OEST WITNESSES HIS FINALE

County Board Makes Captain Stockham Superintendent of Poor Farm.

CONNOLLY ACTS WITH THE REPUBLICANS

Commissioners Resolve to Take Up Five Per Cent Bonds with New Issue at Lower Rate of Interest.

Captain and Mrs. William E. Stockham are to replace Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Oest as superintendent and matron of the county poor farm June 1, according to a resolution adopted yesterday morning by the Board of County Commissioners.

Stockham is a republican, but his appointment was proposed by Connolly, democratic member of the board. The republican members, Ostrom and Harte, voted for the change and O'Keeffe and Hofeldt voted against it. There was no speech-making except a few indignant remarks from O'Keeffe, who said that Oese had given up his business in South Omaha and moved his furniture out to the poor farm and, that leaving politics out of the matter, he considered it a great injustice. Oest had been an early caller at the commissioners' rooms and had had a talk with O'Keeffe, in the course of which he, the doomed superintendent, indicated plainly that he foresaw his finale.

Question of Transportation. When the appropriations were reached O'Keeffe arose and declared that the board would find it less expensive to charter a railroad than to pursue its present policy applicants for charity. Connolly, as chairman of the charity committee, had given a woman $15 to assist her in reaching Butfalo, N. Y., and the South Omaha member declared that he had just as much right to furnish transportation to Europe as to New York. Connolly answered by reciting the pitiable condition of some of those who had come to him for help and declared that when a woman is ill and her baby hungry it was too hard to refuse her aid. O'Keeffe insisted that no transportation be issued for a greater distance than 500 miles, except the matter be brought before the board in regular meeting. This was finally put through with Harte's amendment permitting a commissioner to act as he sees fit when the county physician recommends the emergency as urgent

WAIT FOR CONGRESS TO ACT

What the Contractors of Federal Building Addition Are Required to Do.

The statement was made by the supervising architect of the Omaha federal building yesterday morning that no further action would be taken on the construction responsible for the proper care of the trees of the Seventeenth street front of the federal building until congress has had an would have been no excuse for private opportunity to pass upon the question. The architect stated that the bids of Gindele & Co. had been suspended in Washington until more money is available for the construction, as there is not money sufficient in the fund to complete the building even upon the modified plan of Senator Millard.

As to the probability of securing funds this year, the architect said that he understood the intention of Senator Millard to be to attach an appropriation to the general deficiency bill pending in the senate or to the omnibus building bill, which will soon reach the senate from the house. At the present time that bill, which came from Congressman Mercer's committee, contains no provision for money to complete the building in this city.

According to statements made at the federal building the present condition will result in extending the work on the building for about another year, as the plans for the construction will depend entirely upon the action of congress. The fear was expressed that unless the matter is settled at this session there will not be money enough in the present fund to

The custodian of the building has re-ceived the approval of the Treasury department of the bids recently submitted showing that exclusive of lights, water and repairs it will require $5,495 to maintain the building for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The Omaha Gas company agrees to supply gas at $1.25 per 1,000 feet and to furnish Welsbach mantles where required without cost to the government.
