

WAR AMONG THE DEMOCRATS

Jacksonians Vote Censure on Four Men Who Bolted Leechner.

UPHEAVAL OF WRATH AND EPITHETS

Ed Smith is Champion of School of Correction and Nolan and Parkhurst Fight Back with Shoulder Strakes.

Despite the earnest exhortations of a trio of its oldest and most prominent local members and in the face of vehement protestations of party loyalty and faith by those accused, the Jacksonian club Saturday night voted censure by an overwhelming majority upon T. J. Nolan, John Fitzpatrick, D. S. Parkhurst and John McMillan of South Omaha for opposing the resignation of John Henry Leechner for mayor in their last municipal election.

Four stormy hours were consumed in the process and during that time the turbulence alternated from gushes of sentiment to spasms of bitter animus. Every man who spoke, and there were many, was screaming at the top of his voice before he had proceeded far, carried away by the intensity of his feeling.

The four wrong-doers had more noise behind them, but the other people had the votes. While the defiant utterances of the quartet which was on trial were applauded by the twenty-seven members of the assembly, it developed that most of the ones who cheered the loudest had no votes on the question, so when the matter finally came down to brass tacks there were twenty-seven ballots from the more silent portion of the crowd for censure and nine against it.

Nolan Resigns at Once. Mr. Nolan at once presented his resignation to the club. Captain Parkhurst took his umbrella defiantly in the face of the twenty-seven and requested the assembly to shrill tones to "fire me and be done."

You'll need South Omaha again some time. You'll be coming down there and asking us to help you out. But you'll find 900 democrats who will tell you to go to hell. Don't get swelled up about yourselves. There's just as good democrats in South Omaha as in your club. Censure our men, will you? You'll be bitten off more than you can chew tonight.

Intense excitement was stirred up by the fierce oratory of the evening and, repressed so long, it broke in a storm when the result of the vote was announced. The meeting at once, without any formalities, dissolved into a general debating melee. It proceeded without a chairman from that time on, the members adjourning down the stairway in groups as soon as they had said enough upstairs. There was no regular adjournment and the confusion was carried out into the street. Feeling was very strong and one of the leading members of the club was seen to utter a conservative element, said:

"Till tonight the Jacksonian club has always stood for decency. This action can never be so interpreted. Ed P. Smith told us that a failure to censure those men would be the death knell of the organization. The opposite is true. This sneaking, ill advised and unbecoming action of the club has just taken the club to the point where they censure men for being conscientious and upright and honest in the highest sense of the word the period of usefulness of their organization is passed."

Beautiful were the expressions of brotherly love which greeted the results of the correction of the South Omaha four. Ed P. Smith, W. O. Gilbert, A. Hugh Hippel—all who took the floor in favor of adopting the caustic report of the special committee appointed to review actions of this quartet, were profuse in their words of praise and admiration and respect for the four as men, but they proceeded and urged with a peculiar tenacity and an oratory that was more than inspired, the chiding of these same loved ones, who, as Ed Smith put it, "went in the night time with daggers up their sleeves and slaughtered the democratic party about South Omaha and this expression brought Captain Parkhurst to his feet with a bound, declaring:

Parkhurst is Furious. "I never went in the night. I never done nothing in the dark, and I never open. Throw me over your old organ if you want to and be done to you."

As a preliminary to the discussion of the report urging censure by the president of the club the following resolution was adopted by acclamation and with cheers: "For the purpose of putting at rest any doubts which may exist as to the attitude of this club toward the Kansas City platform, it is the sense of this club, the Jacksonian club, that the Kansas City platform be indorsed at the next democratic state convention."

Ed P. Smith was the chief speaker in the attack last night and he opened and closed the discussion with pronounced vocal fireworks, in which bitter personalities played a prominent part. He said that the constitution of the club provided for the support of candidates by its members, excluding being the alternative. The action of these men was particularly reprehensible because of what they owed the party. All four had held office save Melan, who was "fat and sleek with forty months' money which his partner, E. E. Thomas, has drawn as deputy county attorney by grace of the democratic party."

Nolan Spouts Back. Mr. Nolan responded in a rousing speech, saying that he had no apology to make, either as a Jacksonian or as a democrat, for what he had done. He insisted, however, on a strict interpretation of the club's rule. It provided plainly for expulsion, and that gave no right to censure—only to expel. Nolan demanded that there be no censure, but expulsion if the club so willed, and he would take it as a compliment to be expelled on such grounds after he had explained his position. He then went after Leechner hammer and tongs, and said that while he himself was stumping over thirty-five counties in the state, Leechner was peddling McKelvin buttons in South Omaha. Mr. Smith also came in for a little share of Nolan's wrath.

L. H. Herdman has his own troubles. "Why have we such an overflow of editorials in our newspapers on this matter now?" said he. "There was this organ at the time the Leechner matter was in immediate issue? Had one-half the editorials that have been written since this censure matter has come up been devoted to the same attacks on him before the election, he never would have dared appear as a candidate."

Smyth for the Four. C. J. Smyth said he did not intend to

DEMOCRATS DECIDE ON DATES

Times for Holding Primaries and County Nominating Conventions.

EFFORT TO HARMONIZE THEIR SQUABBLES

Committee Appointed to Patch Up Peace Between Members of the County Commissioners Who Are Now at Odds.

The county central democratic committee decided in meeting Saturday afternoon, at the primaries to be held June 13, from 12 o'clock noon to 7 o'clock, delegates should be chosen to a county convention to be held June 21, at 1 p. m., this convention to be made up of three delegates-at-large from each ward in Omaha and South Omaha and three from each county precinct, with one additional for every seventy-five votes or major fraction thereof cast for Judge Oltham for attorney general in 1900, the same convention to select delegates also to the state convention at Grand Island June 24, the congressional convention, the judicial convention and to nominate a full county ticket. Of the thirty-five committee members present or voting by proxy three voted against this arrangement.

Other business of the meeting was the appointment by Chairman E. E. Howell of John Reagan, Patrick Ford and Hobart Williams as a committee to patch up the democratic members of the Board of County Commissioners and ask them to coalesce. This action followed an attack on Commissioner Richard O'Keefe by Ford, whom O'Keefe had declined to boost into the office of county storekeeper, vice Thomas O'Connor, whom Connolly does not like.

More Talk Than Business. The business of the meeting occupied five minutes in its transaction. The talking occupied an hour and a half. It being necessary for several democrats to tell what they thought of some other democrats, and for still other democrats to tell how certain they feel that it is going to be an almighty hard job for the party to get anybody to run on its legislative ticket this fall or even to nominate a ticket to Grand Island to attend the convention. The name of no candidate was heard, except that of C. J. Smyth, who has a notion he would like to be governor. His came up when Will McComb, first aide to County Clerk Harry C. Miller, moved that Smyth be allowed to name a ticket to attend the state convention. Miller's former bosom friend, but present declared enemy, Chairman E. E. Howell, declined to even consider the motion and announced that it could not be passed with him in the chair. It died.

In calling the meeting to order Howell thanked himself for the efficient work that he and the rest of the committee had done and said that he wouldn't be chairman again even if somebody asked him to, which he admitted hadn't happened.

Squabble Over Nature of Call. The secretary read the call and J. P. Connolly moved that the primaries be June 19, which will be Thursday, and the county convention June 21, which will be Saturday. L. W. Herdman moved for six months to the stipulation as to the business to be done by the county convention, and Connolly accepted the amendment. L. J. Platt, secretary to the committee, opposed part of the motion, saying that it was unfair to the candidates nominated, as it would require the party to run for six months to the length of the campaign. He said it would be an unheard-of arrangement here and seemed to consider that the prospective ticket couldn't stand public analysis for so long a time. Lee Herdman responded that they are doing that in Ohio. J. J. O'Connor said it would be all right under this arrangement to put clean men in the field, and while it would be difficult, he thought it might be done.

It was at this juncture that McComb asked: "Have we a state candidate?" and upon being informed that Smyth considered himself such, motioned for six months to the length of the campaign, but let the rest of the Herdman motion stand.

Howell flared instantly and said: "I have no fear of that motion carrying here, but I warn you that it cannot with me in the chair. I'll resign first." The matter was dropped, the chair declining even to entertain the motion.

Ed Cally said he favored the Herdman plan, as the fewer the primaries the better. "Every time you fellows in the city have a primary and a squabble it costs like thunder to fix it up," he explained.

Men Hard to Find. J. J. O'Connor met the Platt objection to the early nominating by saying that it is going to be harder to get men to run than it is for them to get the nominations in the convention, whenever they hold one.

Somebody remarked that the other speakers were making no mention of the two county commissioners to be elected. Connolly, who was the only member of the present board at the meeting, arose to say that the democrats could elect a member from the north side, if they nominated a man he had in mind, as "all I cannot beat him," and that they can elect the other one from the country, no matter who is put up.

The redoubtable Mr. Ford then interjected his remarks about O'Keefe, alleging that the latter had always been known as a crank, but as honest one, and that he (the speaker) still believed him honest, but that his first official act had been to tie up with the republicans. He made also the serious charge that O'Keefe insisted on knowing all about everything before it goes through the board and that he was tired of him and believed Platt, who used to call him "the grand old man," is also tired of him.

Connolly tried to squelch Ford by rising to a point of order, but the chairman liked the way Ford was talking and instructed him to go on.

L. J. Dunn spoke in advocacy of the Crawford system and J. J. O'Connor against it, the latter taking the stand that under that system all of the pie would go to the city and the cry of sectionalism be raised.

Somebody reminded the chair that the Herdman motion was before the house and a vote was taken, three voting nay.

John E. Reagan tried to start deliberations back to the commissioners and W. H. Herdman raised the point that Reagan was not a member of the committee. Reagan was allowed to proceed as the grandstander and declared that if the committee met with no success, as he believed it would, he would propose to Mr. O'Keefe that he (O'Keefe) name three disinterested democrats of the county and that whatever two of the three should decide should be the policy of the board. He (Connolly) would abide by O'Keefe's word. The grandstander responded with applause.

The meeting closed after it had been de-

CLERKS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Has Difference with Insurance Company in Adjusting Loss.

VETERANS TO ADDRESS SCHOOL CHILDREN

Local Grand Army Post Assigns Speakers for Thursday Afternoon—Charity Ball Nets Five Hundred Dollars.

Trouble is brewing for somebody and just whether it is the city of South Omaha or a certain insurance company remains to be seen. When the fire hall at Thirty-first and R streets was constructed insurance to the amount of $1,500 was secured. Then the other night the building burned and the fire company has no home. Three appraisers were named, who went over the remains of the building and reported as being in favor of a settlement for $24. The council has refused to accept any settlement of this kind and will either insist upon the payment of the full amount of the insurance or else the rebuilding of the fire hall. It is understood that the insurance company has declined positively to replace the building in the shape it was prior to the fire. The city will not accept the tender of $24 in full payment of the claim and it looks now as if the relations between the company and the city would be strained, to say the least.

There is constant inquiry from residents in the western portion of the city regarding the rebuilding of this hall, as now the entire portion west of the tracks is left unprotected.

Mayor Goussay is anxious to have some steps taken to reconstruct the present building or else, if this cannot be arranged, he wants the insurance money paid and then the city will go ahead and erect a brick fire hall. While there is no money in the fire fund at the present time, it is thought that an effort will be made to secure more money for both the fire and police departments this year. In case the levy will not prove sufficient for new buildings a bond proposition may be suggested. With bonds amounting to $25,000 at a low rate of interest the city could construct a fire hall in each ward in the city and equip them with the best protection to property that is now demanded.

Grand Army Details. In compliance with the usual custom, officers of Phil Kearney post No. 2, Grand Army of the Republic, have made a detail of members to visit the public schools on Thursday, May 29. The veterans will reach the school buildings about 2 o'clock in the afternoon and will deliver addresses to the pupils on subjects pertaining particularly to Memorial day. The detail follows:

High School—Rev. Andrew Renwick, Rev. M. A. Head, Captain D. S. Parkhurst, A. H. Merrill. Lincoln School—Rev. Dr. R. L. Wheeler. M. Mahery, John Condon, William Kelly. Harrison School—J. T. Robertson, S. W. Blythe, N. E. Acker, H. W. Wierick. Brown Park School—Sylvester Chesley, Edward Weiner, Lyman Fuller, John Ernst. Lowell School—J. W. McKay, John O'Hara, Peter Cockrell, Anna Thurston, J. D. Sawyer.

Albright School—J. O. Eastman, James Condon, J. D. Bennett, Peter Hinkle. West Side School—John McIntyre, Michael Queenan, E. L. Martin, O. K. Padock. Corriean School—J. W. Cross, William Anderson, H. J. Peterson, Patrick Lavalle, Highland School—James A. Auker, Ira F. Burroughs, David C. Condon, Michael Deary.

Jungmann School—Fred J. Etter, John S. Wood, George W. Miller, Edward Jones, Dennis Purcell.

Charity Ball Report. Mrs. Talbot of the South Omaha Hospital association reported to the press yesterday that the proceeds of the annual charity ball given for the benefit of the hospital netted $121.95. The expenses amounted to only $66. It is asserted by the board of managers that it costs on an average $125 each month to maintain the hospital. While the proceeds of the ball will help out for

OLDERS WANT SOME ACTION

Call on City Council to Consider Ordinance Prepared by Mr. Connell.

THEIR QUEERER COURTSHIP

Most of It After Marriage and While Divorce Suit Was Pending.

One of the prettiest romances in real life with its principal scene laid in Minneapolis has been completed at Evanston, Ill., and the narrator can now say, "and they lived happily ever after."

Harold W. Bennett, one of the chief actors in the romance, relates the Minneapolis Tribune, was a Minneapolis boy, but he left his native state a few years ago and took a position in Chicago. While there he met Irene Gray, a pretty young woman, well connected. The young people were friendly and became fond of each other, but there was no idea of an engagement up to the time when Miss Graves went to St. Paul to visit friends, early in 1899.

While the young woman was there Bennett took George W. Henschel and then went over to St. Paul to pay a visit to his mother. They met, and half in jest, half in earnest, a marriage was proposed and the young people, without the knowledge of anyone, were married in St. Paul February 5, 1899. After the ceremony they separated. It was an agreement that they should know of it until some future time, and there the romance ended for a brief time. Bennett went back to Chicago and Miss Graves did also shortly afterward.

But while they kept silence, they corresponded whenever they were separated. In fact, and all was well until a third actor appeared in the drama of the young man the parents of the young woman wanted for her husband. Then in the complications that followed the Graves family became aware of the condition of things and there was trouble.

Pressure was brought to bear upon Bennett and he was told that if he would bring divorce proceedings, one attorney appearing for each. Bennett brought the action in Hennepin county through Lewis and Matchan appeared for the wife. The cause of the action was desertion and James Harrison tried the case.

Now that the regular part of a trial was all the time that this was going on the most loving letters were passing between the young couple. Not stilly epistles, but lovely missives, filled with endearments that were gems of womanly and manly affection. Both were doing what they could to please the old folks, but their hearts cried out against their hard fate.

But for a judge with a keen eye to facts the divorce might have followed and the young woman have been mated to the wrong man. But things shaped themselves right after all. The two hearts that beat as one cried out in letters, and one of them found its way into court, so that Judge Harrison's findings he refused the divorce on the ground that it appeared from his reading of human nature that the proceedings were friendly and that the young people were in the litigation to please the old folks.

Both the young couple were happy. They wrote more letters. They were more in love than ever, and finally the parents relented and they were allowed to see each other. The result is that they are to be mated and a girl will be in order to keep the whole affair from becoming public they were married just as if nothing had happened. The ceremony took place at Evanston, a suburb of Chicago.

Iowans Celebrate Golden Wedding. IOWA FALLS, Ia., May 25.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Walthall, of the county celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage Saturday with a reunion of relatives and friends of the family. The old couple has resided in this county for the last thirty years and a large family of grown children has been reared in the old homestead near Eagle City. Mr. and Mrs. Walthall have been steadfast members of the Friends church all their lives.

Perfect diamonds. Edholm, jeweler. Publish your legal notices in The Weekly Bee. Telephone 228.

Graphophone at a Bargain. FOR SALE—Latest model type A. G. combination graphophone, which plays both large and small records; list price, $50. This is especially designed for concert purposes, having a thirty-six-inch horn and stand. It also includes twenty large Edison records and carrying case (twenty-four records). The machine is entirely new and has never been used. Will sell at a bargain. Address X 36, in care of The Bee.

Roman lockets, new line. Edholm, jeweler. Cut glass nappy, $2. Edholm, jeweler. Shampooing and hair dressing, 25c, at the Bathery, 214-220 Bee Building, Tel. 1716.

Movements of Ocean Vessels, May 24. At New York—Arrived—Puerto Bismarck, Philadelphia; Memphis, from London; Philadelphia, from Southampton and Cherbourg; Sailed—Minneapolis, for London; Philadelphia, for Southampton; Boulogne; Aller, for Naples and Genoa; Hawaiian, for San Francisco; Anchorage, for Glasgow; Campania, for Liverpool.

At Yokohama—Arrived—Doric, from San Francisco, via Honolulu, for Hong Kong; Sailed—Lucania, from New York; Havre-Sailed—L'Aquitaine, for New York.

At Queenstown—Sailed—Titonia, for Boston; Sailed, for New York, both from Liverpool.

At London—Sailed—Minnehaha, for New York. At Las Palmas—Arrived—Mathilda, from Tacoma, via Yokohama.

At San Francisco—Sailed—Friesland, for New York. Arrived—Southark, from New York. At San Francisco—Arrived—Lester, from Hong Kong. Sailed—Bonanza, for Seattle; Kinlay, for Hong Kong.

GOOD ENOUGH FOR ANYBODY!

ALL HAVANA FILLER

FLORODORA CIGARETTES

FLORODORA BANDS are of same value as tags from STAR, HORSE SHOE, SPEARHEAD, STANDARD NAVY, OLD PEACH & HONEY and J. T. Tobacco.

NERVE BEANS quickly cure nervousness, all kinds of dizziness, headache, insomnia, indigestion, and all ailments of the nervous system. Sold in 25c and 50c boxes. Retail price, 10c per box. Wholesale price, $1.00 per box. Small and large boxes, 10c and 25c each.

ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

AN EVIDENCE OF QUALITY

The Drinking of BLATZ BEER

BLATZ BEER

VAL BLATZ BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS. 5412 Douglas St. Tel. 1082.

Agents for the packing companies are securing the country towns for eggs. The eggs being bought are placed in cold storage and will be turned over to the trade when the prices are higher. A representative of a packing company said yesterday that as compared with last year contracts were being made at an increase of about 5 cents a dozen.

Aid Society Entertains. The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church was entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Kelly, Twenty-fifth and F streets. Refreshments were served and there was a good attendance. The funds collected will go into the society treasury and be used for the benefit of the poor.

Magie City Gossip. N. S. Gibson is out again, after a serious illness. W. C. Lambert has gone south on a business trip. Rev. George Van Winkle is visiting in St. Paul, Minn.

The average daily attendance at the public schools is 2,300. Sixteen pupils will graduate from the South Omaha high school this year. Miss Kate Roberts is reported to be rapidly regaining health.

A meeting of Phil Kearney post, Grand Army of the Republic, will be held on Monday night. Members of the Methodist church are making arrangements for the purchase of a new organ.

Mrs. H. Lovely announces her annual summer sale on all trimmed hats, commencing Monday, May 26. The Catholic Ladies of Security will give an ice cream social at Woodman hall on the evening of June 2.

When the public school examinations are over, 125 eighth grade pupils will receive certificates entitling them to enter the high school. W. B. Tagg is home from an extended western trip. He will remain here a month looking after his live stock interests at the stock yards.

The drawing exhibit of the schools at the armory Saturday was well attended. It is understood that the drawings will be distributed among the various school houses.

An entertainment consisting of fancy drills, a cantata and selections by the Mandolin club, will be given by the members of St. Martin's guild on the evenings of June 2 and 3 at the troop armory.

Send articles of incorporation, notices of stockholders' meetings, etc., to The Bee. We will give them proper legal insertion. See telephone, 228.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

DIED. ARRIENS—August H., aged 55 years, Sunday morning, May 25. Buried from the family residence, 1522 North 16th st., Tuesday, May 27, at 2 p. m. Friends invited.

Baldwin Ends Argument. Jerry Canan added another chapter Saturday to the history of his career by returning to his home, 710 North Fifteenth street, in a hilarious condition and entering into an argument with his 70-year-old father and his sister, who had been required for the night. He struck them with his shoe, which he removed from his foot for the purpose. The discussion was brought to a termination by the appearance of Officer Baldwin.

AN EVIDENCE OF QUALITY

The Drinking of BLATZ BEER

BLATZ BEER

VAL BLATZ BREWING CO., MILWAUKEE, WIS. 5412 Douglas St. Tel. 1082.

Agents for the packing companies are securing the country towns for eggs. The eggs being bought are placed in cold storage and will be turned over to the trade when the prices are higher. A representative of a packing company said yesterday that as compared with last year contracts were being made at an increase of about 5 cents a dozen.

Aid Society Entertains. The Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church was entertained Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Kelly, Twenty-fifth and F streets. Refreshments were served and there was a good attendance. The funds collected will go into the society treasury and be used for the benefit of the poor.