Hin Career in Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 27 .- Julius Sterling Morton was in Washington for four years Cleveland's second administration. He was aonesty and undoubted ability. By nature and a supper. controversialist, Mr. Morton came to the cabinet with many fixed ideas about the government service. He was a practical farmer and ran his department along practical lines, but nevertheless not without many squabbles. He regarded the distribution of seeds as paternalistic and on that subject found himself in opposition to congress.

The ex-secretary was the author of Arbor Day, April 22, which began to be observed generally during his incumbency as head of the Department of Agriculture, and is now generally observed in all the states. His constant motto was to "plant trees," having it stamped in large letters under a picture of a tree on his stationery.

Inveterate Letter Writer.

He was an inveterate letter writer. He found keen enjoyment in answering the communications from farmers, and it was no unusual occurrence for him to call giving out parts of them for publication.

The ex-secretary was exactly 70 years old, today being the anniversary of his birth. He was of Scotch-English descent. He was born in Jefferson county. New York, but his parents moved to Michigan when he was very young. He was a graduate of Union college, New York. Mr. Morton was connected editorially for a time with the Detroit Free Press and the Chicago Times, and then located at Bellevue, Neb., in November, 1854, where in April following he issued the first number of the Nebraska City News.

Political Career Begins.

He was elected to the territorial legislature the same year and re-elected in 1857. He was appointed secretary of the territory in 1858 to fill the vacaficy caused by the death of Thomas B. Cumming, and served until May, 1861, part of the time as acting governor. He was elected to congress in 1860, but was unseated as the result of a contest. He was four times nominated by his party as governor of Nebrasks, abut was defeated each time. He was a stalwart "gold man" and had an early falling out with William J. At the inquisition held at the residence of Jay Van Horne in Oak Creek township. Sherman county, April 27, 1902, before me, George W. Hunter, coroner of said county, upon the body of Baldwin, lying dead, by the jurors whose names are hereunto subscribed, the said jurors, upon their oaths, do say that on April 25, 1902, said Baldwin, alias Bennett, whose true name is to the jurors unknown, died by a gunshot wound lawfully inflicted by a sheriff's posse while resisting arrest for the crime of horse stealing, with force and arms, and had shooting of the said posse at the time of his death, and we further find that said shooting of the said Baldwin, alias Bennett, whose true name is to the said jurors unknown, was justifiable.

From the evidence it was shown that

From the evidence it was shown that the two horse thieves had ascaped from a sodhouse, in which they were surrounded, and were traveling up a deep draw when seen by the posse. Two men started up a draw on horseback on one side and one up a draw on the other side, while the balance followed up the draw after the fugitives, who, seeing they were followed, started at right angles up the hill coming face to face with Mr. Van Horne, when shots were immediately exchanged, with the result of the killing of one and the surrender of the other.

GAME THE BEST SEEN THIS SEASON

Through an Error of Stewart's in the Sixth the Visitors Rush in Two Runs and Win

Omaha baseball team met its first reverse

Despite the disappointing result the game was easily the best yet seen here on the present season's schedule. From the very beginning the result hung in the balto decide it, and the great assemblage, which overran bleachers and grandstand and flowed out onto the field by hundreds, was in a state of excitement from inning to inning. In the first inning Genins scored for Governor.

Omaha on his own single, followed by Fleming's double. From that time the visitors fought to overcome the tally, but did not succeed till the sixth. Then Stone hits afe as first man up and Truby followed with a ground ball to Stewart. It was slow, and Ace ran it up well into the diamond. He was then close to first base and could easily have caught Truby there, but some strange twist of his instinct led him turn around and try for Stone at second. Dolan caught the ball, but it was too late, and both men were safe.

Then did "Podge" Alloway gird up his loins and pitch baseball, and Lazotte and St. Louis. Vaughn went out in short order. Not so Maloney. With a single already to his AMERICAN credit he hit the double that won the Rourke's Men Serious.

More serious play than Omaha showed during the next four lunings was never seen. Every man who came to the bat quivered as he faced the twirler and gnashed his teeth when he failed to do execution. So vital was the situation that even Johnny Gonding teased a double out of his usually disappointing willow in the seventh, but it availed naught. Pitcher Cox was on his mettle and proved equal to the occasion at every turn. Meanwhile Podge was also invincible, and Peoris could not better its lead, despite errors in the seventh by Dolan and Hickey.

To add to the climax rain threatened and sary to call it. But Pluvius was with Omaha, though he alone of all the gods citizens in the enterprise and they have held off the rain and allowed the game to showed the Rangers favor yesterday.

The ninth came, and Peoria was put out one, two, three. Dolan came to bat and made a single. Stewart sacrificed him to second. Anticipated that in This Manner Relative Cheapness of Government and Contract Work Can Be Ascertained.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, April 27 .- (Special.) -On the Way Home from Victorious bairman Fors of the house committee or naval affairs, in speaking of the action of his committee authorizing the construction of one of the proposed new vessels in one of the government yards, said today: "It is an open question as to whether or no it is wise to build vessels in government navy yards. The general belief is that money can be saved by giving such work out under contract. This belief is based upon the fact first, that government employes work eight hours a day, while those in outside yards are employed nine or ten hours. Second, the rate of wages for government labor is relatively higher all along the line than outsiders pay, Third, the government allows its employed two weeks vacation each every year with full pay, and in addition to this there are six or seven public bolidays during which employes do no work but are paid full wages just the same.

"I have made a personal investigationand quite an extensive one at that-into the methods prevailing among European governments. I find that in England about one-half of the vessels now building for the royal navy are being constructed in private yards and the other half in yards belonging to the crown. As nearly as I Creighton field will be the scene of a base ball contest this afternoon, when Washburn college of Topeka, Kan., will line up against the local university men, and a good game is expected. Washburn is just completing a victorious northern trip and it will make every endeavor to add Creighton and Nebraska to its list of vanquished. Saturday both Yankton college and the University of South Dakota became its victums. The Creighton men are determined to capture this, their first neavy collegiate game. The batteries will be: Washburn. Owen and Blake; Creighton, Welch and O'Keefe. Game called at 5.5, sharp. private builders a great deal of money could be saved by giving out contracts to the private individuals and corporations.

Yields to Public Demands.

"We have decided," continued Mr. Foss 'to make the experiment because of the demand from every section of the country where the government yards are located. The secretary of the navy will be author-At New Orleans-New Orleans, 17: Mem-phis, 2. in one of the government yards. He is instructed to keep an absolute account of every dollar expended on this vessel so that by the time it is finished congress will be in a position to judge as to the advisability of building vessels in the public navy yards rather than through the contract system.' Representative Hugh Dinsmore of Arkansas has won out in the primaries and is sure of another term in congress, Mr. Dinsnore is a man who is most cordially liked. His friends stretch from one side of the house to the other and it is doubtful if there is another man in congress in whose suc cess in his primary campaign so many of his associates were so sincerely interested. Mr. Dinsmore has served in the diplomatic corps and has had a military training. He is member of the Army and Navy club and is besides, one of the regents of the Smithsonian Institution. These latter facts were used by his opponents in an attempt to de feat him. A statement was made on the stump something like this: "Dinsmore is a member of the Army and Navy club in Washington. That club is composed of men who are heroes in war and loafers in peace, that you wish to invest and make from 500 He is also a member of the Board of gents of the Smithsonian Institution. That organization is one of the swell social clubs of Washington. Its members are all dudes.

Do you want to be represented by such a fellow as this?" But Dinsmore won out in spite of the fact that he remained in Washngton instead of proceeding to his home to refute these peculiar charges. SENDS OVER MILLION COPIES

Fowler of the committee reporting the bill, when asked today as to the extent to which the report was being mailed, said:

To be accurate, I am sending the report to 1,026,816 persons, classified as follows: 135,159 clergymen: 129,564 physicians; $5,-687 lawyers; 95,000 teachers, principals and professors; 16,225 banks and bankers; 21,000 newspapers and periodicals; 10,491 manufacturers, 32,260 jobbers; 419,000 farmers; total, 1,028,816. The form of our finances and currency is, to my mind, the most important question now before the American people, especially are those who use their credit or the borrowers of money, the true builders of our nation, deeply and materially interested. Convinced as I am of this fact, I deem it my first duty to do everything in my power to bring to the attention of the people full information about a subject which I regard as the most vital question of our time."

Victims of Explosion.

JOLIET, Ill., April 27.—Ten men were severely injured today by an explosion of hot metal in a blast furnace at the Illinois Steel works. Jerry Creighton probably was fatally hurt. Five of the injured workmen are at the Silver Cross hospital. The others were taken to their homes.

Heart Disease

retards the circulation, weakens the stomach, deranges digestion, pollutes the blood, destroys the nervous force and saps the vitality of the whole system. It causes pains in the side, palpitation, shortness of breath, smothering, dropsical swellings, sinking spells, and frequently ends all suffering in sudden death. Why tempt death when a cure is within easy reach?

"My head would get so hot it seemed to be burning up, while my feat were like ice. My limbs would swell and get numb. I had to sit in a chair day and night for months and my heart throbbed and pained me terribly. After using three bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure I could do a good days work." J. M. Game with Minnesota

University. with a ruddy glow of collegiate pride mantling their cheeks under coats of tan, the University of Nebraska base ball team spent Sunday in Omaha enroute to Lincoln from Minneapolis, where they defeated the University of Minnesota on Saturday by a score of 4 to 3. Captain Bell and his men were greatly elated. They feel that this victory over so strong a team is a prediction of what the Cornhuskers will do not held to strong that they come to begin. A clean record among college clubs has been prophesied for the varsity boys this year, and hope is strong that they will fulfill it. Last year Minnesota defeated Nebraska and hope is strong that they will fulfill it. Last year Minnesota defeated Nebraska in the tenth inning. This made rivalry intense.

St. Louis, 3 in the tenth inning. This made rivalry intense.

At the Dellone hotel, where the team spent Sunday, a throng of former Nebraska men, now living in Omaha, gathered to congratulate the players and to imbibe again a little of the old spirit. The team went to Lincoln in the evening. This week Nebraska plays Washburn college on Tuesday and Kansas university on Thursday and Friday, all games being at Lincoln. Saturday they leave for the big trip, which will comprise about sixteen games with the leading middle-west colleges.
