

DANDRUFF

IS A SIGN OF DANGER

Just as the hacking cough indicates a deadly disease, so dandruff indicates . . .

Falling Hair, Finally Baldness

For Success With Herculid.

Before starting treatment with HERPICIDE, the hair and scalp should be washed thoroughly, and regularly about once in ten days thereafter. The best soap for that purpose is HERPICIDE SOAP (aseptic tar.) There is not one case reported where persistent and proper use of HERPICIDE has not cured dandruff, stopped falling hair and thickened thin hair.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE IS THE ONLY Dandruff Cure

Because it is the only preparation that will destroy the Dandruff germ. Dandruff is a germ disease and you cannot cure dandruff unless you kill the germ—totally eradicate it—and you cannot do that unless you use Newbro's Herculid.

Beware of Imitations.

The marvelous success of HERPICIDE has caused others to put preparations on the market, claiming that they also destroy the dandruff germ. They are all spurious, and some of them are dangerous. There is but one preparation that will and that does destroy the dandruff germ, and that is NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE.

Falling Hair and Baldness.

Dandruff is the cause of falling hair, thin hair, brittle hair, lusterless hair and, finally, baldness. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Kill the dandruff germ with NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE and your hair will thicken and grow luxuriantly. Herculid is also one of the most delightful dressings. Allays itching instantly.

I have tested the merits of Newbro's Herculid, and am very much pleased with the results. I will certainly prescribe and recommend it when in need of a remedy for dandruff, Pruritus and Urticaria.

A Doctor's Opinion
I find Herculid a most excellent hair dressing as well as a specific for dandruff. I have used it for dandruff, and find my hair and scalp in good order. Can recommend it as an excellent preparation.

Best in Thirty Years
I have been exclusively in the barber business for over thirty years, and have given Herculid a fair trial and can say that it is the best preparation I ever used. It cures Dandruff, relieves itching of the scalp instantly, and is a delightful hair dressing. I am now to the exclusion of all other dressings.

GETTING READY FOR GOLF

Omaha Players Await Formal Opening of Season on Links.

TWO CLUBS MAKE MARKED IMPROVEMENTS

Country Has Remodeled Grounds and Field Has Extended Grounds and Buildings on Ample Scale.

Next month will bring with it the regular opening of the golf season, so it is now but two weeks or less till this loved sport will be on in all its fervor and fanaticism. As usual, the new reign of "King Kaddy" will be ushered in with elaborate functions, for it is a feature of golf that it is used as a vehicle for more social celebrations than any sports known. In Omaha all due reverence is paid to this tradition, and both the Country club and the Field club are planning opening affairs well calculated to start the season's play on its way with an impetus of interest and conviviality that will help out more than a little in tidying the devotees over the better portion of the season.

Work on this is now well toward completion. The course at present presents the aspect of a battlefield on which a Lilliputian enemy has been advancing by the zig-zag trench method. Ditches traverse the links in all directions, leading to the different greens and almost all of the piping is now down and ready for use. Some delay has been caused recently because the workmen ran out of pipe and have had to wait until more could be procured. This system of water works is being very carefully and cleverly laid, and no place in the course do the trenches cross live playing ground except in a few spots where it is absolutely essential to do this in order to tap the greens. All the approach pipe is laid in dead ground, either where a ball should never light, if properly driven, or between the playing lines of the course.

Players who grew really efficient last year and conceived the notion that the Country club course was growing a little too easy for them will be rejoiced this season to see the improvements that have been established in the way of new bunkers and other hazards. These are many per cent more difficult than what was seen on the course last season and no one can complain that a trip around the eighteen holes this year will be too much of a cinch to be good. A few of the more expert golfers visited the links one day this week to have a view of the improvements and they were astounded at the enormous mounds of earth that loomed up between certain of the holes. Where last year was a small trench with a three-foot wall of dirt behind it there now looms a barricade that will take a boy all day to climb. Those players who laid away their leathers last season because there was no real use for them can get them out again now, for their mid-ribs will no longer serve the purpose. It will take a stick with a real steep dip to it to put a ball over one of those bunkers from a lie that is within the ten-yard limit of it.

The course will be all ready by May 3 and tournaments in twosomes and foursomes for men and for women, as well as a few mixed affairs, will keep the golfers busy all day long. As usual, the bunkers will be given over to the women and in the afternoon the men and the mixed couples will do their little stunts. Then at night will come the dance, the first one of the season. Thus will Country clubbers beguile the hours of their opening day.

Not until three weeks later, on May 25, will the Field club give its initial soiree for 1902. This improvement over the remodeling of the club house and the erection of the new buildings planned cannot be completed until shortly before that time. Ever since the frost left the ground work has been hustled on the buildings and the directors are now satisfied that all will be well within a month at the outside. Improvements and changes in last year's club house are now finished. The wing which was used for bowling has been stripped of its alleys and converted into a huge locker room with accommodations for all the possible membership of the club. This is a vast improvement over the cramped locker service of last year. The new building, meanwhile, is fast taking on the semblance of what it is intended to be—a dancing pavilion and all-around summer lounge place. It is rising just west of the club house and the contract for its erection promises its completion in every particular by May 15. In the basement will be four bowling alleys; also ample accommodations for caddies and pin boys. On the first floor is the large dancing area, and to one end is a little sitting room with a huge fireplace.

pleted, pickets being substituted for the ones where the fence borders the tennis courts and base ball grounds. Last year's golf course has been enclosed and is now guarded with "keep off" signs while the seeding gets a start. Meanwhile golfers are using the new tract of forty acres to the west, nine holes being laid out there. About June 1, or a little later, the two tracts will be combined into one eighteen-hole course, which will be the only golf ground of standard length in Omaha. Instructor Sherwood expects to have more beginners than he can handle this season.

The Field club opening will be very elaborate. Everything in the way of summer sports is planned, such as tennis, women's golf, base ball and bowling, orchestral music, picnics of prize generally to the spirit of the springtime.

POST-SEASON BOWLING TALK

One-Man Tourney and Germans Against Americans in the Wind.
Now that the season of the Omaha Bowling League is concluded the rollers are cogitating on what to do next, and a considerable variance of opinion has been unearched by the general discussion. Some players are in favor of more contests, tournaments and matches of different descriptions; others flatly oppose any continuation of formal play. The proposition of holding a one-man tourney and the other of having a series of match games between two teams, to be known as the Americans and the Germans, have been the immediate causes of the argument.

Those who urge more bowling say that for the real enthusiasts it is an all-the-year-round game, anyway, and that there is no danger of those who are devoted to the sport growing tired of it. Meanwhile, they say, the ones who do not feel so keen after it can drop out for the summer if they wish, and they will come back again next fall, while the "fans" will be there all the time, just as hot after the alloy game as ever, and anxious for the beginning of another winter of general play.

On the other hand, it is said that there is a time for bowling, as for all things, and if the devotees of the sport in Omaha are wise they will drop it flat now that the season has ended.
"It is for the best interests of the game to let it die here this summer," said one well known crack. "If we keep up this tennis all summer, with repeated and continuous tournaments and contests, it will kill the interest in bowling in Omaha, and next fall will find us in deplorably weak standing compared to what we have been. You see, the season has been something fierce here all winter, and I do not believe the game is sufficiently established even here to stand much more without a rest. As a matter of fact, if I owned the local alleys I would close them up tight during July and August at least. It would pay, for the boys would start in again with more than redoubled vigor when cool weather came."
A sentiment such as this, which has prevailed quite generally, has militated somewhat against the one-man tournament scheme and has caused a delay in the arrangements for it. The situation is now such that the idea may be dropped entirely, though that is not yet certain. Dad Huntington, who is chiefly interested in its launching, says that the tourney may be started off this week. His idea is to have sixteen entries and to play each man twenty games of ten frames each. By using four alleys each night and playing two nights a week the tourney could be bowled off in four weeks. Although nearly a dozen of the most prominent bowlers in

TENNIS VOGUE ONCE MORE

Racquet and Net and Ball Come Back for Active Service.

PROMISE OF GAME IS MOST MARKED

Enthusiasm of Present and Outlook Excellent for Prospect of the Game.

If earliness signifies eagerness, then the lawn tennis season in Omaha for 1902 promises to be the keenest since the palmy days of the game in the early '90s. Here it is, still April, with the weather ranging from a simoon to a symphony, and the temperature varying from that of Italy to that of Siberia on one day to that of chill spring on the next, and yet several tennis nets were stretched last week on different courts, and the familiar cries of "deuce," "vantage out" and "thirty love" were heard in several different neighborhoods as late as Saturday afternoon and the early evenings of the pleasant day.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY.

William McDonough of Rockland, Me., has a genuine Stradivarius violin, which he obtained from a Nova Scotia Frenchman, bearing the name of 1712.

Senator Hanna has a dinner set of twelve plates, originally made for the Austrian emperor's table, which he won during the siege of the American minister to Portugal, Michigan, in 1813. The margin of the plates is inscribed with the name of the donor, "John C. Case, Esq., U. S. Senator." Mr. Case died in Cleveland, O., in 1844 and his millions have never been distributed.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY.

The fifth annual convention of the Western Labor Union will begin at Denver on Monday, May 20.

Every cotton mill in the Blackstone Valley, Massachusetts, with two exceptions, has raised the wages of its employees 10 per cent.

A recent canvass of the city made by the Business Agents of the carpenters' union shows that 90 per cent of the men in that trade are within the ranks of the organization.

The employees of the Lake Carriers' association have drawn up a scale of prices in advance of the prevailing rates for last season. No difficulty is anticipated in coming to a satisfactory agreement.

Two-thirds of the various building trades organizations demanded an increase of wages to take effect May 1. In more than twenty cases the employers have been notified and in several instances they have conceded the demands made.

In addition to the great blast furnaces and open hearth plants that the Union Steel company has arranged to build in Donora, Pa., a contract was awarded last week by that corporation for a new blooming mill that is to adjoin the other departments.

The State Board of Mediation and Arbitration, at St. Joseph, Mo., after hearing evidence for two days on the big carpenters' strike, decided that the men should receive 35 cents an hour. They demanded 50 cents. Both sides are well satisfied with the result.

Members of the Iron Moulders' Union of North America working in stove plants throughout the United States will receive a 5 per cent increase in wages through an agreement reached between representatives of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration and the union.

The bill introduced into the last legislature of Alabama to regulate the labor of children only demands an increase of 50 per cent. The sound of the explosion awaked the citizens of the town who drove the robbers off, but did not succeed in capturing them. The robbers, four in number, did not succeed in getting any money.

The sound of the explosion awaked the citizens of the town who drove the robbers off, but did not succeed in capturing them. The robbers, four in number, did not succeed in getting any money.
