members of the lower house remarked that his constituents approved of his conduct. "Then they are easily satisfied," shouted Mr. Grosvenor, and there was a laugh. The remark was not clever enough to make the insult excusable. Quite different was Tom Reed's famous retort to the opponent who declaimed that he would rather be right than president. "Don't fear, sir," said Reed, for you will never be either." A harmless but genuinely witty remark was that made by Rev. Sidney Smith, when he had met with his vestry to consider ways and means of building a wooden walk about the church. "Gentlemen," said Smith, "let us put our heads together and we shall have it.'

Wit is an acid. But it should be so dijuted with charity and good humor that it will merely polish and not corrode.

Build and the ready wit, Ready Money. Ready Wit, Ready Money. The University of Pennsylvania has not a large endowment, relates the Philadelphia Times, and that it finds the means to pay its current expenses and put up new build ings is due in great measure to its provost. Charles C. Harrison. His little black sub-scription book is well known in many a downtown office—too well known, a prom-inent broker told him not long ago. Mr. Harrison was pleading persistently with him for a subscription, but in vain. Finally the broker said: "Yery well, Mr. T—," said the provost. "The condition is that you promise never to come mo any omice again units i assi you to do so." "Certainly, Mr. T—, I agree to that," said the provost promptly, and waiked out smillag with a check for fils00. A month or so later the broker heard a knock at his door.
