WESTERN LEAGUE FINANCES

Manager Rourke Makes Statement as to Present Condition.

NO DOUBT ABOUT FINISHING SCHEDULE

Six Teams Are Making Money and Milwaukee and Kansas City Will Be Taken Care Of All Right.

No man or magnate in the Western league keeps closer tab on its prospects, its hopes, its fears, its financial condition and its accomplishments than W. A. Rourke of the Omaha end, and with the first month of the season completed save for a day, he is now prepared to summarize all these features of the organization as they appear to him on the 21st of May. Said Mr. Rourke:

"The facts are just as we predicted a month ago today. The Western league is steady on its feet and is going right on through the season with flying colors. Even if the tide turns and they do not fly very high, the league will forge right on ahead to the finish.

"Talk about small crowds at Kansas City and Milwaukee! Before even discussing that I wish to announce that if there is not a single dollar taken in at either city from now till the end of the season the league will continue calmly on its way and go through the schedule.

"Now for facts and figures. In the first place, Denver, Omaha, Peoria, Des Moines, St. Joseph and Colorado Springs are ahead of the game financially right now, an unusual percentage of money-making teams for the first month of any schedule. Kansas City and Milwaukee are not ahead and we do not say they are. They are not making money; they are losing it, and we do not attempt to conceal the fact. We expected it; we knew it; we were ready for it. We have made no bluff, and do not now. We went into it with our eyes open. We knew it was a case of holding these teams up and we still stand good to do it.

Omaha Doing Well.

"As regards Omaha, I cannot sufficiently express my satisfaction at things thus far. I came home from that first trip out with $1,200 clear over and above all expenses. We were gone just a little more than two weeks. That $1,200 will not quite pay my salary list for two weeks, but it will come near it. Now, any base ball man knows that a team which can break even on any trip away from home is doing very well indeed, and a team that can almost break even on its first trip, the early one, is doing something phenomenal. Why, last year I lost $3,000 cold on my last two trips out, right at the hot end of the schedule.

"That will give you somewhat of a line as to my success thus far. Now, for more particulars regarding that early trip. At St. Joseph I made more than I ever made there before in my experience on any trip. At Peoria I made more than I ever made in St. Paul. At Milwaukee I made as much as I ever made in Minneapolis. At Kansas City I made more than I made on my first trip there last year. How does that look to you?

"I am not the only man who is doing well. Look at Denver with 22,000 paid admissions in eight games in April and May. There's an average of almost 3,000 a game. Talk about quitting. Do you think this league would put $14,000 cold into a park in Kansas City if it intended to quit because of any amount of discouragement there? Would we sink a lot of money in Milwaukee if we imagined that any conditions that might arise would scare us out?

Van Brunt Is Happy.

"Why, when I met Van Brunt in St. Joseph last week I was surprised at his attitude. He was even more confident and combative and hopeful than I had expected to find him. 'Bill,' said he, 'we'll fight them as long as we have any breath left.' Now, that's his position, and Burns feels the same way, although I haven't talked to him recently. With such men in such a spirit backing Milwaukee and Kansas City and with the rest of us doing nicely, how can we be in any danger?

"Now, regarding the American association. It's not so happily situated. In addition to the fight which it has on in Milwaukee and Kansas City it has two other weak towns, and we have not. They are Minneapolis and Indianapolis. Minneapolis never would stand for a losing team and Watkins has queered things at Indianapolis by his constant threats to take the team away. That kind of talk won't do.

"Better proof of the bad condition the American association finds itself in could not be had than the large number of double headers they are playing. That sort of thing is unheard of at this season of the schedule. Their own constitution doesn't allow them to play these games before the second series and here they are slapping in one after the other, at Toledo, at Louisville and at Kansas City, on their first series. This has never been done before."

Denver Again Today.

Rain prevented the Rourke Rangers from getting at the Grizzlies again at Vinton street park Wednesday. Both teams were out in uniform, but the downpour commenced at 3:30 and continued till dusk, so although the teams waited around quite a while there was ultimately nothing doing. "Loaned" Stone has finally been returned and was out in togs to play center field. He looks just as young and athletic as always. He will play in Genins' place for a week or so. The grand sunset last night caused "Pa" Rourke to predict fine weather for today and Owen and Eyler will be the pitchers for the last game of the series.
