acid character should be eliminated through the skin, the Liver and Kidneys being their natural outlets, and it is when these important organs fail to perform their functions that these acid poisons are absorbed into the blood and find their way to the surface of the body through the pores and glands of the skin, producing intense itching and burning, inflammation and swelling, and eruptions of every conceivable size, shape and character.

Skin Diseases differ greatly in their general characteristics and degrees of intensity. Red and angry looking spots break out upon some part of the body with a mass of small pustules or blisters, from which is discharged a clear or straw colored fluid, which dries and flakes off in bran-like particles and scales, or forms into hard and painful sores and scabs. The skin often hardens and dries, cracks and bleeds from the effects of the fiery acids, which the blood is continually throwing off. Pimples, blackheads and blotches are evidences of a too acid blood, which has become inflamed and clogged the pores. Skin Diseases being dependent upon the same causes require the same treatment, which must be constitutional and not external. Nothing applied locally to the inflamed surface can bring much relief. The disfiguring eruptions will continue to annoy and pain you in spite of soaps, washes or powders. There is no hope of getting rid of a skin disease except through the purification of the depreciated blood and neutralizing and filtering out of the circulation all poisonous substances and acids.

The purifying and tonic properties of S. S. S. soon manifest their influence in skin affections; the debilitated system is invigorated and toned up, and the gradual disappearance of the eruptions show that the polluted blood is being brought back to its natural purity and strength. Old chronic skin disorders, which have resisted all the ordinary methods of treatment, readily yield to the curative powers of S. S. S., and there is no reason why the long time sufferer should feel resigned to his fate under the mistaken idea that some skin diseases are incurable, for S. S. S. has cured and is still curing cases perhaps far more desperate than yours. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy, containing no Potash, Arsenic or any of the poisonous drugs which constitute the basis of so many so-called skin cures.

Our Medical Department has been of the greatest assistance to thousands seeking relief from blood and skin troubles. John Bishop's stallion is the talk of the majority of Omaha horsemen, and is liable to furnish abundant material for the "around the stove circuit" next winter when the boys get together to rehearse the season's performance. Mr. Bishop's stallion is a 4-year-old, Robbie B. he is called, by Alcantara, 2:17, son of Alamo, 2:10 1/2, granddam Revena by Princess 536, and traces back to thoroughbred, Mr. Bishop is so confident of his horse's speed that he is willing to match any other trotter in town. That is the kind of talk that will make amateur racing a success this year, if anything does. Mr. Bishop has refused a bona fide offer of over $1,000 for the stallion. Since the horse will be placed in Pat McAlvey's hands for training, Mr. Bishop finds himself without a road horse, and wishing to be in with the amateurs, he purchased last Thursday from Clinton Briggs the 4-year-old bay mare Thorurara, by Thorndine, 2:14 1/2, the dam being the dam of his stallion—Carrara, by Hinder Wilkes.

The latest arrivals at the Keystone farm and the first foals of the year are a bay filly by The Conqueror, 2:12 1/2, out of Ogontz, by Acolyte, 2:21, the stallion Coxy, of Coxy's army fame, which he paid $21,000 for; granddam Mistress, in the great brood mare class, by Alcantara, 2:14, and a chestnut filly, by The Conqueror, dam Alcantara, full sister of Alcantara, 2:20 1/2, by Alcantara, dam Grace Medium, by Happy Medium. The two youngsters arrived last Thursday.

The annual meet of the State Sportsmen's association at the grounds of the Omaha Gun club was one of the most successful ever held, but in spite of the number of celebrated trap-shooters assembled the average made by all of the men who shot through the program of events was so low as to be frequently equaled by amateurs at a cross-country meet. The reason for this poor showing is well known to those who had interest enough in the tournament to go across the river, where upon two days the wind blew so hard, carrying sand with it from the bars of the Missouri river, that at times it was difficult to see the target.

The reason for this poor showing is well known to those who had interest enough in the tournament to go across the river, where upon two days the wind blew so hard, carrying sand with it from the bars of the Missouri river, that at times it was difficult to see the target.

New Way to Make Writers. Atlanta Constitution: "Dis boy," explaining the old colored farmer, "wants to be a writer—lak dem what writes de 'Politics Progress' en de 'Robinson Crowe'." The black pickaninny stood in the corner, fumbling with his frayed hatbrim. "Well, what evidence has he given of it? Has he ever written anything?" "No, sah, he can't write no name. Dat's what I fotch 'em up heah fer—take a writer er 'im.' He lows dat his 'min' is cot on it, en I 'lowed dat mebbe you could sorter beat it inter 'em—des farch 'em out, lak 'twel he tuk ter 'em! He alrady been hit side de head wid a dictionary, en de biggest sort er words in booz 'rubs' in his head ever since! I think dat of you'd lamm 'im round' wid come er dem books you got dar he'd fetch up all right. Hit's my home' beliefs dat all dat boy needs is a fair showin' on he'll 'spride de word'!"
