Episcopal Clergy and Layman of Nebraska in Session at Cathedral.

AMENDMENT TO THE CANONS GOES OVER

Recommendation of Extension Committee for the Employment of General Missionary to Assist Bishop is Adopted,

The reports of the standing committees secupied the early part of Thursday morning's session of the diocesan council of the Episcopal church, that of chief consequence being made by the church extension committee, and including a recommendation that a general missionary be employed at a salary of not less than $1,000 per annum to carry on the general work, much of which now devolves upon the bishop. Considerable discussion arose over the advisability of assuming any such additional expense, but the recommendation of the committee was adopted.

The report of the drocesan board, as read by the secretary, showed that of the forty-two counties included in the diocese of Nebraska, in fourteen no Episcopal partakes have been established at all and in seventeen others but one parish exists in each, leaving almost two-thirds of the diocese without the church.

To Change Assessment.

The really interesting feature of the morning arose from the report of the conetitution committee, which, in addition to several minor amendments, proposed the amendment of canon 14, which reopened a controversy of long standing. This canon provides for the diocesan assessment, which is devoted to the current diocesan expenses and the bishop's salary. The committee acting was composed of Rev. Father Williams, Rev. Marsh, Rev. Ausborne, J. M. Woolworth and Henry W. Yates. Father Williams, Mr. Yates and Mr. Woolworth presented a majority report which recommended leaving canon 14 as it is, and Rev. Marsh and Rev. Ausborne offered a minority report which proposes to change the basis of this taxation from $1 per annum for each communicant to some percentage of the parish income. While such a change would not make so material a change in the assessment of the majority of the parishes, it would lay the heavier burden upon the larger and wealthier parishes and reduce the assessment of the weaker ones.

A long discussion ensued, which had not been concluded when the noon hour arrived. and a recess was taken until 2 o'clock. Amendment Goes Over.

At the afternoon session the report of the minority on the subject of assessments, changing the plan from a direct assessment of $1 per member to a percentage of the receipts of each parish, was passed, but it failed to receive the necessary two-thirds vote of the lay members necessary to make it effective at once. Under the rules the matter went over for a year and at the next meeting of the council it may become effective by a majority vote.

Upon recommendation of the committee on unfinished business the constitution of the council was amended to make provision for the condjutor bishop.

John W. Wood, corresponding secretary of the Board of Missions addressed the council on the work of that board, showing its objects and aspirations. He defended the apportionment system of raising funds, saying that it was the only way in which the board could arrive at an approximate amount of the funds it would receive. Rev. John W. INJUNCTION WITHOUT EFFECT

No One Seems to Know Whether the Regular Weekly Meeting of Credit Men of Packers Was Held.

According to the statement of local dealers in meat, there is no appreciable result against the packers of the country. Said one of the dealers:

"So far there has been no evidence that there will be any effect from the injunction n this city. The injunction was issued Tuesday. It is customary, I understand, for the credit men of the houses to meet on Wednesday to report the names of those who have failed to pay for meat purchased the previous week. I do not know whether a meeting was held yesterday. At this time the meetings have little interest, most of the dealers paying promptly and therefore not coming into contact with the credit men. "As to the effect of the injunction on the price, there has been none.
