SAVAGE AT CAMP LAWTON

Governor Inspects Omaha Cadets, Who Enjoy Mock Army Life at Weeping Water.

WEPPING WATER, Neb., May 28.—(Special Telegram.)—This was a busy day for the members of Camp Lawton. At 10:30 this morning the cadets headed by the band, Commandant Thompson and mounted officers, marched to the depot to meet Governor Savage.

At 1:30 the governor was escorted to Camp Lawton, where he made an inspection of the camp and equipment. Finding everything in faultless shape. After a few words to the cadets, who were lined up for parade, the governor's carriage headed the march to the reviewing grounds. All the cadets but a few who were in the guardhouse were in line of march.

The review was one of the prettiest sights the citizens have enjoyed for years, the cadets going through their maneuvers with color and accuracy.

The governor then addressed them for several minutes, giving them a wholesome talk, reminding them of the necessity of education if they would make good soldiers. He impressed on their minds the difference between a volunteer in the United States and a country where one is compelled to serve in the army. The latter he regarded as an insult to the citizens which comprised it.

The governor's speech was received with three cheers by the cadets, after which they were marched back to camp.

Governor Savage returned to Lincoln at 5:40 p.m.

The cadets are highly enjoying themselves and the vendors of cool drinks and pies are kept busy supplying their youthful customers. They are a most gentlemanly crowd and Commandant Thompson and Prof. A. H. Waterhouse are keeping a watchful eye on their welfare.
