PROMPT SETTLEMENT.

The National Life Insurance Company Pays Mrs. Haas Five Thousand Dollars.

The tragic death of the late Andrew Hass, who was run down and killed by a Rock Island train at South Omaha early this month, and the prompt payment of $5,000 to Mrs. Ida L. Haas, wife of the deceased, by the National Life Insurance company of Montpelier, Vermont, through Charles E. Ady, general agent, forcibly illustrates the value and wisdom of life

Mr. Hass settled a $5,000 endowment polley with the National in November, 1901, at which time he re-insured, taking another policy for $5,000, which was in force at the time of his death. The National, with its usual promptness, was the first com-pany to pay in this case.

BERKA SURE ENOUGH JUDGE So Observes Lawyer in Commenting on Motion Filed in District Court.

White: The attorney for Lillian Stevens, a colored woman convicted in the district arrest the judgment in the case because "Louis Berka, who acted as examining magistate as police judge of Omaha, is not the legal police judge and, therefore, has offense or to bind said Lillian Stevens over to the district court."

When the motion was filed an attorney who practices almost entirely in the district and federal courts saw it and smiled. "I am of the opinion." he said, "that nobody will undertake to make this statement in Judge Berka's own court. I was down there the other morning for an hour and watched him put through a grist, and if Louis Berka isn't police judge nobody ever was. He doesn't allow anybody any rope. A drunken vag tried to clear himself with a lie and Berka waved him aside with the smile of a man who knows all the old tricks by heart. Then a young lawyer started in to tell what ought to be done with another prisoner and the court settled him withjust two words, 'sit down! Even the policemen had to toe the mark and I heard him 'call' a sergeant so neatly that the 'bluecoat' didn't open his mouth

GARDENERS ARE KICKING NOW Those Who Paid for Capitol Avenue

Sites Looking for Satisfaction.

Now the Omaha gardeners are making medicine for the city council and will endeavor to administer a dose at the next meeting of the council. The trouble originates over the failure of the council to enforce its market house ordinance after receiving considerable sums of money from numerous Omaha gardeners in payment of rent on stands on the Capitol avenue site. Said one of these gardeners yesterday morning:

"The Omaha gardeners who bid on stands at the Capitol avenue site are going to hold a conference tomorrow to consider what action to take in regard to the present market situation. We paid money for the most desirable stands at that site and now find that they are worthless. The customers will not go to Capitol avenue and we are compelled to come to Harney street. Here we have no market master and no rights. The first man who arrives in the morning takes the most desirable location and those who follow get what is left. Many of us who would have paid large sums for stands here and who have paid large sums for stands on the official market site find ourselves shut out by some one who has paid nothing either here or there. We want protection for our money. If the city cannot give us that for which we have paid we

"I do not know what the gardeners will do, but several plans have been suggested. One is that we simply demand a return of our money; another that those who have paid money for stands on Capitol avenue be given permission to select corresponding stands on Harney street or Eleventh street until the city has really established the Capitol avenue site. The majority of the gardeners seem to favor the latter plan, while one or two suggest that the city is liable for damages for taking the money and failing to provide exclusive market privileges on the Capitol avenue site."

As May 15 was our anniversary, we gave our regular banquet, with Herr Heinrich as the chef, and a great event it was. That it was a MORRIL affair goes without question, as HARRY THE MARRIAGE MAN was there in all his splendor, notwithstanding the fact that he OUTSHINED them all in storing away this world's goods the night before at the Royal Arcanum spread. Even Elmer honored us with his presence and said he didn't care a rap whether the OMAHA DRUG TRUST LIKED IT OR NOT. And Jack (our Jack) and the clerks of our store made up the rest of the marry makers. Good IRISH GIRLS ended up the beat square meal that ever happened.
