VOTE DOWN BI-ENNIAL PROPOSITION Recommendation that Subordinate Officers Be Elected for One Year

Carries, Effective January 1, 1903, One session Thursday morning sufficed for the grand lodge of the Ancient Order of United Workmen to wind up its bustness and by evening the officers and delegates had left for their homes throughout the state. Before adjourning the grand lodge adopted resolutions thanking the members of the local lodge and the citizens of Council Bluffs for the manner in which it had been entertained during its session here. The recommendation of Grand Master Workman Narvis that the grand lodge hold biennial instead of annual sessions was not adopted. The opposition proved so strong that the committee to which the recommendation had been referred declined to even make a report to the lodge and the question was permitted to die a natural The other recommendation of the death. grand master workman that the subordinate lodges elect their officers annually in place of every six months was adopted, to take effect January 1, 1903.

Considerable discussion ensued over the recommendation of the grand recorder that members of subordinate lodges not paying their quarterly dues before the twenty-eighth day of the first month of each quarter should stand suspended. Lodge dues are payable on January 1, April 1, July 1 and October 1, and it has been the custom for most lodges to carry delinquent members for six months before suspending them. The general opinion was that the suggestion of the grand recorder would prove a hardship on the members and a comparents was effected the constitution of the grand recorder would consider the grand recorder would prove a hardship on the members and a comparents was effected the constitution. and a compromise was effected, the constitution being amended so as to provide that members failing to pay the quarterly dues by the twenty-eighth day of the first month of the succeeding quarter should

The grand lodge, while thus expressing its own high sense of the loss it has sustained, yet realizes that, while it is thus so much the loser, much more so must be the family that is deprived of the loving and helpful society of the departed one, and that now suffers the keenness of separation from husband and father. The grand lodge, therefore, while conscious that it can only enter the margin of the valley of wee into which they have been led, yet ventures to tender to the bereaved ones its condolence and deepest sympathy. It is hereby directed that this minute be published in the Loyal Workman; that a copy thereof, properly executed and duly attested under the seal of the grand lodge, be communicated to the bereaved family, and that a page in our journal be devoted to the memory of our departed brother.

Tribute to Foreman Berry. Grand Master Workman Narvis paid a graceful tribute to Grand Foreman Berry of having attended more consecutive meetings of the grand lodge than any member of the order and his friends were desirous that he should become eligible to represent the Iowa grand lodge in the supreme lodge next year. Sister Comes for Martell.

Ambrose Martell, who was arrested as insane Wednesday, was taken back to Lincoln, Neb., last evening by his sister, Mrs. Kate Weinberger, with whom he has made workman until the newly elected officers his home for the last two years. Marteli was taken before the commissioners on insanity yesterday, but on receipt of word from Lincoln that his sister would come for him the board decided to take no action. A few days after the assassination of President McKinley Martell was arrested by secret service officers at Norfolk, Va. he being at that time suspected of being connected with an anarchistic plot to assassinate the president. His sister, with the assistance of the police in Lincoln, secured his releas.

A few years ago Martell wedded a wealthy widow in Peoria, Ill., who at the request of her two grown up sons left him within a month of the marriage. His sister stated yesterday that two years later her brother consented to a divorce on payment to him new law passed by the last general assemby his wife of $10,000. This money, she said, her brother had been unable to secure control of as he had been adjudged tificates in accordance with the law. This, insane. Martell left Lincoln about a week ago and the first word his stater heard long standing between the osteopaths and about him was his arrest in this city, notice of which she read in the newspapers. Martell is believed to have resided in Council Bluffs some years ago, leaving here to take r position as assistant in some Iowa Supreme Court Opens Door to Non-Resident Liquor Dealers.

GOVERNOR MAY CALL LEGISLATURE

Many Members of Optnion Erection of Temporary Buildings for the Schools for the Deaf Would Be Folly.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, May 16 .- (Special.)-The Weaver today made a ruling that will have great effect on the prohibitory liquor laws of Iowa. The court decided that under argument to the position that if prelimthe principles governing interstate commerce and the rulings of the United States enough the medical practices will be suffsupreme court, the state of Iowa is powerless to prevent agents or firms in other states soliciting orders for liquors in lows, forwarding such orders and the transportation companies from carrying liquors so ordered and delivering to Iowa customers. The Iowa legislature engrafted into the code a clause which was intended to expressly forbid such soliciting of orders and the doing of a mail and express business in liquors. Judge Weaver while in the legislature was one of the most earnest advocates of a prohibitory liquor law as stringent as it could be made; but in his decision today, rendered with expressions of regret that it should be the law, the door is opened wide for the liquor business by outside firms.

The opinion is based entirely upon the holding of the United States supreme court in construing the interstate commerce act. Eleven cases are cited in support of the holding. Among other things the court

Renders State's Power Nugatory.

Renders State's Power Nugatory.

These holdings, it is needless to observe, render the power of the state to prohibit the traffic in liquors to large extent nugatory, and leaves the agents of non-resident dealers to ply their trade with bootleggers and other resident violators of the law without effective hindrance, but we have only to declare the law as we find it. It is proper to add that all these cases under the authority of which this appeal is disposed of, have been decided by a divided court. The dissent of Justices Hariam, Gray, Waite, Shiras and Brown is supported by very persuasive reasoning and great weight of authority, but whatever we may think of the comparative merits of the arguments employed we are in duty bound to follow the authoritative pronouncement of the court, whose decision upon this and kindred questions is final. Yielding to these precedents, we are constrained to hold that the transaction set out in the agreed statement of facts comes within the definition of interstate commerce, and that as such it cannot be made punishable under the laws terstate commerce, and that as such it cannot be made punishable under the laws of the state.

Again the court says:

All these acts, the seeking of the customer by the agent, the soliciting and taking of the order, its transmission to the house in another state, the shipment made therein, the transportation and delivery to the purchaser in this state, all unite to make up interstate commerce. The defendant, it should be remembered, is not charged with the offense of selling the liquors. The act for which he is sought to be held is criminal liability in the soliciting and taking of the order, and if liable at all, his offense was complete the moment the order was obtained, even though his principal had never completed the sale thus negotiated. It is therefore for the purposes of this case immaterial whether the title passed to the purchaser when it reached its destination and was paid for. The one question is, as we have before said, whether the taking of the order under the circumstances was part of a transaction of interstate commerce. Upon that proposition we are compelled to hold in the affirmative. Again the court says:

Extra Session Talk.

Quite a number of members of the legislature have been in Des Moines the last week, largely for the purpose of interviewing the governor and others in regard to the advisability of a special session of the Iowa legislature for the purpose of appropriating money to aid the School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs. There is a pretty strong sentiment in favor of having the legislature meet and provide for permanent buildings at the school instead of putting up with temporary structures. Representative A. Head of Green county expresses himself as in favor of a special session. He declares that it is folly for the state to put money into temporary structures. The $35,000 or more that would be thus spent would be almost entirely He would have the governor call the legislature together some time during the summer and make an appropriation for the school suitable for a permanent building. Senator Junkin of Montgomery county has been here in consultation with the governor and is not quite so positive in the matter, but a number of the legislators have been consulted and they are generally in favor of a legislative session and a suitable appropriation.

Medical Board and Ostcopaths. The State Board of Medical Examiners, at its session today, adopted regulations for the examination of osteopaths for certificates as "esteopathic physicians" under a bly. The board will examine colleges and pass upon their sufficiency and issue cerit is expected, will end the troubles of

About thirty eclectic medical men and romen attended the sessions of the Iowa Eclectic Medical society at Odd Fellows' hall. The papers included one by Dr. E. D. Wiley of this city on serum treatment of diphtheria and membranous croup, in which he held that this treatment was the best yet discovered. In the discussion some of the members thought that carbolic acid. at least in considerable proportion, could be used to better advantage. The other paper was by Dr. John Dill Robertson of Chicago on "Appendicitis," and he stated that conservative methods are coming to Iowa supreme court in a decision by Judge the front among all classes of physicians. Cutting used to be urged from the start, but most of the cases in his experience lent inary symptoms are discovered early cient to carry off the affection without Big Fire in Small Town.

The town of Farlin, seven miles north of Jefferson, in Greene county, was almost wiped out by fire early this morning. The principal portion of the business section, including the postoffice, was destroyed. The loss is estimated at $40,000. The telephone office was destroyed and it has been impossible to communicate with the town. Captain Mahlon Head of Jefferson. one of the sufferers, brought the first news Dr. Curry, Representative to Alfonso's of the conflagration to Des Moines. The fire originated in the new office of the S. C. Lumber company from cause unknown. It was discovered at 1:30, but was even then under such headway that its progress could not be even checked by the feeble efforts of citizens with buckets. There was no fire-fighting apparatus in the The burned buildings include three gro-and Suspect Arrested. CLARINDA, Ia., May 16 .- (Special Telegram.)—The dead body of Emma Moore was found out of doors on a farm one and onehalf miles south of this city at 8:15 o'clock this morning. She was shot through the heart. A revolver was lying by her side. It is thought that the weapon was placed there for the purpose of suggesting suicide, but she is believed to have been murdered. William Lucas, suspected of having taken her life, has been arrested at Clearmont, Mo., and has agreed to come here without requisition papers. He is now on the way in charge of an officer. The remains of the dead woman, who was about 25 years of age, are at undertaking rooms in this city. The coroner's inquest, which was begun before the arrest of Lucas, has been adjourned until 8 o'clock tomorrow morning. Lucas is about the same age as the dead woman. The two are said of late to have been seen much together. The couple were sweethearts and left the home of Miss Moore Wednesday evening for a drive. The next seen of the young woman was when her body was found. Lucas will offer no explanation of his supposed connection with the crime. He denies all knowledge of the murder, but refuses to give an account of his movements after leaving the home of the dead

Coronation, Presents Roosevelt's Letter.

MADRID, May 16 .- The United States special envoy to the coronation of King Alfonso, Dr. J. L. M. Curry, presented this morning President Roosevelt's letter to his majesty as follows:

majesty as follows:

Great and Good Friend: In the name of, and in behalf of, the government and people of the United States, I desire to present their sincere felicitations on the occasion of your majesty's majority and to assure you of their friendship and good wishes for the welfare of your majesty and your majesty's people. I trust your life will be long and happy and that your reign will live in the affections of your people and bless them with peace, prosperity and happiness, and I pray God to have you in His safe and holy keeping. Your good friend,

The marquis of Willelobar a former see.

The marquis of Willelobar, a former secretary of the Spanish legation at Washington and an old friend of Dr. Curry, who has been appointed to attend the United States envoy while in Madrid, called for the doctor at 10:15 a. m. and drove with him to the palace in a royal landau, where the envoy was accorded honors by the guard drawn up in the courtyard, and was conducted to an ante-chamber, where he found the other envoys waiting. Dr. Curry and Mr. Simpkins, the secretary of the special embassy of the United States, were ushered into the royal reception hall immediatly after the papal nuncio and before all the other envoys. The queent regent was simply dressed dark blue naval cadet uniform. Both their costumes were in striking contrast with the gorgeous uniforms and robes of the courtiers and ladies in waiting, who were grouped around. The queen regent gave Dr. Curry an extremely cordial welcome. The United States envoy made a short address, the text of which had been submitted to President Roosevelt before Dr.

The queen regent listened to the addrers with an expression of keen pleasure, and then, in a charming way, she recalled Dr. Curry's previous stay, as minister of the United States at Madrid, and alluded with satisfaction to the relations which then existed between the minister and the court.

After this Dr. Curry handed President Roosevelt's letter to the king, who smiled and gaid, in English: "I am glad to see you. You were here when I was born." The United States envoy was then presented to the princess of the Asturias (Princess Charles of Bourbon Sicily), the eldest sister of the king, who said she remembered Dr. Curry and referred to old associations. The queen regent inquired after Mrs. Curry, who will be received by their majesties tomorrow. The duke of Connaught, the special envoy of King Edward, the Grand Duke Vladimir, the special representative of the czar, and other special envoys arrived this afternoon. They were met at the railway station by the duke of Almodovar, the military governor of Madrid, and various ambassadors and their suites, together with the principal court officials. The envoys were driven to the palace, escorted by detachments of the Royal cacy and freshness such as no other starch can give.
